SHEARIN - JENKINS

Miss Emma Virginia Jenkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Jenkins, of Pinetops, became the bride of Pvt. John Daniel Shearin, Jr., of Fort Benning, Georgia, and Weldon, on August 19, in the chapel at Fort Benning, with Chaplain Hunt officiating. Pvt. Norman Wayne St. John, of Fort Benning, was best man. Miss Frances Sullivan, of Charlotte, was maid of honor.

The bride wore an ice blue suit of gabardine. Her accessories were fuchsia and brown. She carried a white prayer book showered with white roses. She wore a corsage of purple orchids.

Mrs. Shearin attended East Carolina Teachers College, the University of North Carolina and had completed her sophomore year at Salem College at the time of her marriage.

The bridegroom is the son of J. D. Shearin and the late Mrs. Shearin, of Weldon. He was graduated from Fishburn Military academy and was attending the University of North Carolina prior to his entrance into the army.

EDUCATOR FEELS FINE NOW; THANKS RETONGA

Suffered Severely From Poor Appetite, Gassy Stomach, Nervousness And Sluggish Elimination For Years, States Mr. Hayes. Tells About His Case.

MR. J. S. HAYES

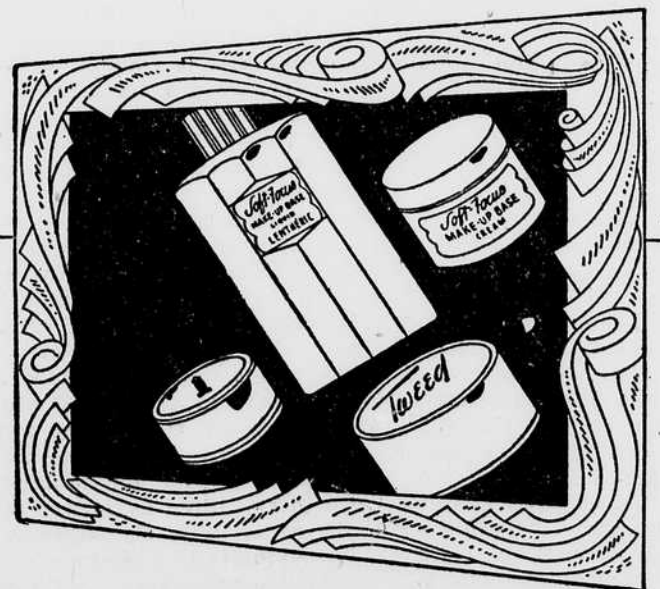

"I am taking several bottles of Retonga to friends in California, for the relief it gave me is almost beyond belief," declares Mr. J. S. Hayes, before his recent retirement, taught school for thirty-nine years, the last ten as principal of the Training School at Tallulah, La. He is an active Methodist and Mason of forty years standing.

"For about five years my appetite was very poor," continued Mr. Hayes, "and my stomach stayed so full of gas it was difficult to breathe at times. I felt so nervous and uncomfortable that many nights I hardly slept a wink. Constipation and swimming headaches kept me taking powerful laxatives. I felt so bad I was afraid to make a trip to California I had long planned. Medicines and treatments, some long and expensive, did me no good.

"Retonga promptly brought the relief I needed. The distress from gas, constipation and indigestion were soon relieved, and I began to eat, sleep, and feel like a different person. I feel like I could make a trip around the world. Retonga is far ahead of any medicine I ever tried."

Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to loss of appetite, Vitamin B-1 deficiency and constipation. Accept no substitute. Retonga may be obtained at Rosemary Drug Co.—Adv.
