HARRY BUICE TALKS AT INITIAL MEETING OF DEBATING CLUB

Alumni Speaks of Expected
Progress and Give Promise of Support for Current Year.

STUDENTS DISCUSS PLANS

Debates Are Being Planned With
Durham, High Point, Winston-Salem,
Charlotte.

The first meeting of the G. H. S. Debating Club was held Thursday, September 12, in 106, Harry Buice, president for the coming year, presiding over a group of 23 members. The greater percentage of those present came from the former Freshman Debating Club.

After hearing a short talk of welcome by the president, the members listened to speeches by Elizabeth Boyst, Bernard Ahman, Henry Weiland, Bill Spradlin, and Arlindo Cate, alumni of the 1929 Debating Club. Each wished the club success and promised to help it in time of need. Elizabeth Boyst presented the president with an old bank book which she had found belonging to the debating club. This showed that the organization had 16 cents to its credit.

Plans for Debate

The semester work was outlined. Four outside debates are planned. These contests will probably be scheduled with Durham, High Point, Winston-Salem, and either Charlotte or Asheville. The queries for these debates will be: Resolved, That the jury system should be abolished, and Resolved, That a six-year term for president of the United States should be instituted. There will be 24 speakers which will constitute eight teams. This work will continue from November through January. Hereafter debating between schools has been done in the fall; twenty per cent of the work has been left for the spring term. This semester, the debating club is going to arouse interest in debates for the fall term. This work will prepare those who are interested in the triangle debate and train others in debating who wouldn't have time in the spring for such work.

Presidents Appoint Committees

The committees for the semester were appointed. J. Barnes was made chairman of the social committee with Edward Cone and Leila George Cram to assist him; on the program committee, Charles Hagan is chairman, and Mary Mitchell and Ed Michaels serving with him; Margaret Kernodle is chairman of the standing committee with Dick Conn and Douglas Cartland to help her. This committee will be responsible for the publicity of the club. A membership committee will be appointed later.

JUNIOR HIGH GIRLS CHANGE BANE HOUSE

Among the changes made in the Central High School since the students have come to Senior High and other pupils go there is the renovation of the Bane building. Every detail in planning the interior of the house will be taken care of by the junior high girls.

After furnishing the house they will do housekeeping there; that is, they will do all the necessary work in improving the building. This plan, according to local teachers and other authorities, is the best method of instilling in girls the proper care of a home.

Officers of Class Will Be Elected
By Students — Special Committees Appointed.

DISCUSS OTHER MATTERS

On September 24, W. M. Paris, president of semester 7, will call the first meeting of the class which graduates in June.

At this meeting he will outline class activities and plans for the current year. Officers, that is, the vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, will be elected by the students. Special committees for this school term will be appointed. A social, a program, and a publicity committee will be selected. W. M. will also appoint a chairman at large of session rooms, who will in turn be head of semester 7 session room presidents.

There will be suggested two meetings per month for the year, one of these to be prely social, the other business.

ART DEPARTMENT GIVES STUDENTS OPPORTUNITY

Pupils May Select Any Phase of Work
Desired—Photography, Painting, and Clay Modeling Offered.

According to Miss Henrietta Lee, head of the art department of Greensboro High School, the art classes will be run under new plans this year.

Each pupil will have the opportunity of selecting the phase of work which he or she likes best. It may be photography, painting, work in clay, linoleum work, or pen and ink drawings. All of these constitute art.

The baking, developing, printing, and tinting of pictures comes under the head of photography.

When working in clay, the pupils model figures, both human and animal, and they do relief work.

Under the head of crafts comes the carving and printing or painting of linoleum.

The pen and ink course is in four parts. Including pastor-making, lettering, advertising, and cartooning.

NEW CAFETERIA AT G. H. S. HAS MODERN EQUIPMENT

Main Dining Room Will Seat 500—Two
Private Ones for Club
Dinners.

HIGH SCHOOL WELCOMES GUESTS

The cafeteria of the new senior high school, is one which should, according to the cafeteria manager, Mrs. Comer, and faculty members, be admired and cared for by the high school students.

Although meals were served only to the teachers during registration, on Monday, September 7, approximately one thousand pupils and teachers were given lunch.

The equipment is of the most modern type. In addition to two dishwashing rooms, there are electric potato peelers, bread mixers, and graters. A majestic coal range, having three ovens, is in the kitchen. For use in case of an emergency, a service gas stove has also been installed. A baker's oven, and three sinks complete the kitchen equipment.

Cafeteria Has Ice-Room

A refrigerator plant, including a store room refrigerator which will hold one beef, the service refrigerator, and ice cream cooler, has been added. There is an ice room in which four hundred pound soft ice may be manufactured in one day.

In addition to a main dining room which will seat five hundred, there are two for private use, where club dinners, banquets, and parties may be held. An office for the cafeteria manager is another feature in the utility of the plant.

There are dressing rooms for the maids.

Dietitian Welcomes Guests

Among facts of interest to students and teachers is that a quarter of a beef was served September 14.

Because of the electric equipment, the working forces have been cut, but high school students numbering from ten to fourteen are employed.

The cafeteria has two steam tables; the Friendly Cafeteria has but one. Mrs. Comer told the reporter that she wished through HIGH LIFE to extend a cordial invitation to any fathers, mothers and friends who wish to take a meal at G. H. S., and see for themselves what wonderful service is now offered.

JOHNSON PLANS WORK FOR DRAMATICS CLUB

Advisers Select Cast for "Seventeen,"
First Production of Year—Will Announce Stars Soon.

CLASSES PLAN CONTEST PLAYS

Tryouts for the first high school production of the year were held in the auditorium Thursday, September 19. The results have not yet been announced.

"Seventeen" is not the only feature of the year. The bill is to run as follows: "Seventeen," "Bill of Three One-Act Plays," "Operetta," "Purple and Gold Revue."

With regard to the three one-act plays, a new feature, one of each is to be sponsored by the three upper classes. The senior play will be directed by Mr. Joe Johnson, The Junior, by Miss Virginia McClamrock, and the sophomore by Miss Virginia Hollingsworth. Each class is to take charge of his own play, the selling of tickets, publicity, etc.

"There is a possibility of giving a prize to the class selling the most tickets," says Mr. Johnson.

He also stated that only the members of the respective classes would be eligible for parts.

FORMER PUPIL OF G. H. S. SOARS OVER THE CITY

To Demonstrate Air Planes
After She Finishes College.

Making her first solo flight Wednesday, September 11, Carmen Patterson, 1929 graduate of Greensboro High School, soared over the Gate City of the South.

Carmen took instructions at the Pitcairn airport during the past summer. Being interested in flying, she plans to continue aviation as a hobby during her school term. She says she will probably take extensive study during vacation periods.

Carmen intends to demonstrate airplanes after she has finished her college course.

The G.H.S. aviatrix is not only prominent in the flying world, but also took a leading part in her high school activities.

DRAMATICS CLUB POLICY EXPLAINED

Each Student To Take Active Part In Production of Plays.

CLASS DISPLAYS TALENT

"As a policy for the dramatic class," declared Mr. J. H. Johnson, "I have decided to use the following: Each student in my class will be responsible for either directing one one-act play or taking part in a play during this semester."

The class is now studying one-act plays and the technic. It is hoped that these students will be able to write plays before completing the course given in Dramatics.

Mr. Johnson believes that each pupil in order to be a dramatic artist must be able to direct skillfully and correctly. "If he can not do this, Mr. Johnson said, "He is not well versed in dramatic arts."

G. W. Stamper acted as student director for the play produced by the Dramatics class at the first meeting of the club September 19. Manette Graff took the lead and was assisted by Charles Russell and Frank Causey.

FORMER G. H. S. STUDENT HAS HIP FRACTURED

Louise Cheek Is Injured Again as Result of Fall While on Her Way to Work.

Friends of Louise Cheek, graduate of G. H. S. last June, have learned that she has fractured her hip again. Louise was forced to stay out of school a long time about two years ago because of a diseased hip-joint. However, by going to night school as well as day school last year, she managed to catch up in her studies.

The bone has knitted, and the leg is in a better condition; however, the doctors think that her leg may be broken again. They think normal growth will result.

One morning about two weeks ago, Louise was on her way to work when she tripped over a stone which she did not see at the time. She fell forward, at the same time fracturing the hip which gave her trouble some time ago. She was carried home by passers-by.

SUBSCRIPTION DRIVE FOR SCHOOL PAPERS FEATURES WEEK

Teachers Hold Pep Meeting;
Managing Editor of Paper
Makes Appeal to Faculty.

INSTALLMENT PLAN USED

Rooms Going One Hundred Per Cent for Publications Get Both Copies for One Dollar.

Homespun, magazine of G. H. S., and High Life, school paper, have been the pivot of high school life for the week September 16-20. Subscription drives for the publications have been carried on by the entire student body.

Faculty Makes Subscriptions

On Monday, September 16, the teachers held a special meeting, a pep meeting for the drive. Ed Michaels, business manager of Homespun, talked to the faculty about subscriptions. Margaret Kernodle, managing editor of High Life, also made an appeal to the teachers. At this time the entire faculty subscribed.

Tuesday was session room day for the publications. Teachers and pupils urged every one to subscribe.

The chapel program on Wednesday had a skit, directed by J. H. Johnson, which was an additional appeal. Each staff participated in the stunt. Susan Gregory, editor of Homespun, was responsible for the skit.

Thursday session rooms were canvassed and the final check-up on the number of subscribers was made. There were indications of a one hundred per cent school when High Life went to press.

Publications Progress

This year the installment plan has been used. Students have paid 50 cents toward their publications and promised to pay the remainder, 50 cents, on October 15 when a week preceding that date will be devoted to collecting those fees.

All students of rooms going 100 per cent for the drive were able to get both publications for one dollar. Otherwise 50 cents for Homespun and 75 cents for High Life was the fee. Teachers paid for their publications in the same manner, one dollar if they taught one-hundred per cent students, one dollar and twenty-five cents otherwise.

This year teachers will receive their copies of High Life in their boxes just as they receive mail.

"Both High Life and Homespun will take great strides forward," says Miss Laura Tillett and Mrs. Alma G. Coltrane, if students have co-operated as an entire student body."

MR. PHILLIPS PLANS NEXT WEEK'S CHAPEL

Mr. C. W. Phillips has announced the chapel programs for the week of September 23-27. On Monday, September 23, the girls will have a meeting. It will be impossible to have any moving pictures yet as the machine has not arrived. On Tuesday the regular home room period will be observed by the session rooms. At this time each session room is supposed to have a program of their own. Wednesday is an open date as no speaker has asked for this appointment. Thursday activities will usurp the pupils' time. Friday is the regular date for class programs, and when the paper went to press no request for this period had been received.

At this time each room is supposed to have a program of their own.
