

WHIRLWIND SQUAD MEETS ARCH-ENEMY

G. H. S. Gridders to Engage Rivals From High Point This Afternoon.

SCHEDULED FOR 3 O'CLOCK

Making its final appearance in a home game for the season, the Purple Whirlwind eleven will engage its arch-rivals from High Point High School at the Memorial stadium this afternoon in a Western conference grid clash. The kickoff is scheduled for 3 o'clock.

The Purple and Gold gridmen must defeat the Black Bisons from High Point today to remain in the race for conference laurels. In case Charlotte high's circuit-leading Wildcats should be upset by Winston-Salem in their game and the locals should defeat the Pointers, the Whirlwinds would move into a tie for the loop leadership with Charlotte. Nevertheless, a defeat today would definitely eliminate the Whirlwinds from a chance at the title.

Despite the fact that the Purple and Gold eleven rank as favorites for this afternoon's clash, the contest should be a nip-and-tuck affair. The Black Bisons, laden with a powerful and dangerous aerial attack, can always be counted on to play their best game of the season against the Whirlwinds, and this game should be no exception.

Captain Charlie Baker, star halfback, will be singing his swan song as a high school grid performer before a home crowd today. Baker, who has been outstanding in the Whirlwinds' lineup for the past two campaigns, will be lost to the team, after this season, through graduation.

The Purple and Gold gridders will ring down the curtain on their present schedule by meeting Barium Springs there next Friday. Although facing one of their most formidable opponents of the season in the Orphanage aggregation, the locals will be seeking to close a successful campaign with a victory.

MILLS RESIGNS POST WITH SCHOOL SYSTEM

Director of Vocational Education Will Become Supervisor of Personnel Training With TVA.

Mr. Charles S. Mills, director of Vocational Education in the city school system, has recently accepted a position as supervisor of personnel training with the Tennessee Valley administration. Mr. Mills, whose resignation was accepted by Superintendent Ben L. Smith last Monday, will assume his new duties on December 1, and will be located at Hiwassee Dam, near Murphy.

Mr. Smith, in announcing the resignation, said that Mr. Mills' position would be a hard one to fill, for he has done splendid work since coming here from Florida eight years ago. He was the organizer of the first manual training course in North Carolina and his program has expanded so that approximately 1,250 students are now participating in it.

Mr. Mills was also the organizer of the adult night school in this city. He is considered by many to be the best vocational director in North Carolina.

HOW TO EAT A RAW OYSTER

Now that so many initiation parties are being given in the various clubs and societies of G. H. S., we thought that you might like to receive instructions as to how to eat a raw oyster.

After carefully considering every intricate angle of this complex problem, we have come to the conclusion that instruction in this art is entirely unnecessary, as one would hardly be in a position to help himself once the oyster got to first base. You, of course, are acquainted with the fact that the oyster has the enviable quality of disappearing before one knows it.

However, there is the problem of eating the oyster when out in society; so we will endeavor to indicate the correct method of the—er—thing.

"The oyster has to be eaten—there is no doubt about that. Why, your hostess might think you didn't 'like' it. (As a matter of fact 'like' is no word for it—but of course, you can't afford to be impolite.)

Accordingly never glance at the oyster, lest you change your mind; jab quickly at the "delicacy" with your fork—invariably you'll hook one—and put it in your mouth. That is, if you get that far—the oyster is a little temperamental himself, especially about exploring your most composite interior. He will even go so far as to slip into your lap; but even as you are praying that the floor will open its mouth and swallow him up for you—there he is—and you are under obligation to begin all over again.

In conclusion, let us say that the object of the entire business is to get the oyster past your lips—after that, leave the rest to providence, and, of course, to the oyster.

ART REPRESENTATIVE GIVES DEMONSTRATION

Mrs. Kilby Illustrates Modern Methods of Finger Painting and Fresco Work.

ART CLASSES AT WORK ON MURAL

Mrs. Kilby, representative for one of the New York art firms, presented a very interesting demonstration to the art classes of this school last week. In this demonstration, Mrs. Kilby, who is widely known for her excellent artistic ability, illustrated modern methods of finger painting and fresco work, which proved very informative and entertaining to the students.

The art classes are now participating in the making of designs for linoleum, textiles, wallpaper, and draperies, and decorative plaques.

A colorful mural, portraying land and ocean scenery, and modern transportation, is being painted on three walls of the art room annex.

It will be recalled that the Greensboro High School art classes gave a successful showing at the recent Greensboro fair. This exhibit consisted of murals, masks, and photographic work. Miss Lee and Mrs. Braswell are the instructors for this work.

JEANETTE MacDONALD IS FOOTBALL SPONSOR

Jeanette MacDonald, popular screen star, has been made official national sponsor of the Greensboro High School football team. It was learned Miss MacDonald had accepted the invitation, proffered through Major Edney Ridge, of Radio Station WBIG, when a telegram was received from the famous singer Wednesday morning, November 17, which read:

"Thank you and the team for electing me official sponsor. Best of luck in conference championship.

JEANETTE MacDONALD."

It was considered that Miss MacDonald be elected to sponsorship, as she is the star of the Vick's radio program, the Vick plant being located in this city.

Virginia Boren is local sponsor.
