

GOODBYE
SENIORS

THE LEXHIPEP

GOOD
LUCK

VOLUME XV.

LEXINGTON, N. C., TUESDAY, MAY 25, 1937

No. 4

CLASS OF 1937

Seniors In Activities

Largely Represented in Sports, Clubs, and Scholastic Work

The senior class has taken a prominent part in school activities every year since 1934, but this year it has reached its climax in achievements.

Because football is so very popular, those boys who fought so hard and victoriously for L. H. S. should be mentioned first. Among those were: Captain Fred Welch, John Webster, Pete Miller, Louis Green, Arlan Hudson, Clyde Kinney, manager, and Fred Siceloff, assistant manager. These boys saw to it that Lexington High could sing, "Lexington will shine tonight," after many of the games last fall.

Only six seniors were on the basketball teams, four girls and two boys. Frances Earnhardt, Frances Leonard, Mae Vestal Leonard and Louise Berrier did outstanding work for the girls while Max McGinn and Lewis Green were on the boy's varsity team. All six worked hard and deserve a great deal of credit even if their teams were not as successful as the football team.

The class has been well represented on the Lexhipep staff. Robert Clayton, editor-in-chief; Margaret Spruill, assistant editor-in-chief; Dorothy Moore, chairman of literary section; Clyde Kinney, chairman of sport section; Frances Johnson, joke editor; Henry Etta Link, business manager; Ocko Pickett, assistant business manager; Susan Mullis, chairman of art (Continued on Page Two)

DEDICATION

As we write the last page of our High School book
And give a glance backward, over each year,
There were two to whom we could always look—
Our mothers and fathers, dear.
So we dedicate to those we love
This last effort of our high school days,
With hope that soon we'll soar above
This feeble expression in many ways.

SENIOR SUPERLATIVES

Best dressed boy.....Ocko Pickett
Best looking boy.....Fred Welch
Best athlete-boy.....Fred Welch
Best athlete-girl.....Mae Vestal Leonard
Best dressed girl.....Sara Redwine
Wittiest girl.....Henry Etta Link
Wittiest.....Virginia Mallard
Cutest.....Nell Hartzog
Most capable.....Roxie Carswell
Most dependable.....Roxie Carswell
Most intellectual.....Roxie Carswell
Most studious.....Roxie Carswell
Most popular.....Sara Redwine
Most sincere.....Margaret Spruill
Best disposition.....Paul Smith
Sara Redwine
Best all round.....Bob White
Best sport.....Ike Green

HONOR SOCIETY TAPS NEW MEMBERS

On April 1, the Honor Society tapped new members for the second time during the school year. This program was most impressive.

Henry Etta Link, president, wel- (Continued on Page Seven)

JOHN LEONARD, L. H. S. SENIOR, WRITES AND PRESENTS "THE PINNACLE"

3-ACT TRAGEDY WINS APPROVAL OF AUDIENCE

On May 7, the Dramatic Club presented "The Pinnacle," a three-act tragedy, which was written and directed by John Leonard, president of the club. John is a senior with notable literary and dramatic ability. With the aid of Mrs. C. M. Cuthrell, John directed and presented his first play, which was acclaimed as a success by the audience.

By request, Mrs. Cuthrell introduced John to his audience and he responded with most appropriate words. He explained that the credit for this work should not be given to him, but to those who had trained and encouraged him. He also expressed the hope that the real meaning of the play be conveyed to the audience, that a pinnacle is often reached through sacrifice.

The valiant young doctor, Chris Vi- (Continued on Page Two)

Several Features In Commencement Program

Dr. William A. Lambeth Preaches Sermon; Dr. Edwin McNeil Poteat to Deliver Address

Lexington High School is the scene of confusion while the seniors hurry to and fro in their caps and gowns. Once again the class practiced the processional to the strains of "Largo." The sermon to the seniors was delivered Sunday evening, May 23, by Dr. William A. Lambeth, presiding elder of the Winston-Salem district of the Methodist church. The city churches united in this service. The Glee Club under the direction of Mrs. C. M. Cuthrell furnished the music for this service.

On Friday evening a clever three-act comedy was presented under the direction of Mrs. C. M. Cuthrell. The cast of "Trouble in Paradise" was: John Leonard, Carl Parks, Ralph Morris, Cecil Davis, Robert Clayton, Ocko Pickett, Ed Gaines, Helen Rhodes, Sarah Redwine, Odessa Snow, Frances Peeler, Clara Ann Miller, Frances Peacock, Barbara Turner, Baxter Smith and Edith Ebelein.

The final meeting of the Cotillion Club was a commencement dance at (Continued on Page Two)