HURST - GREENE

On February 14, 1942, at Emporia, Va., Eunice Greene, daughter of Mrs. Alice T. Greene and the late George Greene of this community was married to Joy Lee Hurst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hurst of Maryville, Tennessee. The young couple will make their home in Roanoke Rapids for the time being.

Mrs. J. E. Tickle Passes In City Early Tuesday

Mrs. J. E. Tickle, member of a well-known and prominent local family, died at her home, 835 Hamilton Street, early Tuesday morning following a short illness of pneumonia. She was 51 years of age.

Funeral services were held from the home Thursday morning, with Rev. Paul H. Fields, pastor of Rosemary Methodist church, of which the deceased was a member, in charge of the last rites, assisted by Rev. Daniel Lane, pastor of First Methodist church, and Rev. W. O. Cobb, Lutheran minister of Rocky Mount. Interment followed in Cedarwood cemetery.

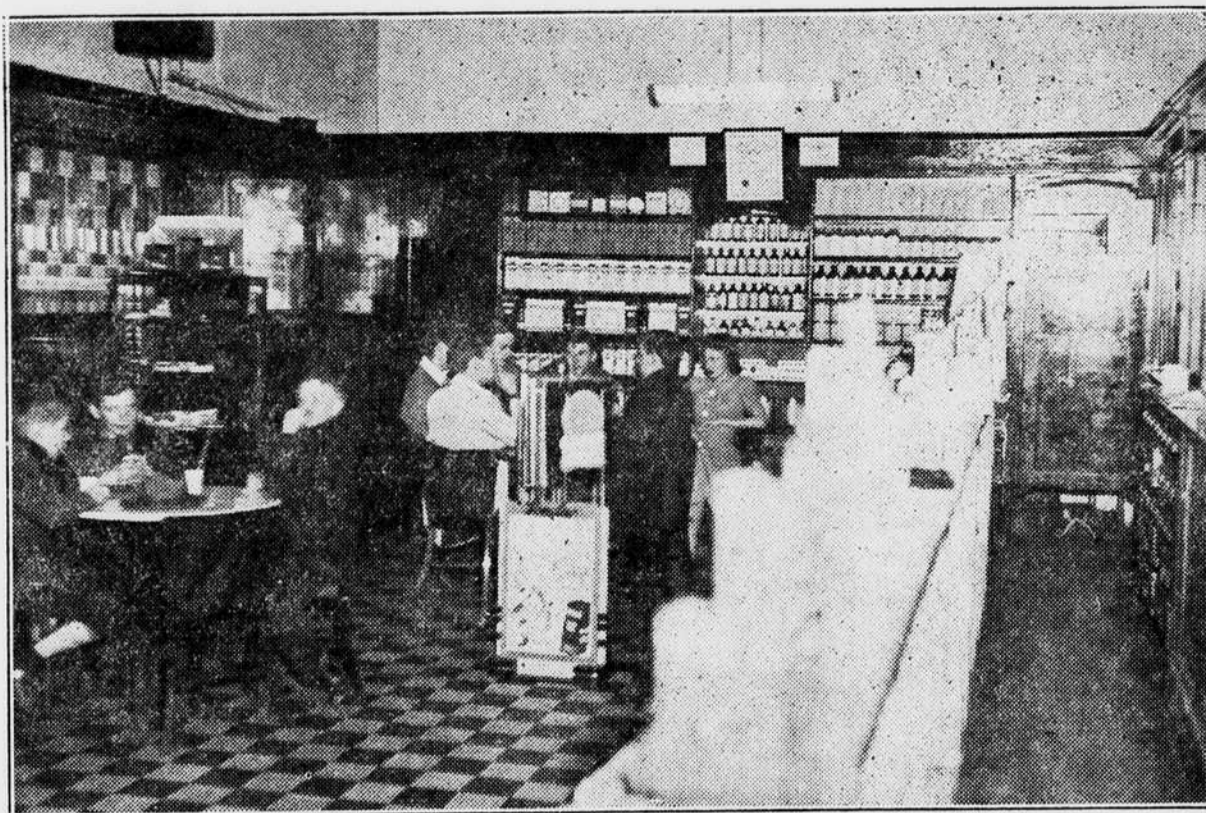

Mrs. Tickle was a lifelong resident of the city and was prominently identified with the church and social life of the town.

Surviving are the following children: Mrs. Wilmer Collier of Roanoke Rapids, Murphy, of Washington; Herman, of Tucson, Arizona; Joe, of Washington; Nathan, of Roanoke Rapids; John, of Washington; James, Esther Anne and Priscilla, of Roanoke Rapids; one sister, Mrs. Willie Moody of the city; and two brothers, Raymond and Emmett Matthews. Several grandchildren also survive.

Attend Funeral

A number of friends here attended the funeral in Petersburg, Virginia of Mr. Ridley Meacham on Monday afternoon. Mr. Meacham was a brother of Mr. Tom Meacham and both of them had spent lots of time with relatives and friends here. His death was a shock to his many friends, although he had been in declining health for some time.

Taylor's Now Has Added Space In Front And Rear

The above photograph will give you an idea of the new appearance of Taylor's Drug Store, located at 1018 Roanoke Avenue, since the store was recently remodelled resulting in added spacing both the front part of the store and the prescription department.

Feeling the need of more space for customers of the fountain, one of the most popular departments of the popular uptown pharmacy, as well as needing more room and better working conditions in the prescription department, M. C. Savage decided to make the addition and utilized storage space located at the rear of the store to give him the gain in space at the front. The result is one that is most pleasing to the eye as well as adding greatly to efficiency and working conditions.

"While we haven't gone in for any expensive or elaborate fixtures," Mr. Savage said, in explaining the expansion program, "we believe we have made a move that will enable us to be of better and more efficient service to our customers, and after all that is what we are striving for."

Savage came to Roanoke Rapids from Rocky Mount, where he had been identified with the retail drug business for 11-years, in March, 1940, to take over the management of Taylor's. He later became the proprietor of the store, and operates it at present with the aid of three regular employees, with extra sales-help employed over the week-ends and during "rush" seasons.

Alton Gurganus is employed in the prescription department while J. D. Edwards, popular local man, looks after the "front-end" of the store. Other employees include: Coyt Brown and Bobby Martin.

Savage is a resident of Roanoke Rapids and lives with his family in the Chaloner Park section of the city.

Miss Vera Bullock of Veterans Hospital, of Augusta, Ga., spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Bullock.

Jack Erwin, P. D. Howell and Tommie Merritt of Arlington, Va. spent the week-end here.

Miss Gracie Simms of Newport News spent the week-end here with her mother.

Roanoke Rapids has voiced its instant approval of the new management at the Bakery Cafe. (We know, because our first customers keep coming back). We'll be glad to serve you!
