

LETTERS FROM OUR BOYS!

Please bring or mail us interesting letters and cards you get from your boys in the armed services. Their friends want to know where they are and what they are doing!

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Code of Wartime Practices requests that the names of naval personnel not be linked with the names of their ships in published items or address. The Armed Forces clause also requests that military unit identifications, (companies, batteries, battalions, squadrons, regiments, divisions, etc.) not be included in published addresses or news items of service men who are overseas, about to embark, or who are in anti-aircraft outfits, or on coastal or invasion details. Such addresses safely may be published thus: Pvt. John Smith, APO 32, Care of Postmaster, New York (or whatever seaport it may be.) The Army assures us that mail so addressed will reach its destination. Contributors to this and other news columns of the Herald will kindly co-operate by withholding such information that might be of possible advantage to the enemy. Remember. "CARELESS TALK COSTS LIVES" - "IDLE GOSSIP SINKS SHIPS."

The following letter was received by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Young, from their son who is stationed somewhere in England.

Dear Mother and Daddy,

I will drop you a few lines to let you know I am well and getting along fine. I hope this finds you the same. Received a letter from Ann Morie today and she and Joanne are fine.

Daddy, will you please send me Joanne's picture. I certainly would like to have it.

The country over here is nice, but there is never anything like home, no matter where you are.

Please don't worry about me, because I am all right.

Tell Clea and T. B. to write and send me the paper if you will.

Well, there isn't much news. I'll close for this time hoping to hear from you soon.

Your son,
Wendell Young

Dear Mr. Wilson,
I enjoy reading the Herald very much. Especially the letters from "Our Boys". Thanks, and keep up the good work.

Please forward the Herald to my new address below:

Cpl. Kermit P. Robinson,

Care of Avent Hill Farm Sta.
Warrenton, Virginia.

Dear Mr. Wilson,

I have been receiving the Herald for the last year and I feel ashamed of myself for waiting so long to write but I wish to take this moment to express my deep appreciation for the Herald each week.

To me the Herald means a lot and I look forward to it each week. To read the Herald is almost like spending a day at home each week.

I came into service with the National Guard unit there 3 years ago. For the last three months and for the next three months we will be here in Tenn. on maneuvers. To live out in the woods for six months wouldn't be so bad if we didn't move so much for the dust is awful, from 8 to 12 inches deep in places.

I have been getting my Herald addressed to Camp Blanding, Fla., please send it to the following address:

Staff Sgt. W. D. Poindexter
20411295
Co. C, 105th Med. Bn.
APO No. 30, Care Postmaster
Nashville, 2 Tenn.

Thanking you very much I remain,

Yours sincerely,
W. D. Poindexter

out without as much as a scratch. Let me tell you about the battle: The invasion armada was assembled in Africa. After much planning and completing of details we got underway. Every man realized the importance of the mission and was "eager to get a crack at em." The invasion fleet arrived off Sicily after dark, the BRISTOL being with the van. At first the enemy offered stiff resistance both with air attacks and coastal batteries, but by morning all of the enemy's guns had been silenced. Our objective surrendered in the early forenoon. That's all there was to it, with the exception of a few light air raids in the following days.

day ago and saw the soldiers stationed there. I didn't get acquainted with any of the boys, but I know most of them are a long way from home. These boys are like all other boys in the service, we are all in this thing for one purpose. That's to win the war as soon as possible. We went in the service not asking for any favors or expecting any.

I was surprised to see that of all places in the United States, Roanoke Rapids with a heart much larger than the city, were charging regular prices at the theatres for service men stationed there.

We are not going to let our city have the name some of these Yankee owned cities in Florida have, are we? Treating the soldiers like tourists.

I hope when the boys are shipped from Roanoke Rapids, they will feel like I do about Kansas City, Mo. If I can't go home I'd rather go there than any place in the world.

Sincerely,
Thurman Underwood.

Hi Fellow,
Tell everybody Thanks for the swell time given me while I was there. Didn't have any trouble getting the evidence I needed for Hello and So long, so I'll say So Long. Thank you for the past favors.
