

EXCHANGES
Edited by ELIZABETH ROCKWELL

The Pinnacle, Princeton, W. Va.
Your news articles are good. The paper as a whole would be very good if there were more editorials and fewer advertisements.

The Guilfordian, Guilford College, N. C.
Your editorial on Loyalty was fine. It should impress all those who read it.

The Bracket Ach, Roanoke College, Salem, Va.

All your editorials were interesting, but the paper as a whole is not very well arranged.

The Technician, State College, Raleigh, N. C.

The Technician is interesting and contains news, but the advertisements are not well placed.

The Bruin, New Bern, N. C.

Your paper is very original, but it would be more interesting if there were fewer stories and more news articles.

The Cumtux, Bolton High School, Alexandria, La.

Your front page is not balanced. We also suggest that you arrange your ads in a more uniform manner. They show that you have the support of the city. Your few editorials are very good.

The Hi-Rocket, Durham High School, Durham, N. C.

At a glance, your paper seems to be out more for money than for news. You surely have a supply of ads.

Kirley-Smith Echo, Jacksonville, Fla.

You seem to be doing fine, especially in sports. Keep that good work up.

The Davidsonian, Davidson College, N. C.

Fine paper, but you need more news.

The Needle, Atlantic, Iowa.

Your paper is very original, but there are too many advertisements.

The Tar Pepper, Tarboro, N. C.

The article in your paper on Spring Fever was very interesting.

TRIANGULAR DEBATE IS REHEARSED IN CHAPEL

On March 29 and 30, the first speeches of the triangular debate, scheduled for April 2, were rehearsed in chapel. The query for discussion was: "Resolved—That North Carolina should levy a property tax to aid in the support of an eight-months school term." The affirmative speakers were Harry Gump and Henry Biggs, and the negative speakers were Edgar Kuykendall and John Mebane. Both sides were ably upheld.

George Newman, who was an entry in the declamation contest, gave his declamation entitled "The Flag," by Henry Ward Beecher. Caskie Norvell, also an entry, gave his declamation, "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," by Robert W. Service.

MOTHER-DAUGHTER BANQUET IS HELD

(Continued from page one)

Stainback broadcasted "O Little Mother of Mine" from station S. O. L. O. Speaking for the teachers, W. R. Wunsch broadcasting from station H. W., Head Waiter, gave an original poem. Yellow and Green the prevailing colors of spring were used in decorating the cafeteria. The flowers used were daffodils, and the colore scheme was further carried out in the program, booklets, and dainty mint cups, made by members of the Girls' Council. Representatives of the Girl Scout Troop number 3, of G. H. S. assisted in decorating the dining room, and a group of teachers served the four course dinner prepared under the direction of Mrs. A. F. Comer. Music was furnished by A. T. Rowe's orchestra. One hundred and fourteen people were present and among the guests were several mothers who were the proud possessors of two daughters of high school age.

The more haste, ever the worst speed.
—Churchill.

H. R. BUSH SPEAKS TO GIRL SCOUTS

"The Destructiveness of Fire and Its Prevention" Is Subject of Local Insurance Man.

Wednesday, March 24 at chapel period, Mr. H. R. Bush talked to the G. H. S. girl scouts on "The Destructiveness of Fire and its Prevention." The purpose of the talk was to aid the girls in passing off a second class test as well as to instill into them the danger of fire.

He stated that in the United States in 1924, 15,000 lives were lost and 550 million dollars worth of property was burned. Also, more than 90 per cent of the fires were preventable, and 75 per cent were caused by carelessness.

Of course a person may carry insurance and get money, so that not so very much of his own property is lost, but it is a loss to the whole country. All of the 550 million dollars spent on buildings and homes burned could have been spent on schools, churches, or hospitals.

In the United States in 1924, a dwelling house fire was started every four minutes and five schools and five churches burned every day.

To prevent this large number of fires, Mr. Bush advocated that every one be careful with electrical appliances, safety matches, should not use shingle roofs and cigarettes (Mr. Bush explained that he knew there was no need to say anything about cigarettes to those girls), and especially every one should be careful with gasoline, as enough gas could evaporate from cleaning a pair of gloves to blow up a building. He also emphasized the importance of having automatic sprinklers in public buildings.

HI-Y CLUB NO. 2 MEETS AND ELECTS OFFICERS

Kennett Blair Is Made President—Herbert Johnson Unanimously Chosen As Leader.

Tuesday, March 23, at the Y. M. C. A., a group of boys met to organize Hi-Y Club No. 2. Twelve boys who were elected as charter members were present, together with the members of Hi-Y No. 1. After hearing a very fine talk by Mr. W. F. Stephens, the manager of the Stephens evangelistic campaign, the new boys met with Mr. Yost to organize. Officers were elected as follows: president, Kennett Blair; vice-president, Beverley Moore; secretary-treasurer, Bob Caveness. The boys unanimously elected Mr. Herbert Johnson, of the G. H. S. faculty, leader.

Those present at the meeting were Kennett Blair, Beverley Moore, Bob Caveness, Ed Davant, Tom Glascock, Clarence Phoenix, Emil Hodge, Jack Coble, Asbury Craven, Dick Burroughs, Le Grande Johnson, and Albert Thompson.

TEACHERS MEETING HELD MARCH 27 AT HIGH SCHOOL

A teachers' meeting was held Saturday morning, March 27, at the High School. Mr. H. P. Marley spoke to the teachers about the Community Chest Campaign. The theme of his talk was that the school and the Chest should work together cooperatively. The work of the Community Chest is to produce greater efficiency in both the city and the school.

The remainder of the meeting was taken up with business matters. Mr. Archer presided.

G. H. S. DEBATERS WIN IN H. P. BUT LOSE AT HOME

(Continued from page one)

both teams upon the splendid manner in which they presented their arguments. By defeating High Point's negative team, Winston completed the first lap toward the Aycock Memorial cup offered each year by the University of North Carolina. The judges for the Greensboro debate were: B. T. Ward, M. H. Newlin, Jr., and Robert Moseley.

Keep up your good work, Freshmen, the caps and gowns are waiting.

ROTARY CLUB GIVE LUNCH HONORING ALL G. H. S. EDITORS

Miss Coleman Makes Talk on High Life and Convention, Then Introduces Speakers.

STUDENTS TELL OF TRIP

Issues of Homespun and High Life Given Rotarians—Exhibit of Clippings Placed in Reception Room.

Tuesday, March 23, the Greensboro Rotary Club had as their guests for luncheon members of the HIGH LIFE and Homespun staffs. The associate editors, business managers of both staffs, and those who attended the press convention were present.

After the lunch, Miss Coleman introduced the speakers and gave a brief account of the history of HIGH LIFE, and of the convention. Glenn Holder, editor-in-chief of HIGH LIFE, told of the different advertisements on the truck and mentioned several Rotarians who had advertised in this manner. "The truck expects to go again next year, and I believe it would pay you Rotarians to advertise on it," he said.

The remaining editors spoke on what impressed them most in New York. John Mebane told of the trip to Chinatown. "The only disappointment I had during my trip is that none in our party were killed or clubbed on the head," he said.

James Clements told several amusing incidents in the trip to New York. Ernest Williams, the circulation manager, reviewed some of the shows the delegates saw. He was introduced as the boy who went to see "Artists and Models." Nell Thurman recalled some of the incidents that proved how mercenary the boys were. Paul Wimbish seemed most impressed with the hurry and rush of everything in the big city.

Complimentary issues of Homespun and HIGH LIFE were given each Rotarian. An exhibit of news clippings and The Spectator, which was published by the winning editors, were placed in the reception room.

THREE SCHOLARSHIPS OFFERED BY BRENAU

Manuscripts of Original Musical Composition, Short Story, or Drama Must Be Submitted by May 15.

Three scholarships, each of the value of $1,000—$250 a year for each of the four years—will be awarded by Brenau College-Conservatory, to the high school girl who submits the best original musical composition in any form, best organized short story, and best original drama or playlet.

Manuscripts must be submitted on or before May 15, accompanied by a testimonial from the principal of the high school to the effect that the contestant is in good scholastic standing, of good character, and capable of having written the production submitted.

Brenau offers standard courses, A.B., B.M., School of Oratory B.O., in public speaking, dramatic reading and acting. A certificate course is offered for work in physical education and Home Economics.

Manuscripts must be addressed: "Contest Committee, Brenau College, Gainesville, Ga."

M. O. SMITH PRESENTS PAGEANT AT CHURCH

On March 27 a beautiful pageant was given at the First Presbyterian church under the direction of Mr. M. O. Smith, who is Professor of Fine Arts and Religion at Boston University. The pageant showed the different ways in which the nations and peoples worship their gods. The Mohammedan, the Hindu, the Indian, the Hebrew, and the Christian religions were represented there. About 100 young people of the city were in the cast. Mr. Smith had been holding a religious conference at the First Presbyterian church and the pageant was the concluding number in the conference.

NUMBER OF HONOR STUDENTS GROWS

Notable Increase Shows That "Spring Fever" Epidemic Has Left School Since February.

Last month the number of Honor Roll students fell far below what it has been this year. However, the notable increase in the number for the month of March indicates that the "spring fever" epidemic has left Greensboro High School without any serious casualties.

The following are the honor students for the month of March:

John Thornton, P. B. Whittington, Elizabeth Campbell, Margaret Ferguson, Frances Johnson, Glenn B. McLeod, Marguerite Mason, Elizabeth Rockwell, Hilda Smith, Annie Yount, Margaret G. Stockton, Kate Stewart, Margaret Hood, James Tidwell, Gladys Bowman. Haywood Gathings, Pauline Medearis, Beverley Moore, Bernice Apple, Betty Brown, Mary L. Carlson, Jane Harris, Mary E. King, Sarah Mendenhall, Cynthia Vaughn, Mary Jane Wharton, Mildred Knight, Mary Lyon Leak, Helen Shuford, Hazel Harrington, Louise Cheek, Frances Sink, Ruth Lewis, Ruby Elliott, Katherine Moser, Lucy Crocker, Leiotte Hall, Fred Byers, Minerva Waynick, Florence Womble, Myrtle Steadman, David Stern, Jack Wimbish, Ella Mae Barbour, Lorena Caffey, Edward Michaels, Plumber Nicholson, William Spradlin, Earl Harlee, Elizabeth Bray Alia Ross, Carter Williams, Harold Cone, Carl Jones, Henry Weiland, Elizabeth Boyst, Nancy Hay, Dixon Thacker, Dorothy Donnell, Sarah Ferguson, Margaret Hackney, Eugenia Isler, Sadie Sharp, Margaret Sockwell, Russell Whittemore, Margaret Britton, Doris Hogan, Melisse Mullen, Katherine Nowell, Mary Henri Robinson, Betty Walker Turner, Frances Webb, Marian Curtis, Eleanor Pendergrass, Marian Groghan, John Nau, Margaret Kendrick, Ruth Long, Mary Quill Omohundro, Lizzie Adams Powers, Mary Bailey Williams, Sarah Parham, Margaret Parham, Clyde Norcum, Rebekah Lowe, Daphne Hunt, Annie Cagle, Josephine Lyles.

CASKIE NORVELL WINS DECLAMATION CONTEST

Shelton Dry Takes Second Place and Goes to Guilford—George Newman Wins Third Place.

Caskie Norvell was awarded first place in the preliminary declamation contest held in the high school auditorium Wednesday, March 24. Shelton Dry took second place and George Newman third. Norvell went to Wake Forest April 2 to compete in the finals. Dry will go to Guilford, April 10.

Five students entered the preliminary contest. They were George Newman, subject, "The American Flag"; Shelton Dry, "Toussiant L'ouverture," by Wendell Phillips; George McSwain, "The Mission of America"; Caskie Norvell, "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," and J. D. McNairy, Jr., "The Man With the Hoe."

W. M. York, Herbert Falk, and J. A. Farthing acted as judges. All the declaimers won compliments on the splendid delivery of their speeches.

GIRL SCOUTS AID IN BANQUET PREPARATION

A committee of girls selected from the scout patrol of G. H. S. assisted Miss Blackmon Friday afternoon, April 2, in the decorating of the cafeteria for the debaters' banquet. These girls picked violets and secured jonquils for the Greensboro team, and made streamers of gold and black for the Winston-Salem colors. They also set the table, which were formed in a triangle.

The committee consisted of Lorraine Revels, Kate Harrison, Annette Donovan, Louise Hunter, Doris Hogan, Marian Curtis, Caroline Bragg, Lizzie Adams Powers, Louise E. Harrison, Jewel Rainey, Mary B. Williams, Eugenia Isler, Katherine Nowell, Margaret Britton, Melisse Mullens, Emma Griffin, Mary Henri Robinson, Margaret Betts, Nancy Clements, and Mary L. Causey.

Alumni Notes

Edited by MARGUERITE HARRISON

Dick and "Dizzy" Irving visited in Greensboro during the Easter holidays.

Virginia Fields spent a few days in our city about ten days ago.

Louise Houze, of Roanoke, Va., spent a few days last week with her sister, Mrs. Harry Redman, on Woodlawn avenue.

Martha Broadhurst, of Agnes Scott College, spent the spring holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Broadhurst, at their home in Irving Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Todd will make their home in Durham, where Millard will be connected with the Durham Herald.

Fred Burroughs motored up in a skooter for a week-end about ten days ago.

The cafeteria had as its guests last Thursday Betty Harrison and Elizabeth Hodgkin.

Liz Darling spent her spring holidays at her home on Fisher avenue.

Zeke Wilson persuaded the V. P. I. authorities to give him a furlough for a few days. He and "Studie" were seen checking the main about ten days ago.

Wilbur Hodgkin happened to drop in to Miss Coleman's fourth period French class, and she, as she usually does everybody who comes in contact with her, put him to work. She handed him a Char-denal, and he made a very efficient teacher.

Thomas Shaw attended the triangular debate here Friday, April 2.

The halls were frequented by G. H. S. alumni who were home for the Easter holidays, among them being Randall Martin, James Caudle, Frank Goodwin, Jimmie Williams, and Johnnie Ford.

"CREATIVE YOUTH"

Creative Youth is one of the many books which have recently been added to our school library. It was written by Hughes Mears, an English prose writer. Creative Youth is worth while in every way, you will profit by reading it. In this book Mears shows how he succeeded—teaching groups of London children spontaneity and originality in conduct as well as in composition.

"Take it out and read it today," is Mrs. Orr's challenge.

DEBATING CLUB GIVES BANQUET ON APRIL 2

(Continued from page one)

think. The next number on the program was "Nothing to Nobody", but the toastmaster explained that it was a mistake and he thought it should be "Something for Everybody". The menu consisted of fruit cocktail, creamed chicken on toas, buttered peas, mashed potatoes, cheese carrots, buttered rools, G. H. S. salad and crackers, ice cream and cakes, and coffee.

The girls of Winston were toasted by George Stone, and "Unknown", a toast to the decision, was given by Beverley Moore. Glenn Holder explained in his toast "Little Kicks", that he understood the guests were supposed to get a little kick out of his talk and he wanted everybody to know that he, personally, was getting a great big kick out of it.

Mr. E. D. Broadhurst spoke on "Personality". "You may have worlds of brains, but you must have worlds of sincerity, worlds of character, and worlds of personality if you win," said the speaker.

Louis Brook's toast was on "Applesauce" and the concluding number was Miss Grogan's "Rebuttal". The farewell was a request that everyone attend the debate.

Get out your umbrellas, folks, April's here.

Caskie survived the withering stares of the Wake Forest gang. We knew he could do it.