

THE ROANOKE RAPIDS HERALD

CAROLINA'S FIRST
TABloid NEWSpaper

VOLUME TWENTY-SEVEN

ROANOKE RAPIDS, N. C.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 11, 1941

NUMBER 7

UNVEILING OF MEMORIAL TO DR. LONG

Judge R. Hunt Parker of this city is shown above, left, eulogizing the late Dr. T. W. M. Long at the Roanoke Rapids Hospital when the memorial tablet (center) was unveiled. Judge Parker was the chief speaker at the exercises, and the memorial was placed in the foyer of the hospital by the Roanoke Rapids Hospital Nurses Alumnae Association. There are around forty members of the local hospital alumnae association here, some of whom were present for the unveiling and are shown in the picture at the right. Mrs. Addie F. Medlin, president of the association, is shown second from the left in the front row of the group. (See Story on Page 1, Section B)

Romancos Win!

The Romancos of this city, State softball champs, defeated Covington, Kentucky, this morning in the national tournament at Detroit, Mich., 1-0, in a 14-inning game.

Each team made three hits. One error was chalked up to Kentucky, but none for the locals.

DeBerry pitched for the Romancos, and Stewart caught. For Kentucky, defending champions in the national softball tourney, West pitched, and Dunlap caught.

This afternoon the Romancos defeated South Carolina, 6-1, to be among sixteen teams remaining in the tourney.

CITY OFFICIALS APPROVE FIVE SIGNALS FOR AVENUE (Story On Page 6, Section A)

ROSEMARY, INC., SALESMEN

New York salesmen of Rosemary, Incorporated, were here on a visit two days last week to become acquainted with local mill officials and learn something about how the textiles they sell are manufactured. A picture of the group was snapped by The Herald photographer shortly after the men had finished lunch at The Textile Club, and shown above are C. A. Pohlers, R. C. Pohlers, W. J. Naughton, Ian B. McCallum, Edward White, Clarence N. Delgado, Casimir Griglik, William D. Bulla, George Hassen, G. Lee Miller, Robert H. Rodgers, F. W. Strohm, G. W. Blaesey, Donald W. Jenkins, C. A. Launer, Theodore H. Rupp, Harold Veit, all salesmen of Rosemary, Incorporated, and General Manager Frank Williams of the Roanoke and Patterson Mills standing at the left in the second row.

CANDIDATE HUX

The above photograph of A. Leonidas Hux, Superior Court Clerk of Halifax County, was taken recently by a Winston-Salem photographer while the Halifax candidate for president of North Carolina Young Democrat Clubs was in that city conferring with other Young Democrats about the convention which will be held there September 18-20. State officers of the Young Democrats will be elected at the convention.