PURPLE WHIRLWIND BLOWS OVER HIGH POINT

Side Lights

High Point sure did have a crowd. There is not much in the theory that a crowd will win a game, is there?

Too much weight for the fence eh? Guess that was the reason it collapsed.

Pitch 'em little boys! You're real good shots at throwing gum and candy.

Pete, we hated to see you in citizens clothes holding the chain instead of in togs, but every dog has his day and we'll look to you for the Championship next year.

It was suggested that we didn't lose because the band didn't play, but don't let that discourage you.

Graham almost won the bicycle race during intermission.

Phil, you made a good flapper with the closely drawn coat.

High Point's cheer leaders evidently are baseball players. At least their caps are of that type.

Anybody that Mr. Wunsch wouldn't let in just had somebody pass a ticket thru the fence. This is to put you wise, "Bobby."

What could have been the attraction in the Grand Stand that our sheiks were so often called there to view certain scenes—boyish bobs, etc., I guess.

Coach Fordham's Daddy appreciates his son and he has a right to. Think how near he and Mr. Coltrane have taken our team toward the Western Championship!

The yell. "Bang! Whistle! Boom!", didn't get much whistling except for some people saying the word whistle.

We wonder whether the red socks we wore were swiped or donated from the Leaksville team.

The little football game in the corner of the field was attracting quite a bit of attention.

If the Leaksville boys learned something else about the game every time they had a conference, they ought to have won.

REFEREE—UMPIRE—TIMEKEEPER—LINESMAN

Quite often we pause in the daily routine of life to sing the praises of our football heroes and our coaches. This is indeed very fitting for they surely deserve all the praise and more than we can give them. But, though we seldom forget to laud our stars and favorites, there is a class which (it is sad to say) we quite neglect.

The umpire, the referee, the timekeeper and the linesman win scant praise from our lips and yet how could the game be played without them? The final word rests with them. It is their duty to see that fair play and honesty are practiced throughout the game. They must be on their guard always, fair minded, impartial and honest. The part that they play is very important and without them we would have no football games only free for all fights.

Therefore, since the part these men play in our great game of football, is so large, let us pause and give expression to the gratitude which we feel deep in our hearts. Let us say to the umpires, linesmen, referees, and timekeepers: thank you.

GREENSBORO GIRLS TRIM WILMINGTON BY SCORE OF 4 TO 1

Local Girls Outplay Wilmington During First Half—G. H. S. Scores Four Goals Then MUCH GOOD DRIBBLING

Lyon, Goodwin, Lea and Van Noppen Star for Locals—Only Juniors and Seniors Play for Wilmington.

Friday afternoon, Nov. 6, the Greensboro Hockey team defeated the Wilmington girls on the McIver field by the score of 4-1. During the first half Wilmington failed to score, while Greensboro was amassing four goals. The last half was a different story; Wilmington kept the ball out of Greensboro's territory, scoring one point themselves.

The first half was characterized by a great deal of dribbling by M. Lyon, Goodwin, Lea, and Van Noppen. Lyon displayed ability at quick passing. Hard fighting marked the last half with the play centering around Wilmington's goal. Greensboro's point getters were Norcum, two; Goodwin and Lea, one each.

Since only Juniors and Seniors are allowed to participate in the game at Wilmington, they have only rather a small number of candidates to pick the team from.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC COUNCIL AWARDS POINTS FOR CAMPING

The Girl's Athletic Council held its first meeting November 3, to check up on the points won by the girls at camp this summer. Points won at camp in activities which count in the regular high school curriculum may be transferred as twenty-five per cent of the number of points necessary to receive an award. In the case of a "G" which counts 200 points, 50 points are awarded; for a monogram 100 points; for a star 25 points. Points won this semester in swimming and hiking were also checked. The appointment of a committee to get up a stunt for Friday 13, concluded the meeting.

Greensboro was successful for the first time in two years in winning a game from High Point. Winston you are next.

Sport Spots

That girls athletics are now gaining their proper place in the high schools to have games with other teams in the hockey game that G. H. S. played with the Wilmington high school. Until this year a girls hockey team was supposed to have games with other teams in the city; but this year they have changed and the present schedule calls for a trip to Southern Pines and to other places that the football team would have to make but do not have a chance. We are with you girls.

After viewing the races at Charlotte the writer has come to the conclusion that we, the students of G. H. S., should have a racing team and arrange for meets with this city. Any skeeter driver should be eligible.

Mr. Aycock, we are sorry to see your ambitions for developing a team for cross country trail in the dust but we can easily see that student support would be necessary for such an undertaking. Better luck next time.

Mr. Stanley Johnson is looking for men to take part in the intra-mural basketball contests. When this was put before the Boys Athletic Association, it looked as if there would be a large number out but as yet there have been no games played. Boys, get out and help.

Greensboro is to have the new stadium and it will mean a great deal to the school and to the students. With this new place large enough to accommodate the crowds and situated as it is, the city will soon be after the erection of this memorial. It will be a center for all of the important college struggles. And as any loyal citizen truly says "sure Greensboro is progressing."

Greensboro now ranks among the "big four" how about a big one? A class by ourselves, egad m'lud.

The golf team must be having a dull time this week. Where are all of the knickers which were once so noticeable.

DOUBTFUL OUTCOME OF CLASS BASKETBALL

A fortnight ago certain of the faculty were enthusiastically discussing intra-mural basketball. They believed that at last the problem of providing athletics for a large group was successfully solved. No longer would a very small minority of students enter the realm of sports. Now these faculty members speak of basketball in hushed tones and with down cast eyes. Why?

Simply this. Not yet having attained the rank of super beings these worthy gentlemen did as all humans are likely to do. They misjudged. To be exact they found that G. H. S. was not yet ready for athletics on a general scale. Again why? And this time the question is unanswerable. Are there not so much as two score hearty lads out of G. H. S.'s multitude of knowledge seeking youths, who are interested in basketball; or is it that these same culture seeking young men are so intent upon the search that they have no time for outside activities?

How about it fellows? The faculty has provided the courts; the balls and the coaches. All that is lacking is the players. A bare two score athletically inclined youths; yet the other elements are not of much use without them.

GREENSBORO WINS OVER LEAKSVILLE; OUTCOME 19 TO 0

Brings Home the Bacon in the First Game of the Championship.

LEAKSVILLE PLAYS WELL

Greensboro Scores In Every Quarter Except Third—Smith, Shelton and Maus Star.

Thursday afternoon, November 5, at Cone Park, the Purple Whirlwind opened the elimination series for Greensboro High School by defeating Leaksville High School 19 to 0.

The game opened with Greensboro kicking to Leaksville but after a couple of attempts to carry the ball through the line Leaksville returned the kick and from that time on seemed to take a position of defense. Greensboro tried several passes but at no time in the game did she gain very much ground through the air route. Greensboro made numerous fumbles but recovered them with ease. Leaksville played a good game, but the boys from Greensboro were a little bit better on the science of football.

Scores were made by Greensboro in the first, second and fourth quarters. In the first quarter Greensboro carried the ball down to the goal of their opponents by a series of runs by Maus and Smith. Watson carried the ball over the line but Maus failed to make the extra point. Greensboro rushed the ball down under their rivals' goal and started for another touchdown. Here the second quarter's touchdown was made. The third quarter passed without a score but in the fourth quarter Shelton and Smith made four successive first downs and the ball was rushed down to the goal. Maus carried the ball across and scored the extra point.

The work of the Leaksville center (Owens), of Smith, Shelton, and the work that Maus accomplished on his broken field running was worthy of commendation.

Greensboro	Position	Leaksville
Henderson	Left End	Gourley
G. Horney	Tackle	Krantz
Petree	Guard	Osborne
Lipscomb	Center	Owens
J. Watson	Right Guard	Rowe (Capt.)

GIRLS LOSE WAY ON HIKE TO BUFFALO CHURCH

Tuesday, November 3, about twelve girls of the Hiking Club, with Miss Greenwaldt as their leader, set out for Buffalo Presbyterian Church. The group went by the Proximity Cotton Mill and traveled onward until the leader became rather doubtful as to the way. Stopping at some lady's house, they inquired the way to Summit Ave. They found they had gotten on the wrong road and so abandoned the thought of going to Buffalo Church. Upon retracing their steps, going over a bridge, and up a "cinder" roadway, the group found itself at Cone Park. It was a cold and tired group of girls who bade each other farewell at the "parting of the ways" about 5:45 o'clock that afternoon.

FINAL RESULT 46-6

Both Teams Well Represented by Enthusiastic Cheering Section

WINSTON NEXT OPPONENT?

Pointers Scored Only When Coach Fordham Sent in Reserves—Visitors Outplayed.

On Thursday, November 11 at Cone Park, G. H. S. Purple Whirlwind won the second game of the championship race 46 to 6 when they defeated High Point. Greensboro completely outplayed the lads from the furniture city, scoring in every quarter. Greensboro relied only on straight football while High Point gained mostly on their aerial attack.

Greensboro's entire backfield showed up well. The backs gained almost at will. In Maus Greensboro has a dependable quarterback who bids fair to rival Red Grange, with his long runs. At one time Maus ran through the entire High Point team for 50 yards for a touchdown. Captain Watson returned to the game and showed up brilliantly on both offense and defense. Smith, Greensboro's left half, also played a spectacular game. Greensboro's interference showed up better than at any time during the season. Kearns, High Point end, showed up best for the losers. It was he who recovered a Greensboro fumble and ran for High Point's only touchdown.

Coach Fordham ran his reserves into the game after it had been put on ice by the varsity. It was after the reserves had been sent in that High Point scored their only touchdown of the afternoon's fray.

A number of fans accompanied the team from High Point. Both schools were represented by a large cheering section. Due to this victory Greensboro is the winner of the first group of the western championship. Greensboro will probably meet Winston-Salem at Chapel Hill. A hard fought and close game is looked for between these ancient rivals.

MONOGRAM GIRLS CONDUCT PROGRAM

The Girls' Monogram Club conducted the chapel program of the Girls Athletic Association, Thursday, November 4, 1925.

The subject of the talks by the members carried out the word "Sports" as the subject of each talk began with a letter of "sports". Dorothy Lea discussed Scholarship; Hazel Brown, Posture; Mary Tilly, Obedience; Ruth Watson, Ready; Elizabeth Umberger, Training; and Margaret Hood, Sportsmanship.

Mr. J. D. Wilkins, a prominent business man of Greensboro and an old friend of the school, talked on "Sportsmanship". The speaker stated that this subject need not be stressed so much to the players as to the observers. It was sportsmanship in every day life and in dealing with each other that he plead for.

In closing Mr. Wilkins explained the Memorial Stadium idea and told how each student might participate in the drive to secure funds with which to erect it.
