

Greensboro Boys Yield to Gastonia in Semi-Finals

OUTWEIGHED
Long Gains of Gastonia Backs Responsible for Victory.

MAUS GREENSBORO STAR

Purple Whirlwind Plays Good Game, But Lack of Rest During Last Week Tells in the End.

The football season for Greensboro High School for this year is over. This was settled on November 27 when the Greensboro and Gastonia high schools battled to a score of 10-0 in favor of the latter.

When the two teams lined up for the contest it was easy to see that the Gastonia eleven outweighed that of Greensboro. The game started with Greensboro kicking to Gastonia. Gastonia started the ball down the field and ran it up to the 45-yard line but here Greensboro intercepted a pass, and it was Greensboro's ball. Greensboro advanced the ball to the 35-yard line and here attempted a field goal but failed. From this time on the ball was in Gastonia's hands the majority of the time, and Greensboro took the defensive, but the playing of three hard games within seven days told upon the Greensboro team and Gastonia, fresh, not having played a game in the same length of time, had no great difficulty in getting through the Greensboro line. The boys from Greensboro played a remarkable game, but their playing lacked the pep and vim that had taken them so far in the race for the championship of western North Carolina.

Both teams played a clean, hard game and one that kept the large crowd that witnessed the conflict on their toes. The punting of Maus, intercepting of passes and the 12-yard pass of Maus to Wim-bish were the features of the Greensboro eleven while the amazing plunges and gains of Shelton, Frederick and Jackson, all playing a type of high school football that is not usually seen, featured the Gastonia side of the conflict.

TEAM BIDS GRID TOGS FAREWELL

To Some it Meant the End of Their Career—Equipment in Bad Condition.

Along about the last of September approximately 40 strapping young athletes filed out of the new building with brand new football equipment and some of the left-overs that came out of last year's season fit to be of service again. The expressions on the faces of the boys as they trudged out, laughing and joking the while with their companions, was one of determination and aspiration; determination to get out there on the field and work to develop into a smooth-running, hard-working, efficient team, and aspirations that saw a vision of championship series. The equipment, were it endowed with the power to speak and express, would, no doubt, have told a different story. Possibly they surveyed themselves and admired their bright newness and cleanness; then, perhaps their minds turned to less pleasant thoughts. Unlike the boys whom they would adorn, they dreaded the impact on the hard or muddy field and the impact produced when the signals were given to "hit the line."

Monday, November 30, these same 40 strapping young athletes filed into that same Room 10 in the new building, dragging behind them the same—surely not in appearance—equipment that went out in September. The expression on the faces of the boys—what story did it tell? A rather sad story. The end is always sad, somehow. To some of the boys it meant the end of their high school football career, to others the end of this season, to a few less fortunate the last time they would be able to wear the beloved outfit. It is difficult for an outsider to presume to express the innermost feelings of the entire team at this particular time.

Again, speaking of the equipment, it was not able to admire itself for its beauty and newness, perhaps, but it could well be proud of the valiant, clean, hard-fought athletic feats to which it had been a part.

There is still another view of this memorable performance—memorable to those who participated in it and to those who witnessed it. It was the privilege of the HIGH LIFE staff, since the publication room is opposite Room 10, to witness this. Mere mention of the fact that members of the staff considered it a privilege is sufficient proof of their feelings.

129 GIRLS CONFORM TO TRAINING REGULATIONS

One hundred and twenty-nine high school girls have decided to live up to the following regulations of training for three months:

MONROE AND G. H. S. TIE IN TIGHT TUSSLE

Both Teams Exhibit Remarkable Type of Football—Interest Intense to Last Minute of Play.

Friday afternoon Nov. 20th, at Cone Park, the Purple Whirlwind and the warriors from Monroe battled to a 0-0 tie. The game was one in the elimination series and was one of the most hard fought games that has been witnessed at Cone Park between high school elevens.

The game was marked by the star playing of Griffin of Monroe and the broken-field running of Maus of Greensboro. When the game ended, Greensboro was in scoring distance of their opponents goal having brought the ball down the field after an exchange of punts and then thru the use of an aerial attack. Faulkner of Greensboro caught a pretty pass thru center and this was what brought the team to this position.

Both teams played a remarkable type of football for a high school team. The game opened with a rush and at no time in the game did either side let up on their drive.

The game was witnessed by a large number of students from both schools. It was very evident that the band from G. H. S. was also present.

The line-up for the game was as follows:

Monroe	Greensboro
McNully	Henderson
Tucker	Brown
Fowler	Petree
Austin	Lipscomb
McGill	J. Watson
Herson	B. Horney
Howie	Glascok
Griffin	Maus
Morgan	Strader
Holleman	Smith
Stuart	W. Watson

Shelton Stubbins checked the city again last week.

MAUS IS THE STAR

Both the Teams Played Well Throughout the Game.

SCORED IN LAST QUARTER

Large Group of Students from Both Schools Witness Game—Charlotte. Students Cheer for Locals.

Four minutes, not much when you think about it in the regular school day, but that was what it took for G. H. S. to make the three points that gave them the opportunity to play Gastonia for the Western Championship of North Carolina.

The game was played at Charlotte, Tuesday, November 24, to work off the tie as the result of the game between Monroe and Greensboro, played here Friday, November 20.

Both teams played remarkable football. They were about evenly matched although the Monroe line outweighed that of their opponents. Until the last four minutes of play it looked as if there would be another tie game, but Lipscomb of Greensboro intercepted a forward pass in mid-field and Greensboro ran the ball down to the 20-yard line where Maus, Greensboro quarterback, kicked a field goal on the first down.

Greensboro was in easy scoring distance two times in the first half, going down within 10 yards of the goal line only to lose the ball by a fumble. Monroe was not within scoring distance of their goal but once during the entire game. The game was marked by the stellar playing of both teams—Maus, Shelton, Faulkner and the two Watsons for Greensboro, and Snyder for Monroe.

A large group of students from both schools witnessed the conflict; and the members of the Charlotte High School were to be found in the Greensboro section very audibly making their presence known.

The complete line-up was as follows:

Greensboro	Monroe
Henderson	Snyder (C)
Brown	Tucker
Petree	Fowler
Lipscomb	Austin
J. Watson	McGill
B. Horney	Hinson
Glascok	Howie
Maus	Griffin
Smith	Morgan
Faulkner	Hallman
W. Watson (C)	Stuart

Substitutions: Greensboro—Shelton for Faulkner, Quate for Petree, Strader for W. Watson, Faulkner for Strader, Wimbish for Glascok. Monroe—McNeely for Snyder, Capehart for McGill, H. Hinson for McNeely, Boyes for H. Hinson.

There were four high school football games played in the state Friday, November 20, and three of them ended with the score of 0-0. State high schools are evidently learning to play real football. There may be the making of an all-American team in one of these teams. Keep at it!
