

ALUMNI NEWS

Hal Caudle, a former student of G. H. S., is in active service on a Florida coast guard rum runner. During his service of one year in the coast guards he has received two promotions. Caudle is now third officer on a government boat. He is planning to enter Annapolis eventually.

Hal is the brother of Jimmie Caudle, who was graduated from G. H. S. in 1925 and is now studying medicine at Duke University.

Among the sea experiences that Caudle has figured in are three battles with rum runners. "The reddest battle of all," according to the Greensboro Daily Record, "was staged off the Florida coast on Monday, September 12." Tommy Alderman, rum runner, terrorized a coast guard patrol boat when he held the whole crew at the point of his gun. After killing two of the crew and knocking several unconscious, with his engineer and assistant master, Robert Weech, he attempted to fire the patrol boat.

When Alderman had been downed by the five men left alive, Caudle tackled Weech and with the help of Robinson knocked him in the head and rolled him overboard. Then Weech was pulled on deck and with Alderman was put in irons, Hollingsworth was fished out of the water and Lamby was pulled from the engine room. Help was called in by radio and the CG-2246 was on the scene in 50 minutes. Lamby died three days later. Alderman and Weech now face federal court trials for murder.

Paul Skurlock could not go back to Carolina without checking G. H. S. once more.

Sarah Mendenhall and Evelyn Rives checked around to see us the other day.

Hoyt Pritchett, our Carolina track hero, honored us with a visit last week.

Zeke Wilson, one of our graduates who attended V. P. I., was seen in the halls around here.

It is said by those who saw him that Jimmie Watson's hair is as blond as ever.

Guy Hill could not resist visiting us once or twice.

Ed Mendenhall and Mac Moore have been found on the campus two or three times.

Guess who was rambling around the halls the other afternoon? P. B. Whittington.

Bunny Wimbish came to see Miss Wheeler, but she was not at the appointed place at the appointed time, we hear.

Miriam Block said, "I wish that I had stayed at home." She has registered at N. C. C. W. for this year.

Paul Wimbish said that he would give anything he possessed to be on the HIGH LIFE staff once more for five minutes. Paul returned this fall to give G. H. S. the once over.

BOY SCOUTS TROOP 5 CAMP AT GRAYSTONE

Boy Scout Troop 5, of the First Baptist Church, went with F. R. Casper, their scoutmaster, on an overnight hike, Friday, September 16, to Camp Graystone, the Boy Scout reservation. Mr. Casper is well known as a leader among the boys, and his troop is considered one of the best in town.

"I'm proud of my boys," says Mr. Casper, "and although the work for the year has not been announced, I expect to do great things. I love scouting and think there is nothing like it. Loyalty and co-operation are large factors in the success of a troop."

The Boy Scouts have almost completed a large cabin at Graystone. They have been working on it for about three years. The balcony is large enough for approximately forty-eight boys, and the large room is for games and other activities. The cabin actually cost only about $600, but much work. The boys are very proud of it.

The music classes have increased so much this year that another period has been devoted to them. Sometime this year Mr. Miller plans to give another operetta, "The Mikado," by Gilbert and Sullivan, the composers of "The Pirates of Penzance."

The band and orchestra are working toward a large goal, the trip to the National Music Contest. The two organizations are being formed with an emphasis on instrumentation. Only a certain number of instruments may be used in the contests.
