

GREENSBORO TEAMS MAKE GOOD SHOWING IN TRIANGULAR DEBATE

Greensboro Debaters Are: John Larkins, Henry Biggs, John Mebane and Carlton Wilder

JUDGES' DECISION UNFAVORABLE

Friday night, March 27, Greensboro High School offered some brilliant arguments to uphold its side of the question, but both affirmative and negative teams suffered defeat. The subject was: "Resolved—That North Carolina should ratify the port terminals and water transportation act." The Greensboro affirmative team opposed by the High Point negative squad put up a splendid fight at home and kept pace with the out-of-town group in rebuttal, ready come-back, and thoughtful explanation. The negative team against Winston-Salem struggled hard, but all in vain.

John Larkins and Henry Biggs, representing the Greensboro affirmative team, brought out excellent points in favor of port terminals and discussed them eloquently. The former in his argument declared that the wheels of commerce were locked and offered the ratification of the port terminals and water transportation act as the only possible solution. The four reasons which he used to back his arguments were: (1) North Carolina must conserve that which she has allowed to go to waste; (2) she needs a basis from which to calculate freight rates; (3) she needs to be relieved of discriminating freight rates; (4) water transportation has become a necessity.

His colleague, Henry Biggs, brought out that there was a crying need for faster and cheaper transportation and that water transportation was much faster and cost one-third as much as did that by rail. He advocated that port terminals would insure development of waterways in keeping with the pace of the state. Such developments would be far-reaching in their effects and save

G. H. S. COMMUNITY CHEST DRIVE IS VERY SUCCESSFUL

High School Donates Over Two Hundred Dollars to the Cause.

The Community Chest campaign was put on in G. H. S. on March 27, and brought about successful results. The students took a great interest in it. All session rooms paid up 100 per cent, and the total amount raised by the school was $214.

The prizes for the best essays and posters on the Chest were awarded by Mr. Fred F. Myrick. They were presented to the following: Posters, first prize, Maxine Ferree; second, James Stidham. Those receiving prizes in the senior class for essays were: first, Elizabeth Cartland; second, Dorothy Lea. For the junior class: first, Wade Hobbs; second, Shelton Dry. Sophomore class, none. Freshman class: first, Sadie Sharp; second, Margaret Sockwell.

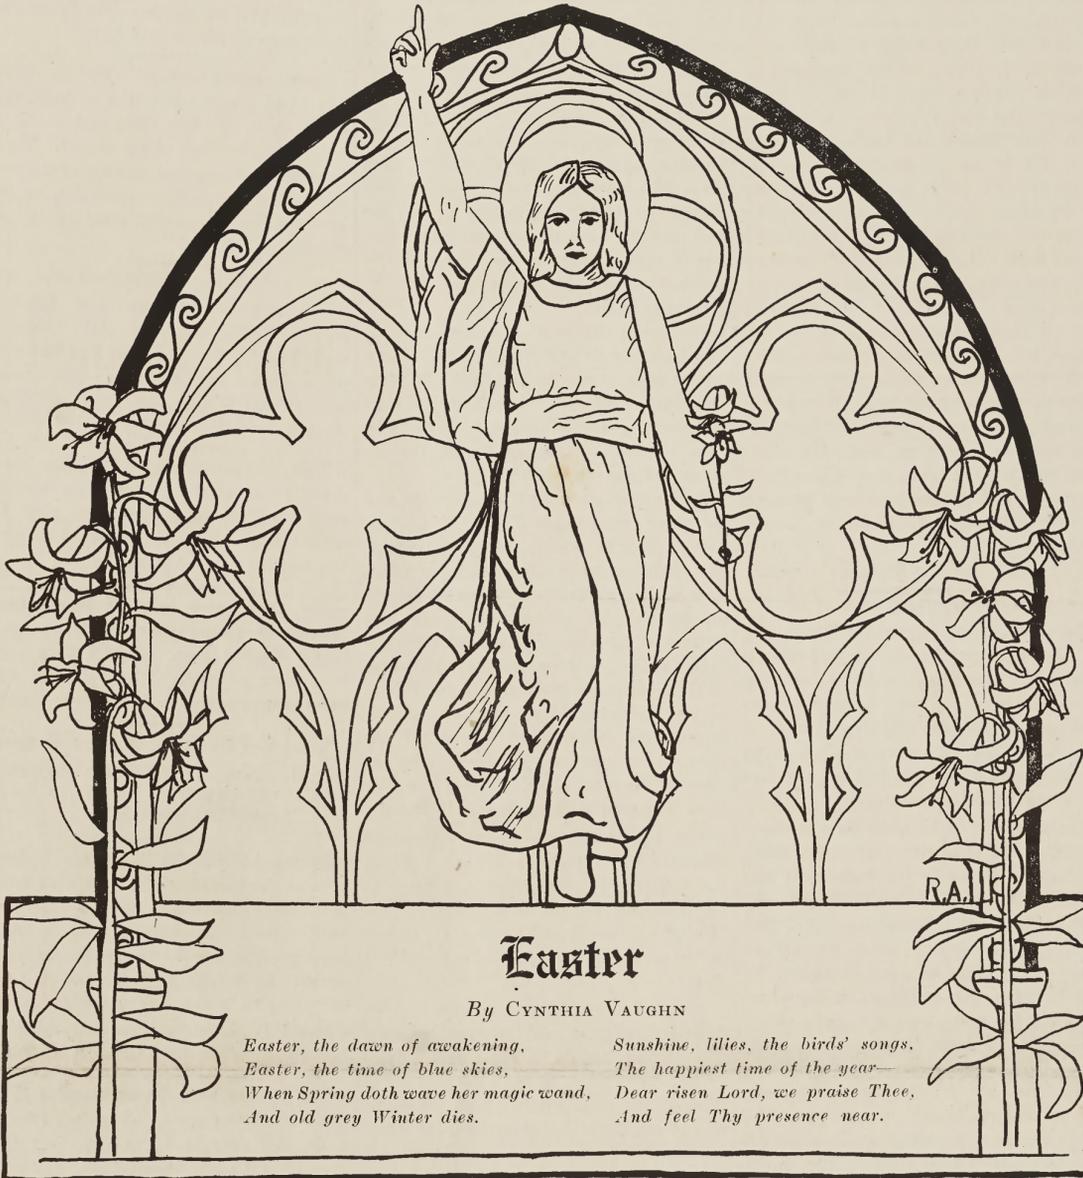

J. NORMAN WILLS TALKS TO COMMERCIAL CLUB

He Explains How to Meet and Talk With Big Executives.

On Friday, March 27, J. Norman Wills, chairman of the school board, gave a talk to the Commercial club.

Mr. Wills wove through his talk the theme: "I will lift up mine eyes to the hills, from whence cometh my help; my help cometh from the Lord, who made the heavens and the earth." (Psalm 21.)

Mr. Wills told the members of the Commercial club how to meet and talk with big executives. He explained to them the need of a thorough preparation, of a solid foundation, for a business career.

Easter

By CYNTHIA VAUGHN

Easter, the dawn of awakening,
Easter, the time of blue skies,
When Spring doth wave her magic wand,
And old grey Winter dies.

Sunshine, lilies, the birds' songs,
The happiest time of the year—
Dear risen Lord, we praise Thee,
And feel Thy presence near.

TRIANGULAR DEBATERS REHEARSE IN CHAPEL

LeGrand Johnson and Enoch Elliott Play Several Selections on French Harps.

On Tuesday and Wednesday, March 24 and 25, the debating club had charge of the program in chapel, presenting the triangular debaters in an open rehearsal.

Tuesday, LeGrand Johnson and Enoch Elliott entertained the group from Annexes A and B for a few minutes by playing several selections on French harps. These instruments were not very much to look at, but from the way the boys played them one would think they ought to be important instruments of an orchestra. Miss Killingsworth spoke of the boys as geniuses.

The next part of the program was the first half, or one speech from each side, of the triangular debate. The query, "Resolved—That North Carolina should ratify the port terminals and water transportation act." (Continued on page six)

MISS TILLET ADDRESSES CONFERENCE AT DURHAM

The annual meeting of the English teachers of the state was held at Duke university, Durham, on March 27 and 28. Representatives from all the larger high schools and colleges attended it.

The keynote of the conference was oral composition. Miss Tillet, head of the Greensboro High English department, led one of the discussions, bringing out the importance of systematic handling of oral work in class. All agreed that training in oral composition is becoming more and more valuable to life of the present day.

One of the speakers said that Greensboro High School graduates had a low percentage of failures in college English work. He classed G. H. S. as one of the four best in this respect in the state.

G. H. S. TAKES FIRST PLACE IN TRACK MEET IN WINSTON-SALEM

Hackney, Horney, Koenig, Phoenix, Glascock, Elliott, Whittington, and Goodwin Are Stars of Day.

Greensboro Hi runners took first place in a triangular track meet held at Hanes park in Winston-Salem Saturday, March 28. They defeated Thomasville and Winston by winning first place in six events and taking second and third places in other events. Our boys scored a total of 51 points to Winston-Salem's 48 and Thomasville's 18.

Our team excelled in track, taking first place in all sprints and second places in some of the long distance runs.

The heroes of the day were Hackney, Horney, Koenig, Phoenix, Glascock, Elliott, Whittington, and Goodwin.

HARRY GUMP WINS IN DECLAMERS CONTEST

William Hunter Is Second and John Larkins Third.

Harry Gump, William Hunter, and John Larkins were the winners over the 14 contestants in the declamation contest which was held Monday night, March 30, in the High School auditorium. The winners were to participate later in contests to be held at Duke university, Wake Forest, and Guilford College, April 3.

Harry Gump, winner of the first place, was to have his choice between the three colleges, William Hunter between the remaining two, and John Larkins was to represent the High School at the third place.

Declamers who took part were as follows: Harry Gump, Pogue Sherrill, Randall Martin, Julius Witten, Richard Irvin, William Hunter, J. D. McNairy, Shelton Dry, John Mebane, John Larkin, George Newman, Houston Barbee, and C. D. Wilkinson.

BOYS HEAR MR. AYCOCK AND MR. EDGAR A. WOODS

J. Foster Barnes Gives Vocal Selection—Orchestra Entertains Assembly.

Wednesday morning, April 1, an assembly of boys was held in chapel. The main part of the program was given over to Mr. Aycock and Mr. Woods.

First on the program was a selection by the orchestra, "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 5." This was well rendered and showed good work on the part of Mr. Miller and the students. Arthur Davant then read the scripture, which was taken from Proverbs. This was followed by a short speech on clean sports by Orden Goode.

Mr. Aycock, of the history faculty, spoke on "Why Quit School?" He said that boys will enjoy future life much better if they continue with their education and that they will find a place in the world if they do so.

Mr. J. Foster Barnes sang "On the" (Continued on page six)

JUNIOR-SENIOR INVITATIONS CAUSE OF MUCH EXCITEMENT

"Call for Miss Gregory! Miss Gregory, please! Miss Gregory! At the Jefferson, 6:30, April 17, 1925," calls an ebony page. Excitement follows in his footsteps. The Junior-Senior invitations are out! Is it possible?

A once dignified senior, with stealthy footsteps, creeps up to the page. The innocent darky little realizes the fatal blow that is to come. Still the senior advances, keeping in the shadows. Just a few more feet—why doesn't someone warn the page?

At last he is there! He raises his arm, and taps the page on the shoulder. "What are we to eat?" he gasped in desperate tones. But the ebony gentleman couldn't relieve his suspense.

SENIOR CLASS LEADS EASTER DEVOTIONAL FOR GIRLS ASSEMBLY

Easter Music and Readings Fill Students With Right Spirit for the Holidays.

MISS ECKFORD SPEAKS ON ART

An Easter service planned and conducted by the Senior class formed the devotional part of the chapel exercises on Friday, April 10. Garnett Gregory, Senior president, presided. The program was kept in the spirit of worship and dignity suggested by the meaning of the day, "Good Friday."

"In the Garden" was sung by Nell Applewhite. Marjorie Vanneman read the scripture story of the Crucifixion and the Resurrection. An Easter prayer was offered by Elizabeth Smith. William Fowler played a violin solo, "Indian Lament," and following this Virginia McClamroch gave a reading, "Peace." A feature of the program was a solo from an old Easter anthem, sung by Mr. Wunsch. The student audience seemed to enter wholly into the spirit of the service, and to appreciate its presentation by the Seniors on the day that signified the beginning of the Easter holiday.

The latter part of the period was turned over to the art department, this being National Art Week. Miss Eugenia Eckford, of N. C. C. W., gave an interesting talk on "Art in Pottery."

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION GIVES NOVEL RELAY PROGRAM

Music and Exhibits from Home Economics Classes Are Features That Interest Parents.

"All Gaul is divided into three parts," so was the Parent-Teacher meeting held on Friday night, April 3. The first was devoted to music, the second to an exhibit of work done by the home economics department, and the third to an inspection trip through the practice home of the economics class at N. C. C. W. on McIvy street.

The following musical program was given in the High Schol auditorium:

Lovely Spring; Shoozy Shoo—Girls' Glee Club led by Mr. Gildersleeve.

Kyjuiak (violin solo)—Virginia Jackson.

Cradle Song (piano)—Helen Forbis. Indian Lament (violin)—Charlotte Van Noppen.

Hungarian Dance No. 5—Mr. Miller's Orchestra.

Little Mother of Mine (vocal solo)—Edwin Stainback.

Fantaisie Impromptu (piano solo)—Elizabeth Hodgkin.

The second part of the program was a journey through "Barn A" to see the exhibition of the home economics department. The members of the class were present to assist the tourists in their

ANNUAL MUSIC CONTEST IS HELD IN HIGH SCHOOL

Mary E. King, Edward Stainback, and Tommy Strader Win First Places.

The preliminary musical contest was held Saturday morning, March 28, in "Barn C." Mr. Fitch, of Chapel Hill, acted as judge, and Mr. Glenn Gildersleeve had charge of the contest, which was open to all High School students.

Among the five piano contestants Mary Elizabeth King won first place and Frances Johnson second. There were two vocal contestants selected to one pianist. So Edward Stainback and Tommy Strader won first place, and Katherine Barber and Hazel Thompson second.

These three winners of first place will take part in the state contest to be held at N. C. C. W. April 23.
