

'NEW WINGS' BEGINS SECOND COLLECTION

G. B. Phillips Appoints Committee to Select all Material for Next Edition.

ART CLASSES HELPING

In 1931 the first issue of "New Wings," made up of representative work from all schools in Greensboro, was published.

G. B. Phillips has appointed a committee to collect material for a possible second issue of "New Wings" for this school year.

The senior high school material has been typed by members of the typing classes, and the art classes are helping with illustrations.

MRS. CLYDE A. MILNER TALKS AT CONFERENCE

Guilford County Hi-Y Boys Elect Officers and Hear Discussions at Second Annual Gathering.

The theme of the second annual Guilford County Older Boys' conference held at the West Market Methodist church and at the Y. M. C. A. was "What shall I do with my life?"

The morning session began at the "Y" with the registration of the boys and a meeting of the Hi-Y leaders and discussion groups.

Luncheon was served at the "Y" where Mrs. Clyde A. Milner talked on "Boys and Girls in Relation to Success."

In the afternoon the boys chose their own discussion groups, after which a group photograph was made.

The evening session was presided over by Rev. Frew. After a short business meeting Dean Milner spoke on "What Shall I Do About It."

The following officers were elected: President, Edward Jeffress; vice-president, A. C. Holt.

Varied Program Presented

Miss Gertrude Farlow's sixth period Latin class gave a Latin program lasting the entire period.

Those who planned the event were Mary Frances Sharpe, James Cornette, and Billy Sink.

Latin Class Presents Play

Scenes from Book Two, Virgil's Aeneid were presented by Miss Sarah Lesley's Latin eighth class at a regular chapel program on Wednesday morning.

The cast was as follows: Priam, Bert Strickland; Hecuba, Flora Mae Johnson; Dido, Mary Leigh Scales; Aeneas, Johnson Hayes; Sinon, Ed. Douglas; Priam's son, Archibald Scales; Venus, Elizabeth Yates; Helen, Janet O'Brien; Shepherd, Dave Levine; Daughters of Hecuba, Elizabeth Whaley, Cornelia Gorrell, Helen Crutchfield, Rebecca Jeffress, Anna Atkinson, Eloise Taylor; director, Martha Burnside; pianist, Katherine Gingsberg; readers, Nancy Hudson and Leah Baach.

TRAVEL FEVER HITS HIGH

With the coming of another vacation our fellow students are contemplating many different kinds of recreation.

Ed Lee is going to California to see the Olympics; Miss Estelle Mitchell, head of the French department, is going abroad on an extended trip through Europe; Hardy Root is going to Florida, then to New York, and from there he plans a trip to England and Germany; Lane Barksdale is to visit the western part of the state, then later to attend the Guilford College summer school; Harry Hill will spend two weeks in New York.

Foust Announces County Averages

Dr. Thomas R. Foust, superintendent of county schools, announces an average daily attendance increase of 1,465 students over last year's average for Guilford county.

The rural schools are leading High Point and Greensboro in attendance, according to this report.

The membership of each of the schools and average follow: Greensboro, membership 10,723 and average 9,477; rural schools, membership 13,277 and average attendance 12,289, and High Point, membership, 8,582 and average 7,662.

The rural high school average for the year is 94.85, and the elementary 93.33; the Greensboro high school's average, 84 and the elementary 89.34. High Point' senior high averaged 90.97 and the elementary, 89.34.

Boys Discover 18-Day Diet

In a recent interview of the Boys' home economics class a High Life reporter found out two very important facts. The reason the boys take home economics, and a dish which is very good but non-fattening, A. W. Green was the informer for the first fact.

Ben Fortune remarks, "I don't know whether I can cook water or not. I am afraid I might burn it."

Roy Wheeler, constant hunter for a diet to reduce his bulk, told the reporter of a recent discovery: "The other day one of the boys cooked up a dish he called cheese fondue. I looked at the recipe, tasted the finished cookery, and was very surprised to find it of a real good taste, for the contents were very simple. I brought out my microscope and started hunting for those little fat particles which cause all my trouble. What I found was a greater surprise than the first one. In this cheese mixture I found so little fat that it is just enough to keep a person healthy. I think I will start an eighteen day diet consisting of only cheese fondue."

The boys have entertained the men faculty this year with no deaths following, and quite a few smiles. Girls, start looking about for a member of the Boys Home Ec. class.

P. T. A. HAS ANNUAL PICNIC FOR FACULTY

61 Teachers and Large Number of Parents Are Present—Boating, Music, Dancing for Amusements.

The parents and faculty of Senior high school gathered at the Cone club Monday, May 2, for the annual picnic given by the Parent-Teacher association to the Senior high faculty.

Almost all of the faculty, totaling 61, and a large number of the mothers and fathers were present. Some drove out at 5 o'clock to be on hand to welcome the others who arrived at 6:30 o'clock, when supper was served in the clubhouse.

Boating was enjoyed by those who were interested. After supper, music, dancing, and cards were forms of indoor amusement. Mrs. Hill Hunter, social chairman, and her committee were assisted by Mrs. W. W. Whaley, president of the association, and other members of the executive board.

SHORTHAND STUDENTS WINS CUP AT U. N. C.

Three shorthand students, representing Greensboro high, brought home a silver cup from the recent typewriting and shorthand contests at the University of North Carolina sponsored by the North Carolina Commercial association and the university extension division.

The cup was given for first place in the shorthand division. Three members of the advanced class took third place in their division.

The words were dictated at the rate of 60 per minute, and the average grade for the team was a fraction above 99 per cent.

Members of the winning team are: Helen Short, Juanita Cox, and Margaret Huggins. Those of the advanced class are: Lucille Nisbet, Frances Dean, and Hazel Nisbet. Mrs. Zoe Hogsette, head of the commercial department at Senior high accompanied the team.

Six G. H. S. typists participated in the typing division but failed to win a cup. Their showing was good, being in many cases next to the winners.

Instead of the usual separate banquets, entertaining each of their parents, the Girl Reserves entertained them both at once at the Ma, Pa, and Me banquet. Sarah Willis, Mary Helen King, Gladys Draper, and Bobby Kirkman were in charge of the arrangements.

The girls were not satisfied with Mrs. Clyde A. Milner's talk at the Social Standard Conference—they wanted more. So, by request, Mrs. Milner spoke to the Girl Reserves at one of the regular meetings. Her topic was "College or an Honorable Substitute?"

The Girl Reserves were invited to attend the home-coming of the Y. W. C. A. to its main building on May 16.

May 28 is annual poppy day in Greensboro, and the Girl Reserves will help sell them.

Quite a few of the club attended the leap year tea dance given by the Winston Girl Reserves, May 13.

A swimming party and informal supper ended the year for the Girl Reserves. The officers for next year were elected. They are as follows: President, succeeding Pat Knight is Dorothy Hodgkin; vice-president, Martha Fry, following Edna Walters; secretary, Dorothy Clendenin, succeeding Eloise Taylor; and treasurer, Helen Gabriel, succeeding Helen Pense.

After the business session, the girls went for a swim in the Y pool then followed the supper. Martha Ogburn was in charge of the arrangements for the affair.

REBECCA JEFFRESS ENTERTAINS SENIORS

Has Kid Party at Country Club—Graduates Play Childhood Games, Dance, and Drink Pink Lemonade.

Rebecca Jeffress entertained the seniors from 4 to 6 with a kid party at the Greensboro Country club. The affair occurred after kid day at school; all still wore their costumes.

For the first hour the dignified seniors reverted to their not-so-distant childhood and played games suitable to their costumes: Drop-the-Handkerchief, Blind Man's Buff, Farmer in the Dell, and other similar games were played with childish abandon.

The second hour the seniors danced to the music of Bob England and his Englishmen. With their childish chatter and their dolls and teddybears, they presented a ludicrous picture.

Afterwards pink lemonade, striped candy, and other refreshments were served. Among the decorations gas balloons were in evidence.

Art Students Receive Gift

Miss Nellie K. Rowe, of the Greensboro public library, has presented to the students of the art department a half year's subscription to the American Magazine of Creative Art. The magazines are of educational value to the students who are indebted to Miss Rowe for her generosity and thoughtfulness.

Students Begin Frieze

Eileen McCurry and Dorothy Brown, members of Miss Tillet's English class, introduced an original project when they began work on a frieze pertaining to a subject being studied. This project is the depicting of one of the happenings studied in Chaucer. The frieze measures nine feet in length and is two feet wide.

Teacher Goes to Europe

Miss Estelle Mitchell, head of the French department of Greensboro high school, is sailing for Europe June 22 on the Ile de France, a French line steamer. She will land at Plymouth, England on June the twenty-seventh. One week will be spent visiting London, the Shakespeare county and rural England. From England she will go on to Paris in time to enroll for summer school at Sorbonne. Summer school will last for six weeks, and during these weeks Miss Mitchell plans to visit the Battlefield of the World War, Normandy, Brittany, Rhems, and many other sights of interest.

At the close of summer school she will go to Italy and while in Italy will visit Rome, Naples, Venice, Florence and Milan. Late in August she will sail for home on the Ile de France arriving in time for the opening of school.

Evelyn Hopkins won first place in a contest sponsored by J. H. Johnson for his English class.

Joe Foy's Treasure Island scene won second place. Honorable mention goes to Mildred Faulkner and Betsy Wharton on the village scene from Silas Marner.

Goodwill Council Closes Year

The program of the Goodwill Student Council headed by Jack Nowlin has been brought to a successful close. The work of the council will be carried on by the new president, Frank Pittman.

The student government plan came into use at G. H. S. in 1922. At first the school had no other use of it than for discipline, and it was not until 1926 and 27 that really constructive projects were undertaken by the organization. Discipline from that time has ceased to be a main factor of the council.

About three or four years ago there started a growing feeling of discontentment and criticism about the council. Students began to feel that the council could "do the job," and they had no part in it.

This is what Jack Nowlin and his council used for the foundation of their program. Jack was the candidate of the people, and he has tried to bring back the government to the people. Using the Goodwill Student Council as a medium, he has been able to sell the idea of student government to the students.

The council in carrying out its plan has presented the Goodwill idea through chapel programs and the frank presentation to the student of every proposed plan, through Jack's pleasing, happy personality the idea has been carried out in a fine way.

Next year's council will have the foundation laid by the Goodwill Council to build on; without it it would be almost impossible to continue the student government plan.

It is the policy of the office that students have leadership, authority and prestige just as long as it is carried on in a fair, fine acceptable way.

FACULTY OF KENT SCHOOL ANNOUNCED

Announcement has been made of the faculty of the United States Kent School of Law, 363 Seventh Avenue, New York City, which consists of men who have had wide experience in practice of law which they teach.

These men are associated with prominent law schools throughout the country. Included are many men from bench and bar of New York who are constantly engaged in administration of law.

MY KEYS UNLOCK MORE THAN MUSIC

I have occupied an important place at G. H. S. for a long while. My home is on the platform in the music room, and many have been my pleasures here.

I have appreciated the touch of sure fingered pianists and have responded to their loving caress and given to them my best tones.

I have been played to death while a jazz queen entertained the gang at lunch time, or as the accompaniment while many light hearts and feet tripped the light fantastic.

Best of all I have responded to the touch of our best loved musician as he directed the choruses in the teaching of contest numbers. After the first chords I have listened for the burst of voice that would rise and soar, then fade into nothingness.

Proud? I'll say I am, for after all I am responsible, in a small way, for all the first places and honors brought in from contests and concerts.

Miss McNairy Better

Miss Mary McNairy, history teacher of Greensboro high school, was unable to return to school to finish the semester on account of an illness of several weeks. Miss McNairy is a popular teacher and her students have regretted her absence.

Miss McNairy left school before the second report period and soon afterwards had an operation, but has recovered sufficiently to be up some.

Arthur Eitelman, former G. H. S. student, is graduating from a San Antonio, Texas, high school this year. He has been given several honors since there, among which are president of student council, election to National Honor Society with highest honors in school, and "most intellectual boy" for the senior Hall of Fame.

FLOWER SHOW HELD BY NATURE CLASS

L. Barksdale's Collection Wins; Margaret Wagner Takes Blue Ribbon and Dollar.

CLASS DIVIDED IN GROUPS

Mrs. Nellie K. Blackburn's nature class held competition within the class at the annual flower show at Morrison-Neese furniture company. The class was divided into three main groups to give an arrangement of wild flowers. The judging was done on the number of specimens. There were three orchids, two of which were in the winning collection by Lane Barksdale and Robert Wolf's group. The prize was given to this group. Margaret Wagner's pressed flower collection took the blue ribbon and a dollar prize.

Rebecca Pentress, who was the group captain of the second prize collection, had a display containing two lady's slippers and other wild flowers. A Pilot Mountain was made of Rhododendron and mountain laurel; the effect was colorful against the background of enormous ferns and such curiosities as the climbing fern and green dragon's roof. Unusually large specimens of bird's foot and dwarf iris were exhibited. Everything in this collection came from Pilot Mountain except the pictures done by Miss Lee's art class.

Dorothy Hodgkin and her group made a woodland scene of moss, ferns, and Jack-in-the-Pulpits.

In the center was a pool containing a fish. A pet lizard crawled leisurely about among the ferns.

Dallas Ozment won a red ribbon on his bird-house made of a painted gourd.

NEW DEBATING CLUB OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

A. C. Holt, President; Howard King, Vice-President; Edward Cone, Secretary and Treasurer.

The Debating club of Greensboro high school elected its officers for the coming year at a recent meeting. A. C. Holt was elected president; Howard King, vice-president; Edward T. Cone, secretary and treasurer. The sergeant-at-arms is to be elected next year.

The new members are: Alice Ruth Russell, Phyllis Morrish, Aubrey Haynes, Bill Cox, Sam Smith, Mary Margaret Bates, Morris Campbell, Iene Kistler, Ralph Edwards, Nell Benton, Hazel Walker, Mary Frances Sharpe, Catherine Reid, and Margaret Roach.

The initiation of the new members took place at the Cone Country club just prior to a picnic supper last Saturday.

Contest Winners Give Concert The music students who won honors in the recent State music contest gave a concert in the Senior high auditorium, during National Music Week.

A large crowd of local music lovers were present; they enthusiastically received the entire program. Especially did the band and orchestra receive tremendous ovations.

Every phase of musical talent in school was represented, although, due to lack of time, there were no solos.

GLEE CLUB MEMBERS SEE OPERA AT DUKE

A group of the glee club boys who will perform in next years opera, went to Duke university Friday, May 20 to see the University players present the colorful opera "Prince of Pilsen."

Grady Miller, head of the music department at G. H. S., says that in all probability this would be the opera he will present next fall.

SCENES IN A NEWSPAPER OFFICE

Bedlam! Students working under all conditions, all hours, pestering teachers—rushing here and there—doing all sorts of things to get news to make the front page. Telephones ringing incessantly, doors slamming, the click of typewriter keys; news is paramount in everyone's mind, later a frantic hurried delivery of the completed paper with its glaring headlines of the election returns or the commencement exercises. Nobody stops to rest, for this is a newspaper office.

Elizabeth Yates, better known as "Bibbie," and Archibald Scales won the prizes for being the best dressed on kid day. Bibbie, dressed in a yellow checkered dress trimmed with a big organdy sash, and a big yellow bow on her hair, received as prize a set of garden tools.

Archibald, who dressed in dark blue shorts, coat, huge tie, and beret, won a top gun.

At noon the whole senior class assembled in the auditorium to eat their lunch, which each brought from home. During the meal Pat Knight led the stunts which included tap dancing, recitations and a quadrille.
