

TORCHLIGHT SOCIETY HOLDS CALL MEETING TO DISCUSS FINANCE

Doris Hogan Presents Plans for Rummage and Candy Sales

COMMITTEES APPOINTED

Miss Fannie Starr Mitchell, Dean of Girls, Urges Members to Work Toward Torchlights' Ideals

The Torchlight Society of Greensboro High School met Thursday, April 26, in room 10. This was not the regular monthly meeting but a called one for the purpose of a report from the financial committee, of which Doris Hogan is chairman, and Jimmy Webb, Elizabeth Boyst, and Clarence Cone are on this committee also. The chairman discussed several ways to make money for expenses of the organization. Plans were made for a rummage sale to be given on the coming Saturday. A candy sale to be held at either the National or Carolina theatre was also brought up before the society. The last plan was the sponsoring of one bill of the chautauqua.

The committee appointed for the rummage was as follows: Chairman, Henry Biggs, Bill Byers, Clarence Cone, Eugenia Isler, James Stewart, Dorothy Donnell, Joseph Hendrix, and Mary Lou Pamperin.

The candy selling committee consists of: Chairman, Sadie Sahrp, Daphne Hunt, Rosa Mann, Elvie Hope, Margaret Sockwell, Estelle McCormick, and Emma Griffin.

"Each of the members of the Torchlight Society has in the pledge taken upon initiation into the society, promised to strive in every way, by word and deed, to make the ideals of the society the ideals of Greensboro High School. I have not been in their attempts to do this. Since the ideals of the society are the very highest—those of character, scholarship, leadership, and service—I feel that no better aim could be held by the Torchlight members to aid their school," said Miss Fannie Starr Mitchell, when interviewed by a member of the staff.

C. W. PHILLIPS WINS IN OLD-TIME SPELLING BEE

Civilians Have Luncheon at Greensboro Country Club, April 28—W. R. Presides Over Meeting

FOUST AND COOK HEAD TEAMS

At the Civitan luncheon held Friday, April 28, at the Greensboro Country Club, one of the main parts of the program was an old-fashioned spelling match in which C. W. Phillips took part. The side which Mr. Phillips helped to victory was headed by Dr. John Cook, of the North Carolina College faculty. Thomas R. Foust, superintendent of the public schools, led the other forces to battle.

The match was refereed and the words were given out by C. R. Wharton, Greensboro attorney. At the end of the battle Dr. Cook claimed the victory due to the fact that his forces had suffered fewer casualties. Although there was a greater number standing on Dr. Cook's side, the defeated spellers fought well. The words which caused the most downfalls were "dyspeptic" and "shoal." Among those who entered the strife were Charles H. Ireland, a guest of the club. W. R. Taylor, president of the club, presided over the meeting, while Andrew Joyner had charge of the program.

Greensboro showed tremendous strength in the half mile Saturday by taking the first three places. Phoenix, Leforte, and Horney came in the order mentioned. In fact, the whole meet was a gala day for G. H. S.

"LINE AND COLOR" IS NEW HOMESPUN NAME

Issue Is Dedicated to Subject of Art; Is Strongest Ever Published

FOURTH ISSUE OF YEAR

The "Line and Color" number of Homespun came off the press during the past week. This issue, the fourth of the year, is dedicated to the subject of art. The cover design, by Ed Turner, portrays the possibilities of beauty and symmetry in architecture. The frontispiece represents a type of Grecian art.

According to the present reviewer, the issue is one of the strongest ever published. Probably the most outstanding contribution is a poem by Carlton Wilder, entitled "A Farewell." An article by Joe Hendricks on the subject of "Industrial Architecture" is very interesting reading. Several articles on famous madonnas and famous painters contribute materially to the issue. Poems by Rebecca Heath, Randolph Freeman, Dick Douglas, and Jean Barto add to the general interest of the number.

In the alumni department appear two contributions, one, a story by Margaret High, the other, a poem by Charles Root.

A play by John Brown and another by Dick Douglas also appear in this issue.

The motif of the fifth issue, which will make its appearance about the middle of May, is "the romance of the sea." This is the last issue of the year, and concludes the general theme of "Romance."

G. H. S. CLOTHING CLASS MAKES USEFUL THINGS

Special Work Is Being Done in Ensemble Suits of Linen, Silk and Wool

In the clothing classes taught by Miss Frances Summers "there are many useful and attractive articles of clothing being made," according to Miss Summers. If the truth of this statement were to be questioned one need only go to the sewing room to find it verified in every respect.

Special work is being done in the making of ensemble suits of linen, silk, and wool. In their sewing these girls—there are around 100 taking the course—are using the following magazines: Elite Style, Le Bon Ton, Vogue, The Fashion Book, and McCall's Quarterly.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of the class work now being studied in the clothing course is the pamphlet from Vogue Pattern Service entitled "The Cottons Are Back—and How to Use Them."

Burlington girls surely know how to play tennis, according to the Greensboro girls. They are good sports along with it, too.

MISS MARY MORROW RETURNS FROM AN EDUCATIONAL MEET

One Unusual Feature Was That All Speakers Were Allowed to Speak But Twenty Minutes

ENTERTAINED BY DINNER

"I Was Delighted by the Cordiality of Georgia and the Hospitality of Her People," Says Miss Morrow

Miss Mary Morrow returned April 15 from the first meeting of the Southern Physical Education Association. Georgia was hostess to this meet. The program of the meeting was in charge of Miss Bowers, of Brenan College. "Miss Bowers is one of the most charming people and puts things through in a splendid style," said Miss Morrow. One of the unusual features of the program was that all speakers, whether of national importance or not, were allowed to speak only 20 minutes.

Dr. Brown, president of Peabody College and of the Southern Physical Educational Association, spoke on the "Progress of Physical Education in the South." One point that he brought out in his speech was that most of the southern states have all-time state physical directors, but North Carolina is short in this respect. The state has promised to put in one in a short time.

"Florida and Alabama are putting in athletic systems similar to ours. There is a strong feeling against competitive athletics for girls, and state championship games are not encouraged for either boys or girls," continued Miss Morrow.

TEACHERS IN DISCUSSION OF ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

Doubling in English Not to Be Allowed Next Semester—Must Attend Summer School I

Many questions of grave importance were discussed in full at the meeting of the English teachers Thursday afternoon, April 27, in room 207.

Some of the most vital questions decided were: First, that no person would be allowed to double up on English on any pretense whatsoever. Furthermore, all students who failed in their English work should either repeat or would have to make up their work in summer school.

Various types of objective examinations were also discussed at this meeting.

The Creative English class, the English faculty decided, is to be continued next year. This class, started this year, is now taught by Miss Laura Tillett, head of the English department. The faculty also decided to continue a class in English mechanics for the benefit of students who have trouble mastering punctuation.

Some students will be required to take this course before they can go on in their English work.

DUKE MUSIC CLUBS GIVE CONCERT APRIL 28

The Duke University Musical Club gave a concert Saturday, April 28, at the Odell Memorial building. The program was under the auspices of the Young People's Department of the West Market Methodist church. A large number of people were on hand to hear the program. Admission was 50 cents. Several persons remarked that many of the features were very interesting and entertaining. They especially enjoyed the symphony and jazz orchestras, directed in person by George E. Leftwich, Jr.

Another feature of the program was the quartette selections.

Under the leadership of J. Foster Barnes, the Glee Club gave several popular selections. The business manager of the Duke University Musical Club was R. L. Hatcher, Jr.

According to Miss Mary Broome, the librarian, rapid progress is being made in the good selection of new books for the convenience of the students of Greensboro High.

After a careful investigation of the files, it was found that 178 new books were added during the month of March. It seems that books of fiction still rank highest in popularity. Last month there were 1,581 books of fiction borrowed from the library and 1,058 non-fiction. Including magazines and pamphlets, there was a total of 2,639 books taken out.

Records show that more students are realizing the value of the library, as 11,650 students visited it during the month of March.

Of the new books added to the library there are some that will be of special interest to the various departments:

Miss Laura Tillett and others, who are planning to tour Europe, will find much information in Lucas's A Wanderer in Paris, A Wanderer in Holland, A Wanderer in London.

The journalism classes have been in need of more reference books. Two new ones have been added for their benefit, especially, Liberty and News, by W. Lipman, and The Young Man and Journalism, by Lard.

Miss Virginia Hollingsworth will be interested in knowing that Talking Well, by Harrington and Fulton is now available.

The sociology classes will be aided by the addition of two new books, American Social Problems, by Burch and Paterson, and Political Ideals, by Russell.

PARENTS ENTERTAIN FACULTY WITH PICNIC

F. C. Hoyle Made a Short Talk to the Teachers, and Mr. A. L. Thompson Asked the Blessing

MRS. W. P. KNIGHT IN CHARGE

A moonlight picnic was given Tuesday, April 24, by the parents of G. H. S. with the faculty as honor guests.

The group met at the high school at six-thirty and left in automobiles for parts unknown. A big roaring fire, a rowing on the lake, and strolling among the pines formed the chief amusement until the supper was ready.

When the crowd assembled for supper, Mrs. Knight introduced Mr. F. C. Hoyle, who made a short talk to the teachers. He spoke in appreciation of their work, and praised their loyalty as well as their accomplishments. Mr. A. L. Thompson asked the blessing.

After the fried chicken and the rest of the supper, dancing, card-playing and games were introduced.

Mrs. W. P. Knight, the president of the P. T. A., was in charge of all the plans.

NEW STYLE FOR MAY DAY

"May Day might as well have a new custom as well as any other special day," says Miss Caldwell, so she starts a new fashion.

"Giggle, giggle, giggle," snickered every one to himself in room 7, Tuesday morning, the first day of May. Miss Caldwell had come to school with her apron on. Did she do it on purpose? Must we tell her? Would it be all right to laugh out loud? These are some of the thoughts that ran through the minds of the pupils. One boy remarked, after Miss Caldwell had discovered what the joke was, "I thought maybe it was the style now to wear aprons to school."

G.H.S. SENIORS HONOR PARENTS WITH TEA

Josephine Lyles Sings Several Songs and Katherine Jenkins Plays the Violin

HELD IN G. H. S. CAFETERIA

The senior class entertained the parents and the faculty of G. H. S. with a tea, April 19, in the high school cafeteria. The guests, about 200 in number, called between the hours of eight and ten. They were greeted at the door by Doris Hogan, Sadie Sharpe, Marion Geoghegan and Eugenia Isler. The receiving line was composed of Dick Douglas, president of the senior class, Frank Nicholson, Dorothy Spencer, Lucy Crocker, Charles Rives, Charles Hagan, Karl Kregglow, Mr. C. W. Phillips, and Miss Fannie Starr Mitchell. At the punch bowls were Carlton Wilder, Margaret Davant, Thomas Williams, Sara Ferguson, Ewell Crawford, Page Howard, and Lucille Sharpe.

During the evening the guests were entertained by vocal solos from Josephine Lyles, and a violin solo by Katherine Jenkins, accompanied by Catherine Maddox. Inda Myers played the piano throughout the evening. The goodbyes were said by Elvie Hope.

The cafeteria was attractively decorated in apple blossoms, honeysuckle, violets, pansies and tulips.

60 STUDENTS GRADUATE AT CITY NIGHT SCHOOL

W. N. York Presides—C. W. Phillips Makes Talk on Necessity of Further Studying

City night school graduated 60 men and women Friday night, April 27.

W. M. York, local attorney and principal of the school, presided at the ceremonies which were featured by the address of C. W. Phillips.

Mr. Phillips commended the pupils and stressed his idea of the importance of education and the necessity of study. He said he believed it a mistake for a person ever to stop studying.

Ten of the graduates are local public school teachers. The night school faculty was composed of Mr. York, English; Mrs. Joe Hogsette, shorthand; J. K. Myrick, bookkeeping; Miss Lucile Shields, penmanship, and Miss Margaret Young, typewriting.

NUMBER OF JUNIORS MEASURED FOR RINGS

For the past week the juniors of Semester VI have been measured for class rings. A man from Schiffman's Jewelry store has measured all the students who wished to get rings this semester. Each student paid two dollars down; the remainder will be paid the first part of June.

The measurement for rings had been delayed because of the illness of Miss Mary Wheeler, junior adviser. According to Miss Wheeler the rings will arrive about June 1.
