BUSINESS HERE MAKES PLANS FOR FIRST BLACK-OUT

ids Merchants Association attended a special Black-Out instruction meeting at the Municipal Building resterday afternoon in preparation for the city's first trial blackout which comes Sunday night. It was the largest meeting in the history of the Association. The court room was packed.

President C. C. Shell opened the ession and presented F. M. Shercy, local Defense Chairman who gave a report on the Chapel Hill school attended by Eugene Lehman, Shearod Crumpler, Chief H. E. Dobbins and Sherry. Don Tillar, chief of the Emergency Utilities unit, gave instructions on actual black-out technique.

Both speakers stressed that this trial black-out for a half hour is just the beginning and that a sustained blackout every night is not remote. It was pointed out to merchants that in this case all places of business planning on remaining open nights should start now making necessary preparations

Details include light-lock doors which can be opened without revealing lights within, question of ventilation and other problems which confront places of business furing these sustained blackouts. Wr. Tillar had a model for the average store in the city and one model store will be chosen as a guide.

Both business and private home blackout is not a question of pulling a switch and cutting off the lights. Purpose as pointed out by the instructors was to blackout effectively but to permit living in a cefuge room and doing business to go on during the time the city is blacked out.

Gaston, Horner Town, Hodges Town, South Rosemary, Belmont, third, it has a method-the demo- portation difficulties in travelling Lincoln Heights, and all places 3. mile from the incorporated limits of Roanoke Rapids are included in this area for the test blackout

The textile and paper industries here are making plans to co-operate in the first blackout and are making plans to work under sustained blackouts in the future, it was announced.

Mr. Sherry pointed out that for eleven months, air raid officials and wardens were subject to jokes in England but when the raids began they were the heroes of the nation. Many hours of intensive training are needed to make them perfect but this work has been started.

Chief of Police Dobbins asked for the trial blackout that merchants remove things of value from their show windows and station inside their darkened guards stores in case of trouble during the first tests. Later this work will be done by auxiliary police. Later also will come instructions as to special blackout guards for auto lights and flashlights for those who must be on the streets, said Mr .Sherry, but for the Sunday night test, all citizens are asked to be at home or off the streets. A special blackout ordinance has been passed by the City Board of
