Lexington Bowls Over Lincolnton

Lexington High football team, under the new coaches, Sink and Young, played impressive football and as a result opened the home season with a bang, defeating Lincolnton 19 to 0.

The whole student body of more than 750 students attended the game, setting an example of school spirit that should be equaled at the rest of the games here. The students marched to the field and while marching let the people of Lexington come to realize the size of the now combined Junior and Senior High School.

The tallies for Lexington were made in the first, second and fourth quarters. The first period score was made by Bailey with a beautiful run of 60 yards. The second period score was made possible by Hal Green with a scamper of 39 yards, aided by good interference, which placed the ball in scoring position. Nice work by the entire backfield put the ball on the 7 yard line where a plunge by Bailey scored. Green passed to Rogers for extra point.

The Lincolnton team in the third quarter put up a game scrap, but were unable to score. Only once were they in scoring position and that abruptly ended by the interception of a pass by Myers.

A combination of line smashing and passing scored for Lexington in the fourth. Yank Green passed to Bailey

THE STUDENT PARADE

Among the events that added much to the Home Coming Day of Lexington High last Friday was the Student Parade, with the entire High School participating. The students marched in a body two-a-breast from the school to Main Street and thence to Cecil Field to attend the football game.

The procession was led by the High School Band and its Director, W. M. Jolly. Following this, was the student council headed by the President, W. M. Wilson. Next came the Senior High with each class led by its president. The Junior High followed in like manner.

This parade marked a new event in the history of the school and it is hoped to be made an annual affair.

New Junior Senior High Off To Fine Start

"As a result of the excellent team work of faculty and students and trustees the new Junior-Senior High School is getting off to a fine start," was Superintendent Honeycutt's observation when approached by members of the Lexhipep staff yesterday. "It is no easy job to organize a Junior-Senior High School along lines of the best modern practice at any time and certainly at a time when so many adjustments are required under the new state school laws," continued the superintendent. "I congratulate every member of the Junior High on being the first to inaugurate the Junior High program. You have shown a wonderful spirit of cooperation and understanding. I have heard much favorable comment by faculty members of the superior understanding of Lexington students and their exceptionally courteous and helpful attitudes. For this and all the good work now in progress I am most grateful and wish the Lexhipep Staff a great record in their efforts to interpret the school program and give the significant news to your readers."

LIBRARY

There is this year for the first time in the history of the Lexington High School an all-time Librarian. Mrs. W. H. Phillips has been elected to this position.

The library is to be used exclusively for a library instead of a study as formerly. Every pupil will be allowed to go to the library at least three times a week. Five lessons will be given in library science to each pupil during the year.

Five hundred new books have been added to the library making a total of three thousand books. There are fourteen magazines and three daily papers. The blackboards have been removed and book shelves have been placed around all of the wall. The entire room, including the walls and woodwork, has been painted. All the tables have also been painted and sixty chairs have been bought to match the tables.

Due to these additions and improvements, the library has taken on an entirely new appearance.

L. H. S. Has New Manual Art Dept.

The new department, which has been installed in Lexington High School this year for the first time, is known as Manual or Industrial Art.

It is headed by Mr. Neal Adkins, who has come to us from the Eastern Illinois State College. He taught here for a year after graduating, substituting for a professor away on a year's leave of absence. Mr. Adkins was able to secure this position owing to his excellent scholastic record as a student.

Upon being asked his definition of Manual Arts, Mr. Adkins replied that he considered it to be a study of changes and processes in many industrial materials for human consumption and a medium through which fundamental principles are taught.

Among the courses which are to be offered during the year are ones in mechanical engineering and architectural drawing.

Development of the shop will also be carried on.

Mr. Adkins feels that the equipment and drawing facilities provided will prove most adequate in accomplishing his outline of work for the year.

He also states that he is very well pleased with the cooperative spirit in which he and his work have been received and hopes that the Department of Manual Art will become a permanent feature of the High School extra curricular activities.

The students enrolled in this new department report that the work is interesting and we feel sure that Mr. Adkins will become one of our most popular and well liked instructors.

NOTED AUTHORITY TALKS

A colorful entertainment was given Wednesday afternoon in the high school auditorium by Harold Loring, a nationally recognized authority on Indian Music, legends, and customs. It was a very educational program in which the American Indian was portrayed vividly in both story and song. This interesting program was brought to us by the Student Government Council.

The statesman of the future will no longer boast that he was born in a log cabin. He will begin his autobiography: "My people were a one car family."
