

PAUL'S PUNS

—PAUL CANADY

Did you hear what happened when they dropped the Mona Lisa? The paint chipped and it was discovered that there were numbers under it.

Every man who can be a first-rate something—as every man can be who is a man at all—has no right to be a fifth-rate something; for a fifth-rate something is no better than a first-rate nothing.

Nolan called on Phyllis on date night, carrying a package under his arm.

"What have you got there?" said Phyllis.

"Do you like candy?" said Nolan.

"I love it," said Phyllis.

"Well, I brought a pan," said Nolan, "Let's make fudge."

They were strolling through a country lane when Tony got romantic. "Ah, Connie, look at the cow and the calf rubbing noses in the pasture. That sight makes me want to do the same," he said softly.

"Well, go ahead," Connie answered, "it's your cow."

Maxey: "Say, I hear that Clyde kissed you last night!"

Karen: "He did not! And besides, he promised not to tell."

There are three classes of women: the intellectual, the beautiful, and the majority.

A man spent six months pay curing halitosis, only to find out that he was unpopular anyway.

"What a splendid fit," said the tailor, as he carried the epileptic out of his shop.

A fellow was having his first date with a new girl. Things were going along pretty well, as they rode along in his car, when she turned to him and coyly asked: "Do you want to see where I was operated on?"

"Why—uh—yeah. Sure!" he gulped.

"Well, all right," said the girl. "We're just two blocks from the hospital now."

Jack: "Betty doesn't seem to be very intelligent."

John: "No, she didn't pay any attention to me, either."

Young Man: "Mr. Jones, your daughter has promised to be my wife."

Mr. Jones: "That's your own fault—what else did you expect if you kept hanging around here every night?"

"Wilt thou give me the pleasure of accompanying me in a game of croquet?" spake Sir Gawain.

"Nay, nay, I dast not," quoth the shy Lady Elinor. 'Tis a wicket game."

Two eagles were lazily soaring over the desert when a jet-propelled plane sped by them, its exhaust spouting flame and smoke. As it went out of sight, one of the eagles remarked:

"That bird was really in a hurry."

"You'd be in a hurry too," said the other, "if YOUR tail was on fire."

Sydney: (after a fight) "Leave this house! I never want to see you again. Leave this instant!"

Joe: "I have one last request to make before I go."

Sydney: (very sweetly) "Well, what is it?"

Joe: "Before I leave forever, would you mind getting off my lap?"

"I guess I've lost another pupil," said the professor as his glass eye rolled down the kitchen sink.

Boastful college cousin: "I'm taking three courses in college: French, Spanish, and algebra."

High School Cousin: "Okay—let me hear you say good evening in algebra."
