EXCHANGE STUDENTS HAVE MANY DUTIES

—JOHNNY WILLIAMS

Both our foreign exchange student from Austria, Monika Kolar and I, have many obligations to our community, which we are very happy to fulfill. We have been to a meeting in Charlotte, where we were told our responsibilities and duties—Monika as an exchange student, and I as a returnee. Since Monika has been in Lexington, she has taken part in the assembly in which the American Field Service program was presented to the juniors, and she has written a monthly column for the LEXHIPEP.

Both of us have taken part in an interview broadcast over WBUY in celebration of United Nation's Day. Also, Monika was interviewed during a full day patriotic broadcast program sponsored by the Civitan Club in which she gave good answers to questions by comparison and contrast of customs here and abroad.

After January, Monika will begin making talks to various groups around town. I have been visiting the different civic clubs and groups telling of my experiences during the past summer. It was my duty and pleasure to go to Reynolds High in Winston-Salem to help them set up an exchange program.

Although Monika and I have many obligations to fulfill, the many wonderful experiences we have had far outnumber these pleasant duties.

STUDENT BODY PRESIDENT HONORED AS OUTSTANDING CITIZEN

—KENNY SWING

One of Lexington Senior High School's most deserving students has been selected by the House of Representatives as October's Citizen of the month. He is Barry Williams, son of C. Roger Williams of Raleigh Road. Barry has displayed good citizenship through his high school career and has proven his abilities in many phases of high school life.

This citizen has displayed his leadership ability by serving on the Student Council for four years, being a member of the House of Representatives his Freshman year, a class Representative to the Student Council his Sophomore year, Vice-President of the student body his Junior year, and presently is serving as President of Lexington Senior High School. He recently represented his school at the North Carolina Student Council Congress in Asheville. Although he is also a member of the Monogram Club, DeMolay, and football team, he still finds time to maintain a high scholastic average which is proven by his being a member of the Honor Society and being chosen as a Junior Class Marshall. His winning personality and characteristic dependability have led his class to select him for the senior superlative MOST LIKELY TO SUCCEED.

Honor Society Inducts Nine Members

—ANN ROGERS

The National Honor Society inducted nine new members in an impressive assembly program October 13. The program began as the old members marched down the aisle carrying candles. Bonnie Smith then presented the devotions, followed by the president's welcome by David Swing, and the lighting of the candles of Service, Character, Leadership, and Scholarship by various members of the Honor Society.

Then came the long-awaited moment when red carnations were pinned on the unsuspecting new members who are as follows: Monika Kolar, Don Hedrick, Carole Sue Perrell, Louis Bowles, Loretta Lopp, Jean Olive Snyder, Mary Lou Hall, Louise Freeman, Dicky Clifford. Congratulations from the faculty and student body for outstanding students of Lexington Senior High School.

HOMEcoming QUEEN

Homecoming Highlights Football Season

JEAN OLIVE SNYDER, QUEEN

—MELINDA HUFFMAN

Lexington Senior High School held its annual homecoming parade Friday, October 21, 1960. The parade began promptly with the largest number of participants ever, and the entrants should be highly commended.

First prize in the float division went to Miss Ross's homeroom. The Spanish Club, (Mrs. Bell, Sponsor) won second prize, and Mrs. Tate's homeroom, third prize. In the small division prizes were as follows: Mr. Rhodes homeroom, first; LEXICON, second; and D.O., third. The Tri-Hi-Y is to be congratulated on the Queen's float, and the beauty of the Homecoming Queen, Jean Olive Snyder, was a lovely compliment to the throne of a huge red rose on a background of white.

Congratulations should go to Barry Sechrist, Tommy Miller, Philip Reese, John Parker, and their committees for their fine work in making the parade the success that it was.

Adding more beauty to the occasion were the club sponsors:

The Homecoming sponsors were as follows: Susan Moore, Freshmen Class; Tricia Berrier, Sophomore Class; Carrie Shore, Junior Class; Belinda Burke, Senior Class; Shirley Cox, Office Assistant; Monica Kolar, LEXHIPEP; Arlene Bickle, Science I; Judy Raykes, Science II; Julie Smith, French Club; Kaye Burkhardt, Future Teachers; Gail Parks Hi Y; Sue Perrell, Tri-Hi-Y; Betty Washburn, F. H. A.; Mary Lou Hall, Literary Club; Susanne Everhardt, Library Club; Carol Myers, LEXICON; Violet Hamilton, D. E. Club; Brenda Lowery, D. O. Club; Buddy Koonts, Monogram Club; Cookie Lopp, Future Nurses; Linda McGinn, Student Council; Beeva Troutman, Band; Ginger Yarbrough, Key Club; Pam Grandolfi, Freshmen Glee Club; Martha Michale, Spanish Club II; Kathy Brown, Spanish Club I; Carol Craver, Be a Club; Ann Rogers, Honor Society; Phylis Parks, Junior Civitan; Jackie Pickett, Glee Club; Carol Michael, Latin Club.

The traditional Homecoming festivities began Thursday night during the halftime of the Junior Varsity football game. A large Pep Rally was held, and a dummy was hung and burned in effigy. Then on Friday morning another Pep Rally was held in the gym. Then the Homecoming Queen was then officially crowned. After the Pep Rally the student body was dismissed to make ready for the parade.

"All good things must come to an end," and this year's Homecoming ended successfully. The only disappointment of the day was loss to the hard fought game to Greensboro. But happiness was soon restored by the good time had at the dance at the "Y", which was decorated very appropriately for the occasion.

College Day Set for December 8

—JUDY RAYKES

College Day, an annual event, will be held this year on the morning of December 8. Invitations to all colleges in North Carolina and a few to colleges outside the state are being mailed now. Mrs. Hussy, guidance counselor, who is in charge of College Day this year, is still working on the plans with the help of the Student Council.

A schedule of group and individual conferences will be posted later. Seniors will have more time to talk to the representatives than the Juniors will. Freshmen and Sophomores who are especially interested will be invited also.

Definite plans have not been made yet concerning following a custom of inviting county schools, but the questioning space has to be considered.
