

CITY SCHOOLS HOLD PLAY DAY FESTIVAL ON COURTHOUSE LAWN

Over 4,000 Children to take part in Supervised Play Exercises

At the courthouse square on Tuesday, October 18, a city wide play day was held for the school children of the public and high schools. More than 4,000 children were represented in this supervised play under the direction of Mr. Park.

Beginning at 9 o'clock the first grades assembled and played for forty-five minutes. Following this group the second grades, supervised by their teachers, played several games for a similar period. In like manner the whole of the grammar school pupils played until 2:30 in the afternoon.

At a quarter of three the High School pupils arrived. They played in groups of thirty for twenty-five minutes. The boys of the high school played Club Snatch, Spank Tag, and Passing them up. The girls played Spank Tag, Partners Spin, Three Deep and Center Ball. These games, as well as calisthenics are a regular feature of the physical training exercises at the High School every day.

The Y. M. C. A. gave an exhibition game of indoor baseball while the Y. W. C. A. put on several interesting stunts. The Boy Scouts gave some fancy drills and tent raising exercises. Signaling by use of the wig-wag flags was also demonstrated by the Scouts.

The day ended with community songs at 4 o'clock.

The exercises was under the auspices of the Parent Teachers' Association and under the direct supervision of Mr. Park, playground director of the Greensboro Playground Association.

A large crowd of parents watched the children go through the supervised play exercises. They were, they said, greatly pleased with the success of the day.

COMMUNITY BUDGET TO BE SUBJECT FOR DEBATE

Freshman-Sophomore Debate to Take Place Yearly

The subject of the Freshman-Sophomore debate for this year will be Resolved: That the community budget is the most effective and democratic plan for financing welfare organizations.

The preliminaries will begin in November and the final debate is to be Friday night, December 16th.

This debate is the beginning of an annual event. It will be held every year during the fall semester and will be called the Freshman-Sophomore debate. All members of both classes will be eligible, both boys and girls. The members of the Freshman class will uphold one side and the Sophomores the other. Two speakers on each side will be chosen from the preliminaries for the final debate.

"SUNSHINE" HAWKS AND MISS LULSDORF MAKE BIG HIT IN CHAPEL

G. H. S. was favored with another "double treat" last Friday when we were entertained by Miss Lulsdorf and "Sunshine" Hawks.

Miss Lulsdorf is a very noted singer and with her already having given several entertainments in different parts of the city, great things were expected from her by the students and they were in nowise disappointed. She rendered several simple selections which showed her rich voice to a great advantage, winning the hearty applause of the entire audience.

"Sunshine" Hawks, the next on the number, is a very noted entertainer. He had been on the stage for forty-two years, entertained in the American army for forty-two years, in that time traveling all over the United States. His first witty remark was that after the "Nightingale" comes the "Hawk". With this remark for a starter he continued for the rest of the period, holding the attention of the audience, taking them from laughter to tears, and back again to peals of laughter. His motto was to always be happy and to always smile. His most popular selection was "Over the Hills to the Poorhouse", followed immediately by "Over the Hills from the Poorhouse."

DURHAM DEFEATS GREENSBORO HIGHS IN HARD BATTLE

Aerial Attack by Durham Cause of Gate City Defeat

Greensboro High School received her first defeat of the season Saturday, October 22 at the hands of the Durham eleven to the tune of 14 to 1. The field on the outskirts of Durham was well filled, approximately 750 people witnessing the unexpected triumph of the Durham team. The team was of the fumbly, fight-for-every-inch variety. Greensboro had no trouble going through Durham for steady gains but for various reasons could not score after the first few minutes of play in which they made one touchdown.

Durham failed to make much of a showing against the Greensboro line but won the game by her forward passes, the execution of which gave evidence of hard work. Durham's two touch-downs were made possible by her aerial attack with which she took many long chances and in some miraculous way got away with most of them.

Greensboro started off with her usual pep carrying the ball from the center of the field to the eight-yard line where Daniels on a delayed buck over tackle carried the ball over for the first touch-down. Greensboro was helped in making this goal when Durham fumbled Daniel's kick and one of our men recovered the ball. This brought the ball near their goal and the

BOOK DAY FEATURE CHILDREN'S WEEK

The City Federation of Woman's Clubs, foreseeing the good that might be accomplished for the young people of Greensboro, set aside the week from October 16th to 22nd as Children's Week. Wednesday, the 19th, was to be Book Day. On this day the parents of the pupils in the city schools were asked to come in person to the respective schools attended by their children and donate one book for each child in school. This was a very timely thought, for the school libraries were short on books.

On Wednesday the High School was literally showered with good, wholesome books, recommended by Mr. Archer. Great rivalry was manifested among the different rooms as to which one would receive the greatest number of books. A table was stationed in the hall and the librarian was kept busy all day making a record of the books donated by the people of Greensboro. The high school students are not likely to want for good literature for a long time.

Most of the books received were fiction. There were books by Winston Churchill, Luther Burbank, Kate Douglas Wiggin, Charles Dickens, Kathleen Norris, Eleanor H. Porter, Robert Lewis Stevenson, Victor Hugo, Mark Twain, Theodore Roosevelt, Oliver Goldsmith, and many other prominent authors. There were also books of poems by Robert Browning and Longfellow. Approximately 250 books were given.

"Book Day" was not only a high school affair but extended to all of the schools in the city. Approximately 1,000 books were received by all of the schools and they have not stopped coming in yet. Some of the schools and various rooms are showing keen rivalry, which not only shows a good spirit but helps to increase the number.

SCHOOL ADOPTS STANDARD RING

Hurray for the Seniors. They have added another achievement to their list of good deeds. Their latest work was the adoption of a standard class ring.

Heretofore the studious Seniors have spent hours and hours of their precious time in seeking a ring worthy to adorn the hand of a scholar who has graduated from old G. H. S. Now their problem has been solved, forever we hope.

A committee of five Seniors was appointed to select the class ring of '22. This committee saw not less than eight men, who were convinced that their rings were the best on the market. And the ring chosen was one of a special design by the first salesman.

The Seniors did not take entire control in this matter. The selected ring was approved by the Juniors and Sophomores even before the Senior class, as a whole, had seen it. All three classes voted to adopt this ring as their standard.

The ring has a shield in the center with

GREENSBORO DEFEATS WINSTON-SALEM HIGHS BY LONE TOUCHDOWN

Game Listless in First Half but aerial attack in Second Period Turns Trick

A sudden aerial attack in the fourth quarter paved the way to the touchdown which made the Greensboro High victors over the Winston-Salem Highs in a hard fought, evenly contested game of football at Haynes Park in Winston, Saturday, Oct. 15th.

The ball was near the middle of the field with neither side gaining consistently. Then, with the suddenness of a thunderbolt, Garland Daniel shot a forward pass to Hinkle and before the Winston club could recover from the shock another pass to P. Transou brought the ball to Winston's three-yard line.

Here, with their backs to the wall, the Winston boys fought savagely but, with victory almost in their hands, the Greensboro boys were not to be denied. Once they carried the ball over but were brought back and penalized for offside. But on the third trip P. Transou carried the ball over for a touchdown and Daniel added the extra point.

Throughout the first half Greensboro played listlessly. Winston backed a couple of Daniel's punts and kept the ball in Greensboro's territory most of the time although never seriously threatening to score.

But in the second half Greensboro came back strong and her superior weight began to tell on Winston. In the third quarter she worked the ball up near Winston's goal. Here Greensboro tried a drop kick but Daniel's kick went wild and it was not until the last quarter that she scored.

Until the last quarter the game looked like a toss up. Greensboro muffed several punts and fumbled often and such breaks as these went in favor of Winston who several times recovered the ball on her own punts. There was a great deal of rough play, both sides using their fists freely with little interference from the officials. Michael's line play stood out for Winston as did Taylor's for Greensboro.

The game by quarters:

First quarter: Greensboro kicked off. Held Winston for downs. Winston kicked thirty yards. Bell end run for first down. Greensboro held for downs-kicked. Kick blocked—Winston kicked. Greensboro was again held for downs and kicked. Kick blocked again. Winston's ball on 25-yd. line. Winston thrown for loss. Winston passed, Greensboro intercepted, and was thrown on 25-yd. line. Held for downs. Ball goes over.

Second quarter: Winston's ball. First down on pass. Winston held. Greensboro's ball. Greensboro punted. Winston made first down on line breaks. Greensboro recovered the ball by an intercepted pass and line bucks failed. Greensboro punted. Winston punted. Greensboro tried two forward passes which failed.
