

NAMES OF DRAFT DELINQUENTS ARE REPORTED TO FBI

Local Draft Board Has No. Classed As Delinquent

The local draft board today announced a list of registrants who have failed to receive their questionnaire, and are now classed as delinquents.

Clerk M. McRae Faison stated that some of the men have been reported to State headquarters as delinquents, some have been reported, also, to the United States District Attorney and the F. B. I., and others will be reported to the District Attorney if they do not show up at the local draft board within the next week.

Faison said that all questionnaires have been sent out by the board, and those reported today as delinquents have not received their's as the papers were returned by postal authorities to the draft board as "unclaimed" mail.

"It is important that these registrants contact the local draft board at once", the clerk stated, "in order to save themselves possible embarrassment and trouble." The men, and addresses to which their questionnaire was sent, are as follows:

George Mack Parker, Negro, General Delivery, Roanoke Rapids; James Anderson Scott, Negro, General Delivery, Roanoke Rapids; William Harrison, Negro, General Delivery, Weldon; Kenneth Hubert Kittrell, white, Roanoke Rapids; Richard Taylor, Negro, General Delivery, Weldon; Willie Joyner, Negro, Weldon; Robert Seabron, Negro, Weldon; Leroy Long, Negro, Route 1, Box 368, Roanoke Rapids; Jasper Greay Baker, white, 800 Franklin St., Roanoke Rapids; Tommie Roy Johnson, Negro, General Delivery, Roanoke Rapids; John Harris, Negro, Route 1, Roanoke Rapids; Shelby Bennett, Negro, Route 2, Box 80, South Rosemary, Roanoke Rapids; Bernard Franklin Keeter, white, 68 Washington St., Roanoke Rapids; Benny Banty, white, 1023 Henry St., Roanoke Rapids; George Harrison, Negro, Box 172, Roanoke Rapids; Robert Lee Davis, white, General Delivery, Roanoke Rapids.

Bynum Has Pastorate At Harriman, Tenn.

The Rev. J. N. Bynum, former pastor of the Episcopal Church here, has accepted pastorate of the Episcopal Church at Harriman, Tennessee.

The local minister and Mrs. Bynum left Wednesday for their new home at Harriman, which is located in the eastern part of Tennessee.

Bynum was one of the original founders of the Associated Charities here, and served as president of the organization until about a year before it merged with the Community Chest. He was case worker for the Associated Charities, and spent much time energy raising funds for the cause the organization represented. He was also a past president of the Ministerial Association here, and secretary of the Roanoke Rapids Kiwanis Club as an active member for several years. And when he left the city this week he was an honorary member of the local club.

Mrs. Bynum was active in the Woman's Club of this city, and served as president and in other capacities. She was also connected with the Fine Arts Department of the Woman's Club, and a leader in the Study Club of the city.

Bynum was forced to give up his work as pastor of the Episcopal Church here when his health failed about five years ago, and he was placed on the inactive list of the Episcopal Church. His health has improved sufficiently for him to accept pastorate of the church at Harriman, and he will begin preaching there immediately.

Mr. and Mrs. Bynum were residents of Roanoke Rapids for around fifteen years, and both were active in the religious, social, and civic affairs of the community. Their many friends here have expressed regret at their leaving the city.

Ruritans Join Lions In Meeting

A joint-meeting with the Enfield Lions Club was held by the Halifax Ruritan Club last Thursday night at Enfield. It was the regular meeting of the Halifax club, which was invited in August to meet with the Lions.

The Ruritan Club was welcomed to Enfield by Lion Joe Branch, and Ruritan Charles H. Boykin responded to the welcome. The acting chairman of the meeting for the Lions Club, H. C. Durham, turned the meeting over to Vice-President Quentin Gregory of the Ruritan Club, who presided in the absence of President Guy Caudle.

Dr. Robert F. Young, county health officer, was the speaker of the evening. He addressed the group on the topic, "The Public Health Program", and pointed out several matters of serious concern to everyone regarding public health.

After Dr. Young's address the meeting was adjourned until the regular meeting date of the Ruritans next month.

Northampton Farmers May Secure Seed

Northampton County farmers this year can avail themselves of the opportunity of securing lespedeza seed to be distributed by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in connection with the conservation program, according to an announcement from the county agent's office at Jackson.

The Commodity Credit Corporation has purchased Kobe, common and sericea lespedeza seed for distribution in that region for the purpose of encouraging soil conservation and development of new crops which will contribute to soil improvement.
