

"High" Life

For A Better G. H. S.

Vol I

GREENSBORO HIGH SCHOOL, MARCH 11, 1921

No 10

WHO WANTS TO BE

WHO AND WHY (A WISH)

"A man's grasp should exceed his reach or what's a heaven for?"

What class aspires to be the leading class of the school? The Junior Class. They are the Juniors now, but next year, they will be Seniors! The leaders of the school! It is ever too early to aspire to do great things? To want to be something; to want to be bigger and better than the ordinary class. The class that wants to do these things, is the engine type of class, for, in order to do this, they must take the lead in all the activities of the school. What have the Juniors done that shows that they are the engine type of class?

They have organized in to class and as the result, they have the most-wide-awake organization in the school. Their Motto—"Play the Game."—shows what they want to be. They want to play the game fairly and squarely. You never find the Juniors shirking their duty. They are dependable to the last one of them. They are the engine type and the engine type will some day lead the school.

In order to lead the school next year, the Junior Class has given their hearty support and co-operation in "putting over" all the new enterprises of the school. Next year, being Seniors, they must start most of the enterprises.

Who leads the school in school spirit? The Junior Class! Well what is school spirit? It is the "backing Up" of school activities—athletics, debating, and scholarship.

In athletic—whenever there is a game, who gives the best cheer? Who has the most representatives at the game? If the team is defeated what class takes the defeat cheerfully and generously? In other words, "takes it like a man?" The Juniors! They do this so that next year, when they are the example of the school, they can show what Greensboro High School spirit is.

On the debating team, two of the debaters are Juniors. The other two are to represent the Senior class in the debate. Seniors. Next year, someone will have to take their places. Are they not training now to do this.

Who possess the scholarship shield now? The Junior Class! They want to keep it too. Next year they want to keep it the whole year. They are not selfish, but only aspiring to the heights.

Where the engine leads, the freight cars follow. What class is the Engine? The Junior class wants to be next year. Because—

"A man's grasp should exceed his reach, or what's a heaven for?"

—Mildred Morrison.

Editing This Week's "High" Life

The members of the staff editing this week's "High" Life are: editor-in-chief, Ruth Underwood; associate editor, Frances Harrison, Carolyn Glasecock, and Margaret Smith; social editors, Lucile Pettit; athletics editor, James Wilkins. The material was obtained through the Junior English classes.

JUNIOR STATISTICS

Best looking	Grey Fetter
Most Popular	Nellie Irvin
Most Attractive	Grey Fetter
Most Conceited	Mildred Little
Most Talented	Mildred Leak
Cutest	Mildred Morrison
Most Original	Ethel Stockton
Class baby	Mildred Morrison
Most Athletic	Nellie Irvin
Best all around	Nellie Irvin
Best Dancer	Ethel Lee Wallace
Most Stylish	Ethel Lee Wallace
Meanest	Margaret Pickard
Most business like	Myrtle La Barre
Most Studious	Margaret Smith
Most musical	Mildred Little
Most congenial	Lucile Wynne
Biggest Stringer	Mildred Little
Most polite	Ruth Underwood
Best entertainer	Mildred Morrison
Most indifferent	Mary Denny
Sweetest	Ruth Underwood

—BOYS—

Best looking	E. J. Stafford
Most popular	Herbert Rawlins
Most attractive	Horace Murray
Most conceited	Neal Jones
Most talented	James Wilkins
Cutest	Andrew McGlamery
Most original	James Boles
Class baby	Thommy Hobbs
Most athletic	Paul Transou
Best all around	Hubert Rawlins
Best dancer	Andrew Mc Glamery
Most stylish	Norman Cooper
Meanest	Norman Cooper
Most business like	James Wilkins
Most studious	James Wilkins
Most musical	E. J. Stafford
Most congenial	Horace Murray
and	Hubert Rawlins
Biggest stringer	Pete Pearce
Best entertainers	Max Barnhart
and	Hubert Rawlins
Most polite	Horace Murray
Most indifferent	Jeff Fordam
Sweetest	Horace Murray

PEP

Many qualities are needed to make up a good High School. The mixture of school spirit and enthusiasm commonly called "pep," is an important thing. It is easy to have "pep" at a school game when the cheer leader is urging you on to yell, and you are so proud of your team. You just can't keep still. It's a little thing to feel the same little thrill about writing a theme or outlining the history lesson. It is no burden at all to clap and cheer at a "pep" meeting, in chapel, but it is sometimes a terrible effort to even vote at a class meeting, to say nothing of making motions and carrying on discussions.

Originality is the soul of "pep." In one High School the Seniors advertised their class play in a unique way. The stage in their auditorium was very large and they had curtain like a theatre. After the principal's announcements, a noise was heard behind the curtain that resembled an airplane. When the curtain rose a Ford dashed on the stage filled to overflowing with Seniors and all who couldn't get in followed behind on tri-

BOYS ELIMINATE

LEXINGTON AND CHURCHLAND

G. H. S. 38—Lexington 26

Friday evening, February 25, G. H. S. defeated Lexington High's at Guilford by the score of 38 to 26. This victory gave G. H. S. a total of eleven consecutive victories.

At first it looked as if Lexington would put G. H. S. out of the championship series but soon the G. H. S. boys turned the tide. This was done by the excellent guarding of Ballard and Koenig, and the ability of Greensboro forwards, Poole and Britton, to put the ball in the basket.

When the first half ended, the score was fifteen for G. H. S. and nine for L. H. S. In the last half Greensboro kept enough ahead to insure a victory for themselves.

Despite the fact Lexington did not have enough of "stuff" to defeat the Greensboro team, they did do some pretty passing, and showed that they had been coached well.

Hunt for Lexington, showed fine form, while Poole and Koenig starred for Greensboro.

G. H. S. 29—Churchland 19

Greensboro adds another victory to her list by winning from Churchland, Friday night. This makes a total of 12 straight victories the local boys have won. It was a fast exciting game throughout. Both teams showed good teamwork and signs of good coaching. The Greensboro team was a little superior both in passing and shooting which is largely due to the fine coaching of Mr. York.

The shooting of Poole was excellent, and Britton was there to do his part also. The shooting of that "Ballard boy" was done in no showy fashion. When it came to passing the whole team was right there. The faithful watchfulness of Koenig in the enemies territory, kept them from making any more goals than they did. The final score was 29 to 19 in favor of Greensboro. The line up was:

Poole	lf
Britton	rf
Daniels	center
Ballard	lg
Koenig	rg
Scorekeeper	Boone
Timekeeper	Seburn

cycles and kiddie carts. All were dressed in the most ridiculous costumes. This parade circled the stage once or twice and then the Ford dashed forward as if to jump over into the student body stopping just on the brink. Then they all got out and gathered around the piano and sang parodies written to popular tunes, inviting everybody to the play. You may be sure everybody wanted to see the play if this was an exhibition of what was to follow.

The boy or girl worth while is the one who throws him-self into everything he does. After all, to be enthusiastic about everything is to enjoy life, and to enjoy life is the only way to live.

—Mildred Leak.

ASK A JUNIOR

If there's a thing you want to know,
Ask a Junior!
They will surely tell you so,
Ask a Junior!
If it's a Latin translation,
A Chmical transformation,
Or a biological relation,
Ask a Junior.

If you want to learn to yell,
Ask a Junior!
They surely can do it well,
Ask a Junior!
Juniors are never tame,
They never come up lame,
They always "Play the Game!"
Ask a Junior!
Martha Cox.

GIRLS TEAM CAPTURES

TWO GOOD GAMES

Charlotte—Davidson Trip

We left Greensboro about 12:45 Friday afternoon, February 25, for Charlotte. We had looked forward to this trip for about a month and now that we were on our way we were nearly thrilled to death. There were eight players, Nellie Irvin, Carlotta Johnson, Elzie Fluharty, Katie Whitley, Margaret Meyers, Helen Clapp, and myself (Dorris Stinnett.) Catherine Armstrong our manager, and Miss Morrow were also along. Miss Dry, our coach was to meet us in Concord and of course we could hardly wait until we got to that small town.

About 3:15 we got to Concord and there was Miss Dry at the station but she informed us that her sister was still critically ill and that she couldn't leave her. However, she said that she would probably come to Charlotte that night to the game. Of course, we were all much disappointed that she couldn't go with us but we hid our disappointment with smiles.

The conductor that runs on the train between Greensboro and Charlotte always amuses our bunch by calling out the stations in such a manner as: "Charlotte next stop. Change trains for Davidson, etc. Get all your baggage together and don't forget where you're going." When we pulled into Charlotte, he gave us a frown because some of us had made some remarks about his calling out the stations, but we soon got him in a good humor by telling him where we were from. He seemed to think anybody who came from Greensboro was all right.

We reached Charlotte about 4 o'clock. The Charlotte girls met us and we were quickly assigned to the different homes. Maude and I were to stay together at the home of the Roses out near Meyer's Park. They took us to ride all over Charlotte that afternoon and gave us a mighty good supper that night.

The game was called for 8:15 but didn't begin until about 8:30. When it did begin it was full of pep from start to finish. Once during the first half the score was 9-4 in favor of Charlotte. Then the locals

(Continued on page 6.)