

WINSTON-SALEM "Y" CAMP OPENS JUNE 11 TO HIGH SCHOOL BOYS

Harry Long to Be in Charge. Assisted Carnes and Edwin Weiner

BOYS ENCAMPMENT LATER

Camp Donated by Robert Hanes of Winston-Salem—Greensboro High Boys Are Invited to Come

Eight cottages, mess halls, and headquarters building, six tennis courts, baseball diamond, a lake of clear water ten acres in size, and many other features to enjoy during the hot summer months go to make up the new Hanes Camp, located near Winston-Salem given to that city by Mr. Robert Hanes. He has in turn offered the high school, Y. M. C. A. and city of Greensboro as a whole the privilege of sharing it during the coming summer.

According to the official House Organ, monthly pamphlet of the local Y. M. C. A., there will be five encampment periods, the first starting June 11 for boys of high school age. Mr. Harry Long, physical director of the Winston-Salem "Y," will be in charge, assisted by such capable health-builders as W. A. Carnes and Edwin Wiener, both of Greensboro.

It is reported that applications are coming in fast. "If you want to spend your vacation in a worth-while way and among healthful surroundings, be sure to see Mr. Carnes in the next few days," says Mr. Wiener.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL NEWS

Caldwell

A special program is planned for the Parent-Teachers meeting on the evening of April 3. The program will include a few selections from the school band and orchestra and the Glee Club. Dr. W. H. Livers will talk on "Relations of Parent to School." A prize of a cake will be given to the class which is best represented.

The grammar school championship games have been discontinued and inter-class contests have been taken up and will continue through May 18.

Caldwell showed up well in the Salvation Army subscription drive, giving $53.28.

The school is keeping up its standard in banking; for $76.64 was banked, making a percentage of 66.

The Euterpe Club conducted the chapel program for Tuesday, March 27. The program was chiefly musical.

McIver

McIver School has divided its school into two sides, the Reds and the Blues. Each room is divided into two sides. The rooms first have contests in various subjects. The side that wins in each room gets one point. After each room has had its contests the whole school combines into the two big sides. Each side has two cheer leaders and some songs. The auditorium is divided according to the colors.

The Broadcaster, the monthly publication, will come out the first of the week, making the second issue.

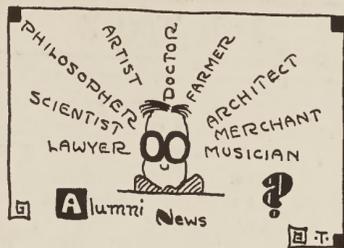

WHAT'S THE RACKET ALL ABOUT? Squeak! Squeak! go the fiddles! Bang! Bang! the drums!

"My ears are just ringing. What on earth is that noise? Don't you hear it? It can't be thunder, 'cause the sky's so clear. Sounds like its coming from the basement of the New Building. What's going on down there the seventh period?"

"Oboe, sound your A—all right, second fiddles. Play A, D, G, and E. You're all flat—try it again."

"Everybody keep quiet while basses tune!"

"Oh, I know! It's G. H. S. Orchestra. They play every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. They're tuning their instruments for a rehearsal."

The whole school welcomed Jimmy Clements, Paul Scurlock, Ed Mendenhall, Ned Lipscomb, Paul Wimbish, "Dizzy" Hargrave, James Tidwell, John Mebane, Bob Stone, Lacy Andrews, and Bill Pemberton, who are home for the spring holidays, and were glad to hear the news that:

Ned Lipscomb is vice-president of the Freshman Class at U. N. C.

John Sikes, '23, is the sport editor of the Durham Herald.

Mary Lynn Carlson made the honor roll at Sweet Briar College. She was a member of the Torchlight Society, editor of HIGH LIFE, and on the Homespun staff.

Beverly Moore is editor-in-chief of the Hi-Y Weekly at U. N. C. He was associate editor of HIGH LIFE, president of the Torchlight society, and on the triangular debating team in '27. Now he is making Phi Beta Kappa grades.

Dorothy Lea, of the mid-year class of '26, is a member of the staff of Goucher College.

Helen Shuford, of the mid-year class of '28, is spending the rest of the winter in Chicago, Ill. She was on the HIGH LIFE and Homespun staffs, a member of the Torchlight Society, and editor-in-chief of the Reflector.

During the elections held at N. C. C. W. on March 20, three Greensboro graduates were elected to offices of importance.

Mary Jane Wharton is the new treasurer of the Student Government Association at the college. Mary Jane was graduated in 1927. She was voted the best all-around senior and awarded the scholarship prize for the highest record during her four high school years.

Garnet Gregory, of the class of '26, was the choice as editor of the Coraddi, the college quarterly magazine, and Edith Neal was chosen as president of the athletic association.

G. H. S. WILL BE SCENE OF LOCAL SUMMER SCHOOL

School to Open June 11—Closes About July 26—Classes From 8:30 to 12:30

Greensboro High will be the center of the city summer school during June and July. For the past several summers, students who have failed any subject during the regular term of school, are allowed to make up the work. No one is permitted to attend who has not failed work.

The school opens on June 11, and closes about July 26. Students must be at school at 8:30 and have classes until 12:30. About eight or ten teachers will be enrolled in the regular session. The principal has not yet been secured. Last summer, Robert M. Scott, principal of McIver, was principal of the summer session.

DO YOU KNOW—?

Will Rogers says that North Carolina has made the most progress within the last four years of any state in the union. "North Carolina just looked like it popped up overnight. They've got everything," says Mr. Rogers.

A copy of the Charlotte Observer was recently received by the history department of Greensboro High.

From bankruptcy and poverty in 1877 North Carolina has emerged to abounding prosperity in 1928. Fifty years ago North Carolina was penniless, and her outstanding business was "tar, pitch and turpentine." New England dominated in the textile manufacturing, and North Carolina was hardly recognized. This condition no longer exists, however, for today she has more

MRS. NELLIE T. ROSS SPEAKS ON POLITICS HERE AT OPEN FORUM

Held in King Cotton Ballroom on Thursday Night, March 22

VERY LARGE AUDIENCE

Made a Rather Rambling Speech—Very Spirited and Unrestrained—Answers Questions Following Speech

Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, a former governor of Wyoming, spoke at the open forum held at the King Cotton ball-room, Thursday night, March 22. One of the largest of the open forum's audiences came out to see and hear Mrs. Ross. The audience showed its appreciation of her charming personality and ability by submitting her to a very unrestrained and spirited cross-examination.

Mrs. Ross made a rather rambling speech, telling of her own experiences. She told of how she was elected governor, what she did, and how she was defeated. She urged the women to rally to the ballot boxes and legislative halls to stop the corruption in high places; she closed her speech with an appeal for world peace and the return to higher ideals in government.

Mrs. Ross proved to be no strange Amazon who had invaded the haunts of man. She showed her femininity on several occasions when she explained how she had been defeated at re-election. It resembled the discussion of a bridge hand and brought forth her feminine side.

Although Mrs. Ross is definitely identified as a Democratic leader, she avoided the use of the first person and spoke of the Republicans as the opposing party. She furthermore declared that the nomination of Al Smith would not break the solid South.

FRENCH CONTEST IS HELD AT HIGH SCHOOL

Contest Sponsored by University of North Carolina—Miss Estelle Mitchell Gives Exam to 50 Students

The annual French contest was held Friday, March 16, in Miss Estelle Mitchell's room. This contest is sponsored by the University of North Carolina, and all the high schools of the state are eligible to enter.

The examination was given by Miss Mitchell to all students who wished to enter the contest, if they were in their second year of French. Fifty students entered, out of which the three best papers were selected by a committee of French teachers and sent to Chapel Hill. The three best papers were written by Carlton Wilder, Thelma Caldwell, and Lenorah Lineberry.

The head of the French department at University of N. C. selects the best paper from the whole lot and a trophy cup is given to the winner. Honorable mention is awarded the next best papers.

One hundred and twenty schools entered this year. This is Greensboro High's first time.

H. A. Helms Pleased With Greensboro Hi Hospitality

SPLENDID SPIRIT

"Education Is Not Preparation for Life, But Life Itself"

R. M. SCOTT ALSO PLEASSED

Meeting Held at Greensboro High School March 17—Various Instances of Hospitality Are Mentioned

"The hospitality of Greensboro High School is noteworthy," said H. A. Helms, principal of Pomona School, at the general teachers' meeting, Saturday morning, March 17, at Greensboro High School. He also said that the school showed a splendid spirit. "The cafeteria gives a square meal and also looks after the students' health," said Mr. Helms. He praised the high school publications and commented on their rating, and thought they were worthy projects for the school.

Mr. Helms was one of the three principals who gave their opinions in the work seen in the schools they visited last week. Robert M. Scott, principal of McIver School, said there were many things to inspire loyalty and co-operation in the high school, especially creative work in booklets, posters, newspaper work, poems, etc. The speaker said that self-control, and self reliance were being instilled into the students to a good advantage.

"Education is not preparation for life, but life itself," quoted E. T. McSwain, principal of David Caldwell. He said that education enabled a pupil to live at present rather than in the past or future. Mr. McSwain said that the teacher set an example for the pupil by the arrangement of the room, her writing, and the use being made of library books.

A string quartet was rendered by members of Miss Imogene Boyle's music classes.

Mr. Frederick Archer made several important announcements; and Mr. Woodcock, pastor of the Forest Avenue Baptist Church, led the devotional.

SEMESTER VII ELECTS REFLECTOR MANAGER

Lizzie Adams Powers Is Elected to Succeed George McSwain in Capacity of Manager

TIM McLEAN CHOSEN ASSISTANT

Semester VII of Greensboro High School had a meeting Wednesday, March 21, for the purpose of electing a new manager for the 1929 mid-year Reflector. Several weeks ago the editor-in-chief, assistant editor, business manager, and assistant business manager were elected. John Foster was chosen as the editor-in-chief, with Emma Griffin as his assistant. George McSwain was elected the business manager, and Lizzie Adams Powers was chosen to assist him.

George gave in his resignation a week after because he is going off to school. Lizzie Adams was promoted to the position of business manager, and Tim McLean was elected to assist her.

WHAT A BOTHER!

"Oh, I don't know what to say to mine!"

"What could you say to a name like that?"

"Whoopee, girls, I've finished mine!"

Such was the three-fold cry that floated out of the window of Miss Mitchell's room, where French students were earnestly endeavoring to write to their new correspondents. It appears that when they agreed to write to French students they thought the first letters would come from France. But such is not the case—"the worm is furred." Writing a letter to a perfect stranger isn't as funny as it sounds; but, oh, well—they say the first five letters are the hardest.

Session Room Officers

- | Main Building | |
|---------------|-----------------|
| 102 | George McSwain |
| 103 | Robert Ballard |
| 106 | Clyde Andrews |
| 107 | Romeo Lefort |
| 201 | Charles Rives |
| 202 | Irvin Stone |
| 203 | Elizabeth Boyst |
| 206 | Fred Byers |
| 208 | Melisse Mullens |
| 204 | Evelyn Glascock |

- | New Building | |
|--------------|--------------------|
| 1 | Henry Betts |
| 2 | Hugh Harwell |
| 3 | Guy Hope |
| 4 | Charlie Shoffner |
| 5 | Edna Lewis |
| 6 | Sarah Burton Clegg |
| 7 | Grace Curtis |
| 8 | Catherine Jenkins |
| 9 | Araminta Gaat |
| 11 | S. R. Shoak |
| 12 | Glenn Goodwin |
| 13 | John Gwiter |
| 14 | Rigdon Dees |
| 15 | Charles Hagan |

- | Barns | |
|-------|--------------------|
| A-2 | Mary Long Benbow |
| B-1 | Martha Nell Carson |
| B-2 | Louise Park |
| B-3 | Lucille McClung |
| B-4 | Doranne Hodgkin |
| B-5 | Howard Thornlow |
| B-6 | Karl Kregloe |
| B-7 | Ruth Harris |
| B-8 | Clay Moser |
| B-9 | Otto Wells |

SCIENCE DEPT. HAS VARIED COURSE

Outside Projects Add Zest to the Work Which Text Books Fail to Give

MANY EXCURSIONS MADE

The Science department of Greensboro High School affords a course of varied activities for the students. During the past school year, according to the science teachers, more than 25 pupils have made field trips and excursions which have been worth while.

At different times, the gas plant, ice plant, Pomona Terra Cotta plant, Dick's Laundry, Bluebell Overall Factory, the boiler-room of the school, and Pemberton's Dairy have proved of interest to all the science classes.

The entire purpose of these projects is to broaden the conception and knowledge along every scientific line available. The regular textbook does not afford the view of the many phases studied, and so outside projects add zest to the work.

When visiting Pemberton's dairy recently, the students were informed about the process that the milk goes through before it is sold. They were also told about the new caps used for the bottles, and shown how bottles are sterilized.

PARENT-TEACHERS IN LAST MEET OF YEAR

The last regular Parent-Teacher meeting of the season will be held Tuesday night, April 3, at 7:30 o'clock in the high school auditorium. One meeting will follow this, but it is to be a meeting at which officers will be elected. The program for the regular meeting promises to be one of the best of the year. A very prominent speaker has been requested to be present at the meeting, although he has not yet been heard from.

As this meeting is so important, high school students are especially urged to ask their parents to attend.

Mr. Johnson said that all Lillian Tye needs to make the boys' baseball team is a uniform.