Baseball Team Drops Four Games

G. H. S. lost two big games during the holidays, the first to Charlotte, on Friday, December 31, and the second on Saturday, January 1, to Asheville. The two games were two of the biggest games G. H. S. will play this season.

The game with Charlotte was more or less handicapped by the absence of a center for G. H. S., Garland Daniel, being sick and unable to make the trip.

During the first ten minutes G. H. S. had scored two field goals and one foul against Charlotte's one field goal and a foul.

The score standing 5-3 in G. H. S. favor. Charlotte then began to show more fight and at the end of the first half, the score 17-14 in favor of Charlotte.

During the second half, Charlotte seemed to display the greater amount of goal shooting and the game ended 43-19 in Charlotte's favor.

The locals put up a game fight, but were unable to come back as hard as they might have if the varsity players had been in the game.

Lineup as follows:

Substitutes, Henderson for Britton, Transou for Ballard, Ballard for Grimsley.

Asheville Game

On the following night, G. H. S. lost to Asheville Highs, 34-28. This was by far the best and most exciting game thus far played. The local team out classed Asheville during the first half, and would in all probability have won, had it not been that two players were taken out for fouls. At the end of the first half the score stood 14-12 in favor of G. H. S. But in the second half both teams seemed to display an unusual amount of pep and fight with Ballard and Grimsley going out of the game on fouls. The team fought hard under this handicap, but was unable to overcome Asheville's six point lead. Both teams fought hard and showed exception-

Dr. E. C. Linderman Talks to Economics Students

On last Friday Dr. Linderman, teacher of Economics from the N. C. C. W., talked to the economics students on the question of labor unions.

Labor unions in America are practically a new thing, said Dr. Linderman.

The labor union was originated in England after the Industrial Revolution. Before the Revolution the Guild organizations were in existence in England. These Guilds were made up of all classes of working men regardless of what the work was. The industrial revolution changed labor conditions. The craft organization was then introduced. The craft organization was the organizing of certain kinds of workers, such as carpenters and bricklayers. During the existence of the guilds work was done in the homes. Since the revolution the workers started working in factories, which were unclean, poorly ventilated and very dark. Such conditions gave birth to a labor union. The laborers now got together to demand better conditions.

Dr. Linderman then discussed the kinds of organized labor. The trade union, he said, was the organizing of men who had a certain trade, such as a carpenter. The carpenter's union is independent of other unions, and its purpose is to benefit the carpenters.

Before the trade unions were introduced we had what was known as the industrial union, which we are trying to get back today. This was one large organization for all the workers in the nation.

At the present time Great Britain has an Industrial Union. Dr. Linderman believes that the labor party will play a part in Great Britain's policy, but he does not think that a labor party will ever play a part in our government.

The purpose of the I. W. W.'s is to organize every worker in the nation. This idea was born in France. He says that Italy is rapidly taking it up.

Dr. Linderman then described the theory of collective bargaining. He said no man wants to be thought of as a piece of machinery or a tool in a factory. If business men have a right to organize, then why do working men not have a right to do so? They have no power as individuals.

Strikes come suddenly, and as a last resort. They are industrial wars. Strikes are necessary, because it has been seen in recent strikes that the laborers appeal to the employer for what they want first. Strikes cause many who are innocent and not interested in the cause to suffer, and often to die.

Dr. Linderman thinks that the labor question is going to be very serious for the

MR. PARKER SPEAKS IN CHAPEL

The pupils of G. H. S. most heartily welcomed an old friend and instructor yesterday when Mr. J. Merrill Parker honored us with his presence.

He gave us an interesting talk on the subject of high morals and it is hoped that the boys and girls appreciated the truth of his statements and will make at least a few of the high ideals be placed before them their very own.

Easy Mark.
