

ALUMNI NEWS

Sheldon Court,
Cornell University,
Ithaca, N. Y.

Dear Miss Grogan:

I thought I would write and let you know how I'm getting on up here. This is certainly the most wonderful school I ever saw, both in its beauty and in what it has to offer. It is very rough country and there are two tremendous gorges running through the campus. It is also very hilly, and I'm about to wear myself out climbing the hills.

Architecture is proving extremely interesting—and also very hard; especially the Analytical the analytical geometry and descriptive geometry. I have already flunked one prelim in analytics—are you going to say "I told you so" to that?

Our first problem in design is due tomorrow. It is an historical museum to be built for a small town. I have worked every night this week in the drafting room and have succeeded in getting mine done ahead of time—imagine that!

Our first week here was taken up almost entirely with fraternity rushing. I accepted the Phi Delta Theta pledge button and am quite pleased with the house.

Last week-end Cornell played Princeton in football. It was the first Cornell-Princeton game in 20 years and of course created quite a bit of excitement.

This week-end we play Columbia. Then week-end after next we meet Dartmouth at Dartmouth, and Thanksgiving Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Please write and tell me all the latest gossip and news around the school and give my best to Miss Martin, Miss Tillet, Miss Walker, Miss Mitchell and anyone else. You might even announce it in chapel! Oh my, what conceit!!

Sincerely,

JACK COBLE.

Miss Emma Barton spent the week-end here. She also had a visitor from Salem, Miss Diana Wilson.

Four of Greensboro High alumni took part in the game here between Wake Forest and Davidson: Mead Connelly, Fred Burroughs and Vernel Hackney, for Wake Forest, and Charlie Harrison, for Davidson.

At the Greensboro-High Point game many spectators were our own alumni.

Our high school graduates who are attending local colleges are just as good supporters of athletics as our student. They are seen at every game.

Miss Margaret Mendenhall, an old student of Greensboro High School, and Mr. Hubert E. Johnson, mathematics teacher at G. H. S. in 1925, were married Saturday night, October 29, at 8:30 o'clock at the Asheboro Street Friends Church.

THE UNKNOWN ENEMY ATTACKS

Smash! Bang! Crash! Another window-pane was broken. Hallowe'en proved to be window-breaking night at G. H. S. Mr. Phillips reported that twenty-five window-panes were broken; the majority were in the new building. Pieces of shattered glass were found in the yard and in the schoolrooms. Little round holes in the glass that still remained in the windows show that a number of other windows had been the object of their wrath. The army attacked the unknown enemy, was inside the building as it seemed because the attack was made from the outside, throwing stones at the enemy, disregarding the fact that windows were between them and the enemy. We wonder if any of G. H. S. students were in this army! If so, let us put a stop to it.

Soph: "No, a physician."—Exchange.

W. MARKET STREET SCOUTS ELECT NEW OFFICERS FOR TERM

Jewel Rainey New Brownie Leader—Margaret Kernodle Is Troop Scribe

HAVE HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Clyde Norcom is Troop Lieutenant. New Patrol is Formed and Leaders and Seconds Elected.

Scouts of West Market Methodist troop held their weekly meeting Friday night, October 28. The meeting began with practically all the scouts present and on time. Following the ceremony, came the devotional and then the Brownies were dismissed for their meeting.

Several matters of business took up part of the meeting. A new patrol was organized and all the old ones changed. The newly-formed patrols elected their leaders and seconds. Patrol leaders are Elizabeth Leak, Margaret McLean, Evelyn Garrett, and Dot Hanes. These girls will serve for a term of six months.

Having never elected a lieutenant for the troop this was the next matter of business. Clyde Norcom was elected to serve in this office. Then Jewel Rainey was elected Brownie patrol leader. Margaret Kernodle was elected troop scribe and Mary Frances Kernodle was chosen as the new treasurer.

Following this a ghost of unknown origin appeared in the dark hall and summoned all the scouts to follow. Through the dark hall and down several flights of stairs of the church the curious and bewildered children followed into the basement of the church which had been transformed into a regular goblin and ghost den.

NOTED NOVELIST SPEAKS TO N. C. COLLEGE GIRLS

"Some Things We Live Too Fast to See," is Louis Bromfield's Subject

SECOND TALK IN LECTURE COURSE

Louis Bromfield, one of America's most prominent young writers, spoke to a large audience in the N. C. C. auditorium on October 26, in the second number of a lecture course being given at the college. Mr. Bromfield's subject was, "Some Things We Live Too Fast to See."

He contrasted European life with our American life, drawing the conclusion that America was playing a large part in shaping the destiny of the world. America's influence can be seen all over Europe, from commercial things to things pertaining to the arts. Europe is taking more and more interest in what persons in this country are doing.

Object of Program Is to Promote Better Dress and Posture Among Girls

The Girls' Monogram Club is to take charge of chapel this week to reform dress and posture of the students.

The club is made up of twelve girls who have won their "G's." The object of the club is to promote interscholastic sportsmanship; to uphold the ideal of good sportsmanship in the school; to further interest in all sports; and to make girl athletes real girls by encouraging them to be more feminine.

The members of the club are: Carle Lane Brown, president; Lydia Ballance, secretary; Virginia Brown, Margaret Bowles, Marian Curtis, Lella George Cram, Marian Geoghegan, Lillian Hauck, Rachel Lipscomb, Duella Walker, Douglas Long, and Rose Goodwin.

N.C.P.A. TO HOLD CONVENTION IN CHARLOTTE SOON

Edison D. Edison, Dr. Richardson and Dr. Groves to Talk

The annual convention of the North Carolina Congress of Parents and Teachers will be held in Charlotte on November 8th, 9th, and 10th.

Many receptions will be given, which are looked forward to with much interest. On the first day the Charlotte chamber of commerce will entertain the board of managers at a luncheon. Later on, an informal reception will be given them, by the Charlotte council; to this all delegates and out-of-town visitors will be invited.

Among the noted speakers chosen for the event will be Edison D. Edison, Dr. Frank Richardson, and Dr. Ernest R. Groves. Their main topic will be "The Adolescent Boy and Girl." They will approach this topic from a physical, mental and emotional standpoint.

MUSIC CONTEST TO HAVE NEW FEATURE

Chief of the Contest Events to Be Mass Singing and Band Music

USE N. C. C. AUDITORIUM

"The State Music Contest will have many new features, which will be of great interest to the music-loving public," declared Mr. Miller, of the High School faculty. He is training the Glee Club, band, and orchestra.

There will be several new solo events this year and a cup will be offered for each. The solo parts which will be introduced are the flute, clarinet, oboe, bassoon, French horn, baritone, trombone, and the viola.

This year three quartets will appear. Last year's string quartet will also feature again with the Wood-win brass quartet. The latter, which is new to G. H. S., is composed of the clarinet, oboe, English horn, and the bassoon.

"The big feature of the contest," Mr. Miller says, "will be the mass singing. Last year the mass bands were very popular, and with the introduction of the mass singing the contest will increase its popularity."

EXCHANGES

The Cynosure, Fargo, N. D.

Fargo High School is organizing a 14-piece symphony. We hope they'll progress rapidly with it and make a huge success.

The Chiravian, Murfreesboro, N. C.

Your idea of Amateur Night is excellent. As you say, each of us has some talent, and this night discovers hidden talents and gives a chance to the minor talents. Let's see you put it over big this year.

The Pinnacle, Princeton, W. Va.

Your Junior High School is exceedingly ambitious to support three literary societies. It is a good plan to study the lives and works of famous authors in an interesting way.

The Tattler, North Plainfield, N. J.

We are glad to see your paper growing. Keep it up.

The West Port Crier, Kansas City, Mo.

Hope your newly organized French Club will be a success. We have had one in our school for several years.

High School Buzz, Hutchinson, Kansas.

Judging from your paper, we thought you had good school spirit. Too bad your folks won't attend your football games unless they receive some reward.

The Chronicle, Duke University, Durham, N. C.

You certainly did have a well-balanced front page in your issue of October 5.

TORCH LIGHT SOCIETY PRESENTS PROGRAM TO LOWER CLASSES

Scholarship, Leadership, Character, and Service Are Four Ideals of the Society

NELL APPLEWHITE SINGS

Miss Ellen Blackmon Congratulates Honor Roll Students and Urges Them to Continue Their Good Work

The Torch Light Society of the high school gave an interesting chapel program for the freshmen, Monday, October 24. Henry Biggs, president, presided over the meeting, and told of the four ideals of the society: scholarship, leadership, character, and service, and what they stand for. Ruth Lewis told of the symbolism of the torch and why this national honor league was called the Torch Light Society.

Miss Nell Applewhite, accompanied on the piano by Josephine Lyles, sang several songs.

J. D. McNairy gave the meaning of true scholarship. "A man who simply gets good grades is not a scholar," he said, "but the man who has the curiosity to find out the true things of life, and spares no pains in finding them. He must have perseverance, an indomitable spirit, and the ability to do a thing in an original way."

Harry Gump spoke on leadership and the essentials of a true soldier; Ed Kuykendall, on character and the part it plays in a man's life. Helen Shurford gave a talk on service, what one does and how he does it.

The names of the freshmen on the honor roll were read out by Henry Biggs and Miss Ellen Blackmon congratulated the students on their good record, urging them to work hard to obtain the highest honor attributed to high school student membership in the Torch Light Society.

The program was given again on Tuesday, October 25, for the benefit of the sophomores.

DR. TURRENTINE SPEAKS AT TEACHERS MEETING

Mr. Archer Praises High School Paper, Especially Article on T. Wingate Andrews

MISS LUDWIG LEADS THE MUSIC

The teachers of the city school system held their second monthly meeting at the high school, Saturday morning, October 22.

Dr. Samuel B. Turrentine, president of Greensboro College, addressed the teachers, and Miss Ludwig led them in singing several songs.

Mr. Frederick Archer spoke about various school matters and the spirit in schools. In his talk he praised the high school paper, HIGH LIFE, and especially an article published in a recent issue on T. Wingate Andrews' speech at the dedication of the new High Point High School.

MISS CALDWELL OFFERS AWARD FOR NOTE BOOK

One Prize For Best Semester Note Book Submitted From English 5 Classes—Teachers Will Be Judges

Miss Amy Caldwell, English teacher at Greensboro High School, has offered an award in her two English V classes. The student making the best semester notebook will receive a reward at the end of this semester. "Those submitting note books will receive credit, but only one prize will be awarded," declared Miss Caldwell.

The projects will illustrate all the phases of the course covered during the semester. This plan is to increase interest in notebook work. All prize projects must be handed in the week before examinations.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL NEWS

AYCOCK

The new teachers at Aycock were delightfully entertained Tuesday night, October 4, at Pinecroft Inn. About 40 were present. Bridge was played and refreshments served. They will be entertained by the P. T. A. at the Jefferson Club, October 16.

Aycock has decided that they will have a season for each sport. They will have hockey in the fall, gym ball in the winter and basketball in the spring.

Miss Boley, who has been absent because of a broken ankle, is expected back soon.

Miss Sparrow, who has had an appendicitis operation, is recovering rapidly.

Miss Woodruff is recovering from a tonsil operation.

The eighth grades are planning a Book Week surprise.

The Aycock paper, the Aycock-a-Doodle-Do, will have an exchange department soon. They have realized the need of comments from other schools and are working hard on this project.

CALDWELL

Thursday night, October 27, the Elso Art Exhibit was held for the benefit of Caldwell School. At the beginning of the program, Miss Lena Boley, art supervisor of the local public schools, made a talk. Tableaux to represent a few famous paintings were beautifully portrayed by members of the school. Other interesting numbers were violin duets rendered by Mr. Earle Slocum and Miss Imogene Boyle, accompanied by Mrs. Slocum. They played two numbers, "Pale Moonlight" and "Intermezzo." Reproductions of the works of famous artists were displayed.

Caldwell has two new clubs this year, the hiking and dramatic clubs. "They are very popular and a great number have signed up for them," says the principal.

The merit point system has been adopted. They can win small letters at first, and later a star and then a pin.

The game between Caldwell and Aycock, which was played, October 25, ended with a score of 2-1 in favor of Aycock.

The orthophonic victrola, which was partly provided for by the eighth grade last year, has been secured.

Martha Roberts has been appointed chairman of the Bulletin for the eighth grade.

THOSE RED TREES

Mr. Jack Frost, Dyer and Fancy Dressmaker, care of Autumn, Inc. This was the card presented by a tall, lean, shivery fellow one cool morning at G. H. S. "You're welcome to the job," said our principal; "those green ones sure do need changing, anyway."

The next morning as one of the teachers was walking to school she was heard to exclaim, "Yes, that old fellow has come again."

"What fellow?" asked an inquisitive student.

"Jack Frost," the teacher said.

"How do you know?" asked the same student.

"Why, just by the beautiful color of the trees."

ECONOMICS CLASS GOES TO HIGH POINT OCT. 19

The seventh period Economics class went to High Point Wednesday, October 19th, to visit the Tomlinson Furniture Factory.

Under the supervision of Miss Dosier they went through every phase of the factory, from the lumber-yard, through the plant, into the show-rooms and into the office of the owner, Mr. Tomlinson, to whom they were presented.

The trip was a very profitable one, as well as being interesting and enjoyable.

State College is improving. They have eight co-eds for this term, according to the "Technician."
