Paragraphics

The teachers are out for our skins and we are out for the "sheep skins"

How's the school gonna run with out a Tyre is what we wanta know.

They must have had a hot time in 204 last week—but since the fires have gone out, they's beginning to have cold feet.

What is so rare as the day in June when examinations are over and ye care worn students hie themselves away to the green wood to be recreated?

"Aint my Uncle nor my Auntie but, it's me, Oh Lord, Standin' in th' Need O' Prayer. It's me, it's me, it's me, Oh Lord, 'er standin' in the need o' Prayer.

The Seniors are quite "the mustard" now but next spring they'll be quite the green.

Well, so long, see you at college next year.

Can't say, Mr. Archer hasn't had one good looking picture made in his young life.

EDITORIAL

In the last issue of "High Life," ye editor cannot let the opportunity pass without thanking the school and especially the Senior class for the whole-hearted and loyal support which they have given. Never has a call for material been made that it has not been answered in some way.

The editor also feels that the staff should be lauded for its harmonious co-operation. It has not allowed personal opinions or desires to stand in its way, and it has always made it possible for the editor to work—unmolested.

Although High Life has still many roads to travel to become a model paper, it has been our endeavor to carry on the good work of our predecessors and advance and broaden its usefulness as much as has been in our power. An effort has been made to estimate correctly what a majority of the students wanted and make High Life a reflection of the life and ideals of the student body. It has been the purpose of the editors to make High Life have some meaning to each student in school and give every phase of student activities and each department in school, an equal amount of publicity.

Whether we have succeeded or failed—and we are fully aware of our limitations—we part with a clear conscience of having given our best meager as it has been.

The most dubious of the doubting ing Thomases cannot but admit that the present student council has been a decided success. Though it has been in operation only for a few months, still it has had a foundation that is so sturdy and practical that its ability is not to be denied.

Three cases of dishonesty have been dealt with, as has a case of discipline. These problems have been disposed of in a thoroughly systematic and just manner. The members of the council did not leave a stone unturned to get the whole truth in each case and then, justice was administered according to the most conscientious judgment.

The council has approached every question brought before it with an open mind and has so far not allowed prejudices to play any part in its decisions.

This beginning made for student participation in school government is one for G. H. S. to be proud of.

Chapel Program

Mr. Phillips spoke about registering, which is a new thing in high school and he hopes it will be a success. We are to register Monday and Tuesday. He also told us to be careful about filling out the cards—especially about the credits. Then he read the proposed schedules for the coming year. There is a plan to combine second and third year history. It has been decided to start a course in German next year.

There will be a Junior High School at Lindsay St. School for the Freshmen; therefore G. H. S. will be the same except the Seniors.

Miss Stephenson outlined and explained the Domestic Science course. Then she gave us reasons for taking the course.

Rufus Little: Red, do you know what a fish net is?

Wm. Neal: Sure.

R. L.: What is it?

W. N.: A lot of holes tied together with strings.

OLD NEWS

Miss Mine's first period Caesar class has attempted to write a newspaper notice of the forty-sixth chapter in the "War with Ariovistus" as it would probably appear today. As former Latin students will remember, Caesar and the tenth legion were at a conference with Ariovistus when they were attacked by his attendants.

CONFERENCE BROKEN UP!

Attendants of Ariovistus Throw Rocks and Weapons on Our Troops—Caesar's Presence of Mind Saves The Day

The Germans have shown their treachery again! Caesar and the tenth legion were attacked by the attendants of Ariovistus while at a conference with him today. Rocks and weapons were thrown on our troops, greatly endangering their lives. Caesars' presence of mind saved the day. Not wishing to give Ariovistus a chance to say he started the battle, he ordered the tenth legion not to hurl back any of the weapons but return to camp. This unbearable treachery of Ariovistus will mean war.

YOUR SCHOOL

If you want to be in the kind of school,

Like the kind of school you like, You needn't slip your clothes in a grip

And go on a long, long hike; You will only find what you left behind,

For there's nothing really new—

It's a knock at yourself when you knock your school,

It isn't your school—its YOU!
