SCHOOL DAYS

The responsibility of parents to the little children who will be going back to school within the next few weeks, starts now and reaches into the Victorious future. For with the return to classes during this year of war, and as our armed forces valiantly speed the peaceful tomorrow, reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic may seem dull indeed to these vital youngsters. Yet they must be convinced that by returning eagerly to classes, by dilligently applying themselves to the lessons of Democracy awaiting them in their Free American schools, they will be serving their country best, for they will be preparing themselves to carry on during the Victorious Tomorrow, the heritage of Freedom for which their elder brothers now fight round the world. ---
