

NEXT WEEK

Ameche, Grable Return IMPERIAL THEATRE In "Moon Over Miami" Film

"Moon Over Miami", with Don Ameche and Betty Grable, returns here for a showing at the Imperial Theatre next Sunday. In technicolor, the picture is full of songs, romance, dancing, and comedy. It's the story of fortune-hunting Ameche and Miss Grable, who are thrown together at a resort in their search for a life-partner to supply them with necessary "spondulix" to enable them to forget about their financial troubles. After meeting each other they are unable to follow their heads and listen to the siren-song of love which makes their hearts throb at sight of each other. Dan Cupid hits the mark and wins in the end, but he has tough sledding for a while.

Gary Cooper and Barbara Stanwyck will be at the Imperial on Monday and Tuesday of next week in "Meet John Doe", which is reviewed on the opposite page.

"Bullets for O'Hara", which will be shown at the Imperial on next Wednesday, features Joan Perry and Roger Pryor. The story has the girl innocently married to a gangster. Rude awakening comes a year later when husband flees the scene. Pryor, as Detective O'Hara uses the girl to catch the gangster-husband, Anthony Quinn, as expected.

"Naval Academy" is scheduled to be shown at the Imperial on Thursday and Friday of next week, with Jimmy Lydon, Freddie Bartholomew and Billy Cook. Bartholomew, son of a naval family, and Lydon, taken out of a reform school because his father had attended the Academy, and Cook, a fresh youngster, arrive at a boys' naval academy as plebes. The three boys bunk together and their troubles and successes comprise the remainder of the story. Needless to say that Lydon turns out to be a first class cadet, after having difficulties, Bartholomew gets in trouble and gets out, and Cook does the same thing. The story does little flag waving, moralizes and emphasizes a number of principles of living that every young man should be guided by. Added on the program will be

"March of Time".
On Saturday of next week the Imperial will show Bill Elliott in "Son of Davy Crockett". Added will be "The Spider Returns".

Singing Class Will Be Here Friday Night

Tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock the Oxford Orphanage Singing Class will give their annual concert in the high school auditorium here, under the direction of Mrs. Sadie T. Hutchinson.

Around fourteen boys and girls will be presented in the group of singers, and a new program will be offered this year.

Employment Office Wants Applications

All workers in the new J. C. Penney store in Roanoke Rapids will be referred through the local office of the N. C. State Employment Service, according to an announcement from W. G. Cherry, Jr., manager of the Employment Service office. Persons interested in employment with this store are requested to file applications with Cherry as soon as possible.

Applications by mail are not acceptable. Each applicant must appear for a personal interview.

Jobs to be filled at this store include sales clerks, cashiers, stock boys, and a janitor.

The local office has orders for many other workers in many different lines of employment. Cherry stated that the office is now receiving more orders for workers than at any other time in its entire history. Other local job openings at present include: orders for salesmen from two different insurance firms, orders for sales clerks from other local stores, a legal stenographer, a stenographer for the business office of a local industrial plant, an office clerk, waitresses, farm hands, laborers for highway construction, and domestic service workers.

All persons seeking employment are urged to register at the Employment Service office and to keep their registrations active by regular visits to the office.

Phillips-Williams

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Williams of this city announce the marriage of their daughter, Louise, to Lawrence S. Phillips of San Diego, Calif., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Phillips of Spencer N. C. The wedding took place in Richmond, Va., Tuesday, August 26, in the Chapel of the Centenary Methodist Church officiated by the Rev. R. M. Robertson.

The bride, who was unattended, wore a street dress of beige with brown accessories and her flowers were American Beauty Roses showered with lillies of the valley.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mrs. F. A. Puster, Jr., cousin of the bride, entertained at her home 2212 W. Grace Street, Richmond, Va.

Study Club Meets

The Study Club met on Friday afternoon with Mrs. D. C. Clark in the first meeting of the Fall, and Mrs. R. L. Towe, the new president for this year gave a very delightful and inspirational talk. After the business session the program followed, the subject for study during the year being, "We Moderns". Mrs. Cranford Hoyle gave a paper on "Modern Women", using women in defense, both British and Chinese, to show the modern trend. A sweet course was served at the refreshment hour. Those enjoying the delightful hospitality of Mrs. Clark were: Mesdames A. N. Martin, W. A. Thorne, A. E. Akers, Cranford Hoyle, H. S. Loy, Daniel Lane, Scott Benton, Claude Cannon, C. A. Wyche, L. W. Clements, Lawrence Stell, R. L. Towe and Miss Susan Holliday.

MEECHAM ILL

It was learned here yesterday that Tom Meecham, who is well known and has many friends in this section, is seriously ill at his summer home at Hickory Hill near Petersburg, Virginia.

COMMUNITY CHEST ACTIVITIES

By MISS MADELINE LIPSCOMB, Secretary

Your Community Chest

WHAT IT DOES

The Community Chest is the representative you have appointed to see that you receive the greatest possible return for the service you give in behalf of America's welfare. Your service in this case is the financial support of community welfare agencies, a support which is essential today, for these organizations carry out on a large scale the activities and programs which have expanded in our modern life to the point where we can no longer undertake them as individuals.

You have charged the Community Chest with the responsibility of—RAISING FUNDS—by organizing one efficient campaign annually to take the place of ten separate agency solicitations.

COLLECTING THE MONEY SUBSCRIBED—most of which is pledged in monthly or quarterly installments.

DISTRIBUTING THE MONEY RAISED—in budgeted amounts among the ten agencies according to the need determined by your Budget Committee.

In the performance of all these activities, the Community Chest is acting for you individually and for the people of Roanoke Rapids collectively.

That that portion of your income which you devote to the welfare of America through these organizations be equitably divided, properly accounted for, and contributing in the greatest possible degree to the welfare of the community and the county you have established a Community Chest.

That your contribution be equitably divided—you have provided within the Community Chest a Budget Committee of seven members who are appointed by your President with the approval of your Board of Trustees. The Budget Committee prepares the annual budget of the Chest and apportionments to each agency the amount deemed proper after full consideration of agency income and expense.

That your contribution be properly accounted for—the accounts of the Community Chest are annually audited by a firm of Certified Public Accountants who attest to the accuracy of these accounts.

That your contribution shall contribute in the greatest possible degree to the welfare of the community—you have provided through the Community Chest, the Agency which has as its objects the coordination of all community social welfare work the elimination of duplication of effort, and the study and investigation of the social welfare needs of the community.

Mrs. Scott Hasty and son, Douglas, spent Sunday with her mother at Bethel.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Faison visited relatives in Tarboro last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Pitman were visitors in Whitakers last weekend.

Mrs. C. W. Moore has returned to her home in Spartanburg, S. C., after spending some time here with her son, Charlie Moore.
