

Former Supt. Goes To Chapel Hill

Superintendent A. W. Honeycutt who has so efficiently served as superintendent of the city school system for the past five years, was recently elected to the superintendency of the Chapel Hill system. Mr. Honeycutt has proved himself to be a true friend to all and the school loses him with many regrets.

Aside from his position as superintendent, Mr. Honeycutt took an active part in the activities of the church. He was also chairman of the Book Rental System of North Carolina, with which he did a splendid job.

Mr. Honeycutt put his whole-hearted interest in his work as superintendent of the Lexington City Schools. He attended all the football games and paid especial attention to the extra-curricular activities of the school. The students of Lexington High School wish for Mr. Honeycutt a successful career in his new work, and will recall with pleasure the years spent under his guidance in Lexington High School.

BAND REORGANIZED

Lexington High has been extremely lucky in getting Mr. Joseph Patrick Leonard as band master. Mr. Leonard came here last week and conferred with a group of students interested in band work and laid the foundation for starting anew the work of the local band. Mr. Leonard is a native of Ohio. In early boyhood he was thrown largely upon his own resources when his parents were killed in a train wreck. Having a talent for music, he has devoted many years to study of band instruments. He is noted for the work he has done in nearby towns, and Lexington is fortunate in securing Mr. Leonard to serve as bandmaster for the high school band.

STUDENT COUNCIL DISCUSSES PLANS

In the weekly meeting of the Student Council last week Mr. T. D. Stokes made a brief speech encouraging the members to work harder, and gave some excellent suggestions as to how the student government could be improved in the future.

Mr. E. C. Leonard, faculty advisor, stressed the necessity for checking noise in the hall. It was suggested that the Student Council carry on a campaign to endeavor to eliminate unnecessary noise.

A discussion was carried on in reference to the financial standing of the council. Also, plans for a social in the near future were discussed by the social committee.

LEXHIPEP CAMPAIGN

On Thursday, October 14, the annual campaign for subscriptions to the Lexhipep began. The seniors met in the library, the juniors in the balcony, the sophomores in the gymnasium and the freshmen in the auditorium. Representatives were assigned to each class, these being Marguerite Thomason, Virginia Beck, Ruth Morris and Ralph Morris to the senior, junior, sophomore and freshman classes respectively.

This year, the staff hopes to publish four issues of the Lexhipep, which is the newspaper, and four issues of the magazine "The Scroll". The subscription goal is five hundred students and with the senior home rooms, Mrs. Otis Hedrick, Miss Bernice Apple, Mr. E. C. Leonard and Mr. Tucker's junior boys subscribing one hundred per cent, the remaining students should be influenced to try to follow this good example.

PRINCIPAL

A. R. Bullock, new L. H. S. principal, enters upon duties this week.

New Principal Meets Student Body

A. R. Bullock, the recently elected principal of the Lexington High School, was introduced to the student body on Monday, October eleventh. Mr. Bullock spoke most sincerely and entertainingly as to his near future in working with the students of this school.

As to his previous experience, after receiving both the A. B. and M. A. degrees from the University of North Carolina, he has done work at Duke and Columbia Universities. He has made an excellent record in the principalship of several schools in North Carolina. Among these are the Stovall High School, the Calvin H. Wiley Elementary School in Salisbury, Thomasville High School, and he comes to Lexington from the Trinity Consolidated School where he has held the offices of superintendent and principal since 1932.

Mr. Bullock hopes to deal successfully with his new associates and is enthusiastically welcomed by both the faculty and the students.

DRAMATIC CLUB REORGANIZED

Fred Harris Elected President of The Masquers

This year Lexington High School expects to have one of the best Dramatic Clubs if not the best Dramatic Club in the history of the school.

At the club's first meeting Fred Harris was elected president, Odessa Snow vice-president, and Louise Kirby, secretary and treasurer. In his opening speech Mr. Harris stated the purpose of the club for this year. "Heretofore," stated Mr. Harris, "the dramatic club has been a place to come and pay your dime at a meeting or two and cut up." This year it appears it is going to be different. To be a member of this club one must try out, that is, give a reading or lines from a play or some selection to test his dramatic art. Old and new members alike must pass this.

Another new plan is that of having a crew of about fifteen students who will work on setting, lighting effects and other things essential to making a play a success.

SUPERINTENDENT

L. E. Andrews, new superintendent of Lexington City Schools.

L. E. Andrews Is New Superintendent

Coming to Lexington to fill the place left vacant by Mr. A. W. Honeycutt's resignation is Mr. L. E. Andrews. Mr. Andrews is a native of Guilford County where he has resided for many years. He attended Wake Forest College where he received his A. B. degree. He also studied at Columbia University where he received his M. A. degree, and has done graduate work at the University of North Carolina.

Before coming to Lexington Mr. Andrews has held several important positions. He served as principal of a school in Lewiston, N. C., head of math department and director of public speaking in Senior High School at High Point, and superintendent of the Aulander system. Mr. Andrews also was a member of the Wake Forest summer school faculty.

Mr. Andrews is very enthusiastic over his work here and he is especially interested in extra-curricular activities. He states that he has worked out a very fine programme to improve the activities already engaged in and to organize new ones. Since extra-curricular activities do play a very important role in the school life, an extended programme would be very beneficial. Mr. Andrews is also desirous that the students not feel any hesitancy in asking him for his personal help. He states, "I am here to help each and every one of you, and I hope that you will feel free to ask for my personal help at any time."

When asked about his first impression of the L. H. S. student body, Mr. Andrews stated that he was highly pleased and felt that this was as fine a student body as he has ever worked with. The student body appreciates the superintendent's attitude and is anxious to cooperate and give him its loyal support.

went Tuesday to High Point to see the High Point High School's equipment. High Point has one of the best equipped stages in the state. A group is also going to Chapel Hill to study the equipment there.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Claire Cuthrell the Lexington High School Masquers hope to come through this year a bigger and better organization. So here's luck to the Lexington High Dramatic Club.

Retiring Principal Presented Gift

Amid thunderous applause Mr. T. D. Stokes made his last official appearance before the Student Body of L. H. S. Monday, October 11. The Faculty Song, led by the Cheerleaders, was sung with a true school spirit. Mrs. Otis Hedrick, as mistress of ceremonies, introduced Superintendent Andrews who led the devotion of Scripture and prayer. Jack and Ervin Pickett then gave a musical selection, playing a duet on the trombone and trumpet. At the conclusion of this, Fred Harris gave a splendid resume of Mr. Stokes' career of fifteen years in Lexington High School, and Mr. Young expressed the appreciation that the student body feels toward Mr. Stokes for his interest and efforts to stress extra-curricular activities. Miss Bernice Apple and Odessa Snow expressed the best wishes from the faculty and student body, and Mr. Andrews gave best wishes from the Superintendent to Mr. Stokes.

Miss Frances Walser, having taught with Mr. Stokes longer than any other faculty member, presented a leather Gladstone traveling bag to him, a gift from the student body and faculty. Mr. Stokes accepted with appropriate words. Upon request he opened the bag and one would have thought he was a magician as he pulled the various gifts from his bag. Credit should be given to the teachers for the novelty of the contents.

Mr. Stokes next introduced the new principal, Mr. A. M. Bullock, who gave a short speech expressing his desire to make a good successor to the retiring principal. At the conclusion of his speech, the cheer leaders led the students in fifteen raps for both the old and new principals, Stokes and Bullock.

FIRST GENERAL TEACHERS' MEETING

The first general teachers' meeting of the year was held in the Lexington High School auditorium September 8, 1937. Reverend H. C. Sprinkle of the Methodist Church opened the meeting with the devotional services. Mrs. Charles Redwine gave greetings from the P.-T. A., and Mrs. Fletcher Wall gave greetings from the school board. Mr. L. A. Martin, chairman of the school board, then introduced Mr. L. E. Andrews, the new city school superintendent. Mr. Andrews' remarks were based on the quotations of famous philosophers: "Know thyself," Socrates; "Control thyself," Marcus Aurelius; "Adjust thyself," Kilpatrick; and "Deny thyself," Christ.

At the conclusion of Mr. Andrews' talk the teachers of the various school faculties met with their principals for further discussion and directions.

TRAFFIC PATROL ORGANIZED BY STUDENT COUNCIL

At a meeting of the Student Council Wednesday morning, Harry Berrier, chairman of Traffic Committee, presented plans for a patrol system to be enforced during lunch hour. With the permission of Chief W. R. Lanning, the cars in front of the school will be stopped for approximately four minutes until all students have crossed the street. By this plan, accidents can be avoided in the rush at lunch time. The Student Council passed the plan with a big majority and with the faculty's approval the plan will be in effect Thursday.
