Speaker Appeals to Students in Effort to Prevent Drifting—"The World Has No Use for Drifters."

On Thursday, April 23, Major W. T. Morgan, speaking for "some firm in Pennsylvania," on leave from his corporation, addressed the upper classes on "How to Make the World Give You What You Want." He was introduced by Mr. Ben Williams, principal of the McIver school.

No idea could be given of Major Morgan's speech without description of the externals. The speaker, a veteran of two wars, now a business man connected with an international corporation, had a personality all his own, a dazzling and magnetic personality. Moreover, the striking thing that held the audience after the first few minutes of joking and

PHILLIPS AWARDS STARS AND LETTERS TO GIRLS

Former Principal Inspires Students to "Go, Get, and Give" in Chapel Talk Monday.

G. B. Phillips, former principal of Greensboro High School, addressed the student body Monday at the chapel period. At that time he also presented letters and stars to the girls who had won them in some athletic event this year.

Mr. Phillips began his talk by saying that he would present a "G" to every one in the student body; not, however, one to wear on a sweater, but a slogan, "Go, Get, and Give," to wear in one's heart. "Go after the larger things of life with a determination to win. Get character, health, friends, and wealth; then give part of that which you have gotten to some one in need. Give comradeship and friendship also," said the speaker, in a most inspiring talk.

Betty Harrison and Marion Walters were then presented the emblem GNC, which is the highest honor that one may obtain in the athletic association. There are five others in Greensboro High now wearing this emblem—Elizabeth Darling, Helen Forbis, Maxine Ferree, Mary Thurman, and Garnett Gregory. May Thurman and Maxine Ferree are the proud possessors of four stars, while Helen Forbis wears three. There are three girls who have two stars, and nine girls who wear one.

Four girls were presented a G—Margaret Harrison, Josephine Abernathy, Hazel Brown, and Sadie Clements. Maxine Ferree, Mary Thurman, Helen Forbis, Virginia Jackson, Edith Neal, Dorothy Lea, Mary Tilly and Ruth Watson were awarded stars also for extra points.

G. H. S. REPRESENTED WELL AT GUILFORD

Virginia McClamrock Gives "The Last Leaf"—John Larkins Declaims.

John Larkins and Virginia McClamrock represented Greensboro High School in the Guilford College Declamation and Recitation Contest May 18. The contest, which is a part of High School Day, is an annual affair. There were 18 entrants in the declamation and 21 in the recitation contest.

Virginia McClamrock was one of the four girls to appear in the finals. "Her interpretation of O. Henry's 'Last Leaf' was perfect," said Miss Killingsworth.

Albemarle won the first place in the recitation contest with Riley's "Little Boy's Bear Story." Durham was first in the declamation contest.

GREENSBORO GIRLS WIN TRACK MEET

Carry Off Honors At Fifth District Meet Held At Winston-Salem May 2.

Greensboro High School girls carried off the honors at the track meet for the fifth district held at Winston-Salem on May 2nd, when they scored a total of 33 1/4 points. Winston was a close second with 31 1/4 points, High Point ran third with 19 1/4, and Wentworth only cornered 5 1/4. Excitement ran high when the local aggregation realized Winston was pressing them hard, and the Winston representatives found they still had a fighting chance. But the latter fought in vain.

The winners of first place in the various events follow: 50-yd. dash, Winston-Salem; 75-yd. dash, Greensboro, Josephine Abernathy; high jump, Greensboro, Ruth Watson; running broad jump, Greensboro, Ruth Watson; hurdles, Winston-Salem; basketball goal, Greensboro; baseball speed relay, Winston; flag relay, Winston. All cities tied in the basketball throw.

Others entered from Greensboro High School who achieved second and third places, thus scoring for their city, and showed up well in the contests were: Misses Mary Tilly, Lillian Lye, Mary Thurman, Mettewa Hoffman, Ruth Watson, Mary McCollum, Josephine Abernathy, Mary Lyons, Helen Forbis, Louise Thacker, Marion Walters, Edna Meyers, Mary Young, Marguerite Harrison, Margaret Hood, Rose Goodwin, Duella Walker, and Dorothy Lea. Misses J. Causey, I. Moore, and Nellie K. Dry, coaches, accompanied the contestants.

HIGH LIFE TO ENTER SECOND STATE NEWSPAPER CONTEST

Miss Coleman Accepts Invitation—Staff Very Optimistic Over Outcome—Won First Contest.

The principal has received a letter from Mr. P. R. Rankin, Secretary of the Extension Division of the University of North Carolina, inviting HIGH LIFE to enter the High School Newspaper Contest. Miss Coleman, faculty adviser for the paper, has accepted the invitation.

This is the second annual contest in journalism put on by the University. HIGH LIFE won the trophy cup last year. The editors say that they are looking forward and hoping to win it again this year.

OUR FORMER PRINCIPAL UNDERGOES AN OPERATION

Mr. G. B. Phillips, superintendent of the Salisbury Public Schools, underwent an operation for appendicitis Thursday, April 30. He is doing well at the local hospital.

Mr. Phillips was principal of the High School here last year and was liked very much by the students and faculty. The student body expressed its sympathy by telegram Thursday.

TALKS BY GREENSBORO HIGH STUDENTS FEATURE YOUTHS' MASS MEETING

Dr. Percy Hayward Addresses Assembly and Mr. J. Foster Barnes Leads Singing.

STUDENTS ATTEND MEETING

A large number of High School students attended the young people's mass meeting held at the West Market Street Methodist church, on Wednesday night, April 29.

Arthur Davant, president of the student body, presided, and the following program was given:

Song service, led by Mr. J. Foster Barnes.

"Making Life Count in School," by Frances Elder.

"Making Life Count Through Work," by P. B. Whittington, Jr.

"Making Life Count Through the Home," by Lois Gillespie.

"Making Life Count Through the Church," by Jimmie Williams.

Song.

"Folks Who Count and Some Who Merely Figure," by Dr. Percy R. Hayward.

In her talk, "Making Life Count in School," Frances Elder reminded every boy and girl of the thousands of advantages they have now and the few that the boys and girls of yesterday enjoyed. "Today we are trained in school for life's work, not only in our lessons but also by the friends we make," she said. Christ is the perfect friend and is always ready to comfort and cheer us. It should be our desire to give to others the Christ who has meant so much to us. Her talk was closed by reminding that opportunities lie all around us and that making friends is one of the finest lessons learned there.

"Making Life Count in Business" was the topic of P. B. Whittington, Jr. He emphasized the need of a character budget in our lives. This budget should be

PRIZE IS OFFERED FOR BEST POEM BY HIGH SCHOOL PUPIL

Cat's Head Club Offers $10 to High School Poet Excelling in Verse Writing.

In an effort to stimulate verse writing among the high school students of the state, the Cat's Head club, a literary group at Duke University, has recently announced a prize of $10 for the best short poem to be written and submitted before April 1. The contest, it is stated, is open to all high school students, and the range of subjects is unlimited.

The rules state that the poems submitted must not be over 40 lines in length and that any type of verse will be considered except free verse. The winning poem will be published in The Archive, student literary magazine.

Judges in the contest have been selected from among members of the university faculty.

SENIOR INVITATIONS FILL G. H. S. WITH ENTHUSIASM

"Aren't they beautiful!" exclaimed the Seniors. "Let's see them!" demanded the Juniors. "What are they?" asked the Sophomores. "Will we get any?" queried the Freshmen.

What caused all this commotion in the solemn halls of G. H. S.? Why was the Supply Room the cynosure of all? What was it all about? Why, the invitations to commencement, of course—those handsome documents which, according to one prosaic dandy, "look exactly like they've had the smallpox," and to a miss of more romantic inclinations, "look just like a beautiful white wave-swept beach."

Which would you rather be—a Senior to send invitations, or a friend to send presents?

BOYS' FORUM HOLDS MEETING IN CHAPEL

Students Celebrate National Boys' Week—Boys' Quartet Entertains.

As a part of the celebration of National Boys' Week, all the boys of G. H. S. were gathered together in chapel Wednesday, April 29, to enjoy a pleasant entertainment program.

After Miss Killingsworth had made a few preliminary remarks, the program was opened with the hymn, "Come, Thou Almighty King," sung by the assembly. Miss Killingsworth read the 67th Psalm for the devotional part. Next came a recitation by Audrey Johnson. It was a selection from Booth Tarkington's well known story, "Penrod," and created much amusement, as it was exceptionally well delivered. Transferred in a flash to the realm of music, the audience listened successively to a pleasing violin solo by Charlotte Van Noppen, and to Mr. Miller, who sang "The Yellow Dog Song," accompanying himself on the piano. Sarah Mendenhall followed with a recitation. The most popular number on the program proved to be the boys' quartet. Twice they were brought back by the tremendous applause of the assembly, until, it was rumored, they had finally exhausted their repertoire. Mr. Park then made a short talk urging the boys to come out in full force for the boys' parade on Friday.

G. H. S. MAKES GOOD SHOWING IN STATE-WIDE MUSIC CONTEST

Mary Elizabeth King, Tommy Strader and William Fowler Were Outstanding Contestants.

Again this year the Greensboro High School entered the music contest put on by N. C. C. W. in the week of May 20-24. The orchestra, the glee club, Mary Elizabeth King, piano soloist; Edward Stainback and Tommy Strader, vocal soloists; and William Fowler, violinist, participated in the contest.

"Our glee club and orchestra both did fine work, and also each of the solo entries, but not fine enough for G. H. S. to get a first or second place," declared Mr. Glenn Gildersleeve. He continued: "Edward Stainback was ruled out because of having an unchanged voice. Never before has there been either a boy

BEAUTIFUL MAID VAMPS SPECTATORS IN PARADE

Athletes Honor Queens of Beauty With Exhibition of Strength.

The beauty parade carried off Friday, May 1, was a decidedly successful affair. "Hard-Hearted Hannah" Hunter made a knock-out with the masculine onlookers, as, accompanied by "Mutt" Witten, her most ardent admirer, she "sacheted" along the streets of Greensboro. Her escort of army officers added greatly to charming effect, and "Hannah" far outdistanced such other lovely beauties as were in the parade.

Perhaps her greatest distinction was her difference of costume. How Basil's

GLENN HOLDER HEADS HIGH LIFE FOR YEAR 1925-1926

School is nearly over! The Juniors realized the full purport of this well-loved statement Friday, April 24, when they held what was perhaps the most important meeting of their Junior year, namely, to elect the leaders for their Senior year.

Leaders for Senior year! Why, they could hardly "take in" the fact that they were so near being Seniors. Nevertheless, they were, and so officers must be elected. Instantly "thinking caps" were donned and names submitted for the class ap-

FIFTH AND SEVENTH SEMESTERS ELECT STAFF OF MAGAZINE FOR 1926

Officers Are: Helen Felder, Editor-in-Chief, Orden Goode and Bobbie Wilson, Business Managers.

IS TO REPLACE "REFLECTOR"

In keeping with the plans for a school magazine, for next year, the fifth and seventh semesters, in charge of the project, elected the editor Friday, April 24. At a joint meeting of the classes Helen Felder was voted editor-in-chief; Orden Goode, business manager, and Bobby Wilson, assistant business manager.

The plans are that the magazine will take the place of the Annual, the editor-in-chief and business manager coming from the class to graduate at mid-term. The present fifth semester will take it over after the class in charge graduates. However, the assistant editor and the assistant business manager have been chosen from the fifth semester in order to balance the project and to give that class training before taking it over.

SUMMER SCHOOL OFFERS WORK FOR FAILURES

"Large Attendance Is Expected Altho Plans Not Yet Complete," Says Mr. Edwards.

Summer school beginning June 15 will have as large an attendance this year as it had the last, so Mr. Edwards says. "It will be operated mainly for failures, and since we have as many failing this year as last term, we expect approximately the same number of applicants," declared the Superintendent in a recent interview.

Though complete plans have not been made, it can safely be said that most of the last year's teachers are ready to sign up any time they are called upon. The subjects to be taught are varied: any subject for which there are as many as ten applicants will be given at this summer's session.

"The school," added Mr. Edwards, "will include grades 8, 9, 10, 11, and 12."

MISS SUMMERALL AND MISS MORROW TO RETURN HERE

Former Members of Faculty to Teach Latin and Math Here Next School Session.

Miss Jane Summerall, at present a member of the Winthrop College faculty, will teach at Greensboro High next year. She has been teaching English the past year, but will probably teach Latin or both here.

Miss Mary Morrow, also a former faculty member here, will teach math here again next year.

Since leaving G. H. S. both Miss Summerall and Miss Morrow have been going to school. Miss Summerall took a M.A. course in English at Columbia College, New York City. Miss Morrow has been at Peabody Teachers College, Nashville, Tenn.

MR. KETCHUM DELIVERS FIRST ADDRESS OF BOYS' WEEK HERE

On Monday morning, April 27, the students of the main building heard Mr. Ketchum, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

As this was National Boys' Week, Mr. Ketchum's talk was directed principally to the boys. The purpose of Boys' Week, he said, was intended to stimulate thinking among young men, and to give an insight to the line of work that they might wish to follow. "The goods that we use must be paid for with the goods that we make," said Mr. Ketchum. Business now, more than ever before, has become professional. One who has a pleasing personality and an education will succeed, he declared in closing.
