

Alumni Notes

Edited by MARGUERITE HARRISON

John Sikes is the cheer-leader at Duke University. Make 'em yell, Johnny.

Margaret Barnhardt likes Duke fine. She writes: "Hello everybody at G.H.S. for me."

Claud McIver says that there is no place like V. M. I.

Nancy Lentz likes Winthrop fine, but she says there's no place like G. H. S.

Esther Shrieve, whom we have missed very much this year, is going to school at Dunn, N. C., where she is now living.

Hobo Griffin has joined the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity at State.

Jimmy Caudle made a flying trip to Greensboro last Friday night. He arrived at 10 p.m. and started back for Duke at 12 midnight. Jimmy is holding down three jobs at Duke, besides taking a pre-med course.

Garnett Gregory has been elected Freshman Representative to the Senate or Student Council at N. C. C. W. This is the highest honor that can be given a Freshman. Congratulations, Garnett!

"Your sins will find you out"—Arthur Davant and Broadus Mason have made the Wake Forest Glee Club.

Four of G. H. S.'s old time stars are headed for the Wake Forest varsity football team next year. They are Vernell Hackney, Meade Connelly, Lacy Wyrick and Arthur Davant.

Our loss is Asheville's gain—Billy Koenig, former G. H. S. athlete, stars at Asheville School for Boys.

F. R. CASPER SPEAKS TO BAPTIST BOYS' CLUB

Mr. F. R. Casper made a very interesting talk at the meeting of the Boys' Club of the First Baptist church, Monday, November 16. Mr. Casper's talk centered around the 36th verse of the fourth chapter of Mark. The speaker told the story of Christ casting the devils out of the swine.

"We see," he declared, "that sin in a hog caused it to commit suicide, yet human beings literally wallow in sin and go on perfectly satisfied. Let us all try to be better Christians and witness for Christ each day. We may not see any definite results at the time, but God sees our efforts."

The meeting Monday, November 23, was arranged in keeping with Thanksgiving. At this time Mr. Casper continued his talk of the previous meeting of the organization. He stated that the soul of the sinner was dead until it came to Christ and believed on him. "Christ makes of a dead sinner," he asserted, "a live and healthy Christian when that soul comes to Him."

A committee of four was appointed by Mr. Casper to distribute cards in hotels. He also reviewed the history of the club from its organization to the present time. This meeting was one of the best of the year and was attended by practically every member.

From the papers we learn that the students of the negro high school of Greensboro threatened to strike in order that they might get new equipment for their school. This might prove a capital suggestion for G. H. S. in their procedure to get the long awaited, promised and wished-for new high school within the portals of which the pupils could better follow in the footsteps of the learned. Wonder what the school board would say if the pupils of this institution would deliver an ultimatum to that effect.

student body and publish it in our monthly magazine, The Gazette, which goes out over the entire United States. And then," he concluded, "we will show them what you are doing down here at Greensboro High School."

TROOP 5 ENJOYS 'BEST GIRL' FEAST

Scouts Bring Enough "Grub" for Two and Do the Cooking—Meeting at Reservation.

At 4 o'clock Friday afternoon a goodly number of the Boy Scouts of Troop No. 5 assembled at the First Baptist church, each boy being accompanied by a girl friend. There cars were waiting to convey the boys and girls to the Scout Reservation, some 12 miles from town, where the picnic was to be held. Every boy who took a girl with him had to "tote grub" enough for both of them and every fellow had to cook the supper for his companion as well as for himself.

After the group arrived at the reservation Mr. Casper led the way in a general inspection of the scout grounds.

Next the suppers were cooked, or at least attempts were made in that line amid much laughter and merriment. Some food was burned a little, but it was evidently enjoyed for very little was left. Then when all remains of the feast had been cleaned up, Mr. Casper's whistle called everyone to the pavilion where a general scout meeting was held and two cups were awarded, one to Harry Murray for winning the greatest number of points in the individual contest, and the other to the Bear Patrol. Several games were played and some jokes were told.

The gathering was dismissed after a sentence prayer and all started home about nine-thirty, tired but happy. The road was rough and bumpy but everyone arrived home safely.

"OUR OPPORTUNITY" IS AYCOCK'S SUBJECT

Kiltie Klub Enjoys Mr. Aycock's Talk—"We Don't See Far Enough Ahead," Speaker Asserts.

Mr. W. R. Wunsch read the last acts of the play "Fingers" at the meeting of the Kiltie Klub of the First Presbyterian church, Wednesday, November 18. There were thirty boys present at this meeting. Over half of the number was present fifteen minutes before the regular time that they might practice songs for the Christmas program under the supervision of Miss Evelyn Barnes. After the assembly was dismissed the membership committee met to decide upon the admittance of several new members.

Mr. F. B. Aycock, Jr., a member of the High School faculty, made a splendid talk on "Opportunity" at the club, Wednesday, November 25.

"We all don't take advantage of our opportunities," he declared, "but make short cuts to happiness which eventually harm us." The speaker gave some of the many advantages of education.

"We don't see far enough ahead," he continued. "We don't think of the consequences. A man who doesn't take advantage of all opportunities that High School offers will regret it when he goes to college."

There were four new members present at this meeting.

APPRECIATION TO CHARLOTTE

We are very much indebted to Charlotte High School for the excellent support they extended to G. H. S. at the Monroe game. The enthusiasm displayed by Charlotte High School cheer-leaders and the Charlotte folks, whose hearts were evidently out there on the field with the Purple Whirlwind eleven, is the sort that Greensboro High School would like to boast of as manifested at all her athletic encounters. Our boys won that game fair and square, but to you, Charlotte, is due some credit for your part in the victory. We extend to you our heartfelt appreciation and thanks for the service rendered us. If ever the opportunity presents itself for G. H. S. to reciprocate, the Purple and Gold supporters will be right there.

Anybody who still hasn't heard "Freshie"? Wonder how some of these little fellows would feel if the Sophomores should put it to them that hard?

HI-Y ENTERTAINS MONROE GRIDDERS

Business Continued to Next Meeting to Allow Footballers Ample Rest.

Thursday night, Nov. 19, the Hi-Y club held its regular weekly supper at the Y. M. C. A. about 25 members of the club were present.

Members of the Monroe football squad were guests of the club at supper. No regular program was presented, and all business was continued to the next meeting, since most of the members had to retire early in order to be in shape for the Greensboro-Monroe game the next day.

"THANKSGIVING" IS THEME OF PROGRAM

Carlton Wilder, Mr. Gildersleeve, Eugenia Isler, Orden Goode and Sarah Mendenhall Aid in Entertainment.

The main building students enjoyed a Thanksgiving Program Monday, Nov. 23. Nell Thurman presided over the assembly and the program was opened with the hymn "My Country 'Tis of Thee."

Carlton Wilder related the origin of Thanksgiving and reminded the students of the spirit of Thanksgiving. Mr. Gildersleeve sang "Peace and Plenty," and Eugenia Isler gave the reading "Jericco Bob." The Thanksgiving Proclamations of Lincoln and Coolidge were read by Orden Goode. Kipling's "Recessional" was sung by Mr. Gildersleeve and Sarah Mendenhall completed the program with the reading, "The Boy and his Stomach," by Edgar A. Guest.

At the beginning of the period, Mr. Phillips made some announcements about the Monroe-Greensboro game.

EXIT FOOTBALL

Football has made its exit from G. H. S. for this year, but before we have forgotten about it several things should be mentioned. Gastonia High defeated Greensboro, but when Greensboro played Gastonia they were the nearest to the Western Championship of any team in the history of Greensboro High with the exception of the team of '21, which did as the team this year did. They also came with two games of the state title.

Much credit is due to the two coaches, Coletrane and Fordham. This is the first experience that they have had along this line and they took a team of green material and started off the season with what looked to be only a fair team and one that was not considered by anyone as having a chance at the championship. But when the first game of the series started Greensboro went away with a rush, and then showed that they had developed from a weak team into a strong and fighting one. Another thing that this team accomplished was defeating High Point with a large score. This was the first time in two years that Greensboro has defeated High Point.

J. Norman Stone is no longer a student at this institution, and we are just wondering who is the president of the Boys' Athletic Association? Has anyone heard?

Be sure you are right, then go ahead. —Crockett.

THE CAST IS CHOSEN FOR CHARM SCHOOL

Practices Are Held Every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in Basement of New Barn.

The complete cast has been chosen for "The Charm School," to be given by Mr. Wunsch's Dramatic class some time the latter part of December.

"The Charm School" is a fascinating comedy by Alice Miller and Robert Milton. It relates the adventures of a boy, who, having inherited a girl's college from an old maid aunt, determines to manage it himself on the principle of "Charm." It has the freshness of youth and affords wholesome and pleasant entertainment. "The Charm School" made its first appearance at the Bijou Theatre, New York, and then toured the country.

The practices for "The Charm School" are held every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in the basement of the New Barn. The complete cast follows:

Austin Bevans, a young boy who is managing the Girls' College on the basis that a girl should be educated to be charming—"Bunny" Wimbish; David McKinsey, a law student—Finley Atkinson; George Boyd, an expert accountant—Phil Shelton; Jim Simpkins—Vernon Patterson; Homer Johns, guardian of Elise—"Pug" Solomon; Tim Simpkins—Bob Caviness; Elise Bendotti, president of senior class, Louise McCulloch; Miss Hays, president of Girls' College—Mary J. Wharton; Miss Curtis—Sarah Mendenhall; Sally Boyd—Margaret High; Muriel—Matilda Robinson; Ethel—Glenn Boyd MacLeod; Alex—Myra Wilkinson; Lillian—Ruth Abbott; Madge—Cynthia Vaughan.

STUDENTS TOLD TO PLAN SPRING WORK

Miss Mitchell Points Out That by Deciding the Courses Early Much Confusion Can Be Avoided.

At a recent interview, Miss Fannie Starr Mitchell, dean of girls, gave out the following suggestions:

"Every pupil should plan his or her course of study for the spring term as soon as possible so as to avoid the confusion and congestion which always follows mid-term exams." Miss Mitchell suggests that the parents be consulted as to the future they have planned for their children, and that particular care be taken in the choice of languages. "All credit has been given on Junior High School work," she stated.

"In about two or three weeks schedule cards will be issued and I will help each student individually in his choice of subjects and all credits will be straightened up," concluded Miss Mitchell.

DR. GOVE ADDRESSES GIRLS FORUM ON HEALTH

Dr. Anna M. Gove, director of health at N. C. C. W., addressed the girls' forum in chapel Thursday, Nov. 19. "My job," "is not to doctor the girls when they are sick, but to keep them well."

She stressed good posture as essential to a good, normal, healthy girl, and advocated several five-minute rest periods during the day if it could possibly be managed. Here at school five minutes of the lunch period might be devoted to rest. Dr. Gove was delighted with the interest shown in training here and particularly with the statistics taken a few years ago showing the health and attendance of the girls in training as compared with those who are not. She gave ten rules, the observance of which would keep any girl healthy, happy and consequently wealthy.

Y. M. C. A. Drive Is Postponed to October

On the second floor will be the gymnasium with a gallery extending into the third floor; a number of class rooms as well as dormitory space will be on the second and third floors. The rest of the building will be devoted to living quarters for young men.

EXCHANGES

Edited by ELIZABETH ROCKWELL

Cumtux, Bolton High School, Alexandria, Louisiana. Your advertising manager has certainly done a beautiful piece of work on your ads. They are neat and very well arranged. Your editorials are excellent but too few. We are glad to note so much interest evinced in your school publication. Cumtux is full of real, live news.

The Needle, Atlantic High School, Atlantic, Iowa.

THEY'LL ACCEPT ALL OF THOSE
Ed Kuhl: I wrote something the other day that I'll bet The Needle will accept.

E. Kleuver: What was that?
Ed. Kuhl: A check.

The appearance of your paper suggests that the students write other things than checks that The Needle will accept. Your "Needle Yarns" are very clever.

Paper O' Pep, Waterloo High School, Waterloo, Wisconsin. "Waterloo Business Directory" is extremely clever and attractive. If your publication is representative of your High School, then you must be a "School O' Pep." Though small, your staff is certainly efficient.

Sky High, Asheville, High School, Asheville, N. C. You are to be congratulated on two things. First, and foremost, that you have as your friend and supervisor Mr. Lee H. Edwards; last that your paper has such splendid support that you do not have any ads. Your paper abounds in real, live news, which suggests that you rave a real, live student body.

Mount Airy High Spots, Mount Airy High School, Mount Airy, N. C. You take particular care in the headlines of your paper to let folks know where you hail from, but we don't blame you at all. You certainly have a publication of which any High School might well be proud. It is attractively arranged and full of news. The advice contained in the box at the head of the joke column is particularly clever.

The Echo, Salisbury High School, Salisbury, N. C. It makes us "sort of" homesick; but then, it's like old times, to be quoting "G. B."

"I certainly believe that the newspaper is the best kind of school publication," replied Guy B. Phillips, superintendent of the Salisbury public schools, when the question was put to him a few days ago.

In support of his statement he pointed out that it is the most representative of any school publication in that it offers chances to the students of getting their work in print far beyond the opportunities presented by a magazine or other purely literary journal.

The Optimist, Atchison High School, Atchison, Kansas. We like your name; it has such a cheerful ring. Your humorous column especially is very good. We venture to suggest that you keep your ads. off the editorial page, however. They detract as much from its dignity.

The Connecting Link, Kinston High School, Kinston, N. C. You have a very promising little sheet. It would be a better plan, we think, to confine your front page exclusively to news items. Literary material, comment, etc., should always be kept for the other pages.

The Review, Streator Township High School, Streator, Illinois. We read your paper with interest. Your front page is nicely balanced; the news it contains is "front-page news", the most important items of interest; and the articles are well-written. We didn't like your other pages so well. Too many ads. detract from the force of a paper. We wish you had more editorials; those you had were good.

The Hi Rocket, Durham High School, Durham, N. C. You have a nicely balanced front page. We like your editorials. We were especially attracted by your "Who's Who" column; the idea is original and attractive. Your paper is one of the best that we have reviewed.
