divided into five districts and a winner from each of these will be chosen on the basis of the best achievement in forestry undertaken on his own property. The district supervisor of vocational agriculture from the State Department of Education and the district forester from the State Forest Service will select the winner in their respective districts. The first four winners will receive a scholarship to the Florida State Forestry Training Camp near Lake City this summer." Peeler stated further that a top winner from among these five will be picked. This super champ will receive a $25 Victory Bond and a certificate of merit.

A large number of participants is expected for this year's contest Mr. Hoskins said and present indications are that their total will far exceed last year's entrants. Varied presentations and programs have been planned for the youthful contestants and will take place at Jacksonville and other important centers in Florida to be designated later.

Sponsoring the over all project which is coordinated and directed by the North Carolina Forest Service and the Department of Vocational Agriculture, are the following persons and organizations: State Forester W. K. Beichler; Staet Supervisor of Vocational Agriculture Roy Thomas; The American Turpentine Farmers Association represented by M. E. Coleman of Valdosta, Georgia; The

Contest Plans Are Almost Complete for 46 Forestry

R. J. Peeler, Executive Secretary, Future Farmers of America chapters in North Carolina, announced today that plans for the 1946 forestry contest in North Carolina are practically complete and that R. N. Hoskins, Industrial Forester for the Seaboard Air Line Railway, will represent that railroad in cooperation with other sponsoring organizations. Formerly engaged in state forestry work, Mr. Hoskins was very active in the 1945 forestry program throughout North Carolina, especially as regards its tie in with Future Farmers of America chapters in this state. "The '46 program is set up this way," Peeler said. "The state is

He'd love to be a "Yes" Man

THE LOT of your electrical appliance dealer is not an easy one these days. Your appetite has been whetted to a fine edge for all the wonderful electrical appliances promised in the post-war world.

And you've noted with hopefulness our frequent reminder — "Buy Electrical Appliances from Your Dealer."

Reconversion, production and distribution problems of many varieties have beset the industry as a whole, and have been reflected in your dealer's stock. He has had some of the appliances you wanted, in limited number. Others are available from time to time, some are still in the dream stage, some may be waiting for you at your dealer's tomorrow. Probably his own wife gives him a bad time about "That old washing-machine! Can't I have a new one?"

He'd love to be a 'yes' man. We mean it when we say:
