COLLEGE DAY AT G. H. S. PROMISES TO BE BIG SUCCESS

Gets Off to Flying Start as 45
Representative Colleges
Invade Gym.

DR. GREER MAIN SPEAKER

Members of Torchlight Society Will Serve as Hosts and Hostesses to Various Colleges.

The sixth annual College Day program is now in progress, with approximately 45 college representatives promoting its success. This morning in the auditorium, Dr. I. G. Greer spoke to the entire student body on the advantages of going to college, after which the seniors met in the gym to have conferences with the different delegates. After lunch, juniors and sophomores will meet in the gym, where Richard Fritz, Susannah Winbush, Mark Altwater, and Willa Jean Hayes, who is student chairman for the entire program, are in charge. Miss Lily Walker has served as faculty adviser to Willa Jean and her committee.

One of the most important features of the day will be the luncheon for the college representatives, at which Willa Jean and her committee will be hosts in the Home Economics room at 12:30 o'clock. Shirley Weaver and Miss Snowe Bradley have worked together on ar-

LAST SHOWING OF "PARADE" TONIGHT

Eddie Andrus to Be Master of Ceremonies; Several Girls to Model.

KERENOFF TO GIVE SHOW

The last showing of the Commercial club's "Easter Parade," which is being sponsored by Bell's Department store, will be held tonight at the National theatre.

The following have been selected as models: Ruth Strickland, Helen Ownby, Annis Hines, Adelaide Hendrix, Susie Gorrell, Marty Cockfield, Virginia Sawyer, Rachel Miles, Ruth Mooney, Lottie Kivette, Frances Noah, Minnie Lyon, Louise Lineberry, Miss Hyams, Miss Mims, and Miss Wall.

Hairdressing will be done by the Sally Harmer beauty show in the Watson building, while Tom O'Connor will supply the corsages.

A floor show by Kerenoff's studio, with two revolving stages, will also be featured. Music will be furnished by a pipe organ.

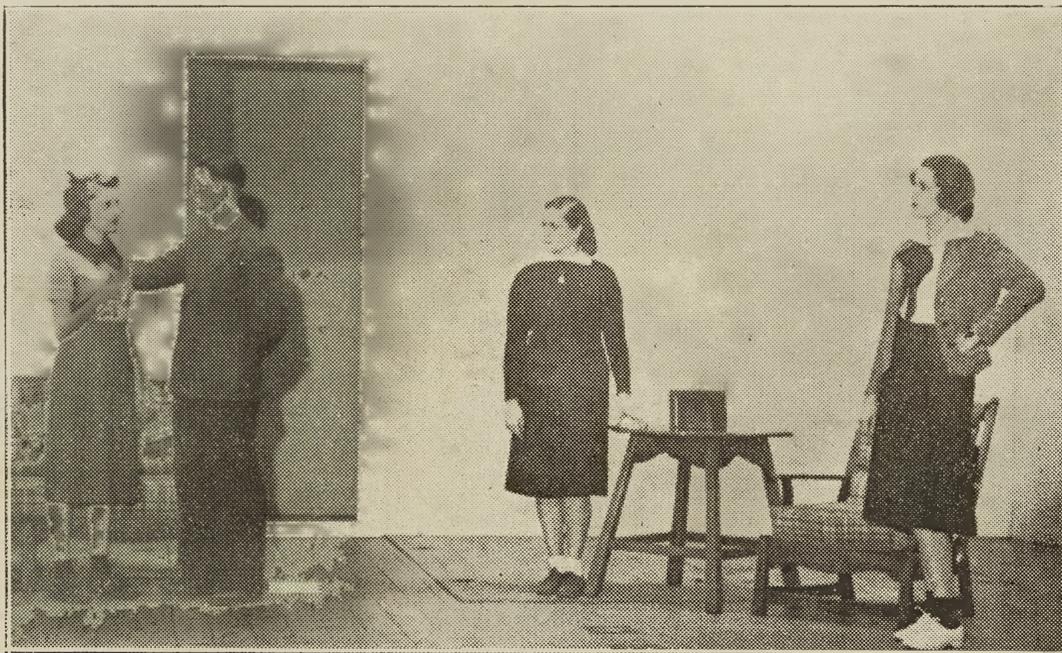

Eddie Andrus, of the Greensboro radio station, WBIG, will be master of ceremonies.

To the four students who sell the most tickets, the National theatre will offer passes as prizes.

SMITH GOES TO RALEIGH TO MEET WITH HEADS

The district programs for the fall N. C. E. A. meeting were planned last Saturday when Mr. Ben L. Smith, president of the association, met with district leaders in Raleigh.

Mr. Thomas Cash, superintendent of the Forsyth county schools, Winston-Salem, is president of the Northwestern group, whose district meeting will be held in Greensboro next fall.

Mary Power Frazier, Frank Barrett, Jean Stafford, and Virginia Klages are pictured above in a family quarrel from the current and choice presentation of the Playmasters' production, "The Patsy."

"The Patsy" to Be Presented by G. H. S. Playmasters April 13

"Gosh! I always thought husbands were like the measles—you catch them or you don't catch them." This is just a sample of the fast-moving repartee of the Playmasters' new production, "The Patsy," by Barry Connors.

This modern comedy is to be presented April 13, in the G. H. S. auditorium. Opening with a family quarrel, the play is then off to a fast start on the road of romance with Patricia Harrington, who is in love with her elder and slightly egotistical sister's ex-heart throb, winning a large silver loving cup.

The part of this ideal American girl is portrayed by Mary Power Frazier. Though not well known in the field of dramatics, at G. H. S., Mary Power is known through her work in other fields.

Billy Caldwell, the rich beau of the elder sister, is to be played by Andrew Goodwin instead of George Miles.

The role of Tony Anderson, former beau of Grace and the love of Patricia's life, will be portrayed by George Gibbs.

The supporting cast is to include Jean Stafford as Grace, elder sister of Patricia; Virginia Klages as Mrs. Harrington, the mother; Frank Barrett as Mr. Harrington; William Dempsey as Mr. O'Flaherty; Edward McDowell as the taxi driver; and Elizabeth Deaton as Sadie, the other woman in Grace's life.

Miss Taylor Takes Job As Secretary to Mr. Routh

HYAMS IS LEAVING

Miss Hyams Goes to Take up
Work at West Market Street
Methodist Church.

WILL LEAVE G.H.S. APRIL 11

Miss Ella Lee Taylor, at present the director of the Young Girls' choir at the First Presbyterian church, will enter G. H. S. on April 11 as secretary to Mr. Routh, the position which is being vacated by Miss Edna Hyams. Miss Hyams is leaving to take up work at the West Market Street Methodist church.

Miss Taylor holds a bachelor of music degree, which she received at Flora MacDonald. While there she served as secretary to the president of the college and is therefore well qualified for her work here.

Miss Edna Hyams began work in this office immediately following her graduation from G. H. S. Since that time she has alternated between G. H. S. and Superintendent Ben L. Smith's office. She has always been a most efficient and capable secretary, and Greensboro Senior High school will miss her.

To Speak to Session Room Council
Miss Ann Harbison will speak to the session room council at its meeting Tuesday afternoon. To conclude the study of the constitution, a short quiz will be given on elections.

STATE HONOR SOCIETIES' OFFICERS MEET IN WINSTON

Effort Is Being Made to Unite Torchlight Officers Into State Organization.

MIMS AND MOFFITT WILL ATTEND

Miss Sara Mims, adviser for Torchlight, and Howard Moffett, president of the society, have been invited to a luncheon for officers of the North Carolina Honor societies, which will be held in Winston-Salem tomorrow. The purpose of the luncheon, which will be given at R. J. Reynolds High school, is to organize a state honor society to be composed of all Torchlight societies in North Carolina.

A meeting of a similar nature was held a few years ago; but the plan was not adopted. If it is adopted at this session, the organization of the honor society will be like that of the State Student Government organization.

During the afternoon session, the presidents of the different Torchlight societies will report on the activities of their respective clubs through the year.

Marshall Added to C. J. H. S. Faculty
The Central Junior High school faculty was recently made bigger and better with the addition of Mr. Robert F. Marshall, a printing teacher, who comes here from New York state. Mr. Marshall is a graduate of the Oswego State Normal School of New York state.

Attention, Seniors

For the benefit of those seniors making the trip to Washington, Mrs. Hall has placed on reserve in the library a book entitled A GUIDE TO WASHINGTON. The seniors who plan to take the trip are urged to read this volume, as it will enable them to secure real benefit from the trip.

DELEGATES WILL BE SENT TO PRESS MEETING

Annual North Carolina Scholastic Press Institute Meeting Is to Have Well-Rounded Program.

The North Carolina Scholastic Press Institute, which is again to have its annual meeting in Chapel Hill, has written and asked HIGH LIFE to send representatives. April 28 and 29 have been set aside for the meeting. However, since the Washington trip comes at the same time, Marty Cockfield has written David Stick, director of the event, and asked him if the time cannot be changed.

A well-rounded program is being planned in order to make the meeting enjoyable as well as instructive. There will be a general get-together on Friday, April 28, and on Saturday, April 29, the organization will be adjourned at a banquet given for all representatives and faculty advisers. Included in the program will be several informal talks by newspapermen who are especially adept in the phases of newspaper they will discuss.

EIGHTY MEMBERS OF GRADUATING CLASS VISIT WASHINGTON

Will Stop at Places of Historic Interest in and Around
Richmond Enroute.

PLANS NEAR COMPLETION

Several Faculty Members and Parents of Students to Accompany Sight-Seers.

Approximately 80 members of the graduating class will leave Thursday, May 28, for Washington, D. C., where they will visit the important historical spots in the national capital and return to Greensboro Sunday night. These members will be chaperoned by parents and members of the faculty.

The group is hoping to leave Greensboro about 6:30 o'clock Thursday so that Richmond may be toured on the way up.

A tentative list of historical spots which the seniors will visit is as follows: Bureau of Investigation, Library of Congress, Building of Printing and Engraving, tour of the White House except the private bed chambers, Gallery of House and Senate, Capitol, Washington Monument, night trip up the Potomac to Mount Vernon, Smithsonian Institute, Lincoln Memorial, Arlington cemetery, Lee's home, lunch in the Supreme Court building, and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

The following seniors interested in going are:

LINDLEY HIGH PRESENTS EASTER RADIO PROGRAM

Girls' Glee Club Is Feature on April
6 Program; Sacred Numbers
Are Sung.

CHORIC SPEECH ON MARCH 30

The Easter radio program to be presented on April 13, is a musical presentation by the Lindley Junior High school. The Girls' Glee club of this school will have the major part of the program. The numbers sung will be selected from the contest selections. Three of these are "Sanctus" from the St. Cecilia Mass, by Gonoud; "Daffodils," by Herms, and the well-known "Ave Maria." Mrs. S. M. Little, of Lindley Junior High school, directs the choral work.

The last radio program, given by the music department, featured the mixed chorus under the direction of Mr. Raymond Brietz. The club sang the following four numbers:

"Only Begotten Son," Grechaninoff; "My Heart Hath a Mind," Gaines; "Now Thanks We All Our God," Cruger-Mueller; "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," Bach.

In the preceding program Miss Harbison's English 4 class presented a program on choric speech. The voices were divided into classes: high, medium, and low. Examples of each type were given in the form of poetry, in solo voice, and in unison.
