

SERVICES TO VETERANS

This series answers some vital questions about Red Cross services to veterans. Further information is available at local chapters.

Q: Does Red Cross provide unemployment compensation for the veteran?

A: No. The Red Cross refers the veteran to the various employment services provided for him under the GI Bill of Rights.

Q: Does Red Cross have information on Laws and Regulations relating to the veteran?

A: Yes. Such information is always available in Red Cross chapters to veterans and their dependents.

Q: Does Red Cross have information on insurance for the veteran?

A: Yes. Red Cross provides the veteran and his dependents with information on War Risk Insurance (World War I) and National Service Life Insurance (World War II).

Q: Does Red Cross assist in securing necessary documents?

A: Yes. Red Cross helps the veteran secure copies of birth certificates, marriage licenses, etc.

Q: Does Red Cross provide notary public service for the veteran?

A: Yes. Red Cross provides free notary public service to both able-bodied and disabled veterans.

We had over a million casualties—50 per cent unavoidable; 50 per cent to educate brass in what not to do.

Mrs. F. G. Jarman Is Hostess at Party for Mary Taylor, Bride-elect
Mrs. F. G. Jarman entertained at a party Wednesday evening, November 14, at her home on Hamilton Street, honoring Miss Mary Taylor, bride-elect, with a kitchen shower.

The home was decorated with chrysanthemums and other fall flowers.

Bridge was played and contests of best rhymes and best wishes were enjoyed by the guests after which Mrs. W. A. China won high score for bridge, Mrs. F. S. Kemp for best rhyme and Miss Marjorie Fleetwood for best wish.

The hostess served a salad plate to the honoree, Miss Mary Taylor, and the following guests: Misses Joe Johnson, Doris Hedgepeth, Marjorie Fleetwood, Gwendolyn Coburn, Ruth Transou and Mesdames W. P. Taylor, Fletcher H. Long, Ben Parker, Douglas Debnam, W. E. Murphrey, M. C. Maddrey, F. S. Kemp, F. C. Williams, W. A. China, Lyle Wilson, W. D. Hall, L. R. Moody, Howerston Gowen, P. E. Ransom and George Taylor.
