

VARIETY PROGRAMS TO BE OFFERED DURING CHAPEL

Several Have Been Given; Student Body Well Pleased With Them.

MRS. CANFIELD TO SPEAK

Original Music of the Theory and Harmony Class to Be Given Friday.

The program Friday was in charge of Joe Johnson. On that day a play was presented by Olga Kellum and Elizabeth Leake, students in Mr. Johnson's dramatic class. Those taking part in the play were Jane Crabtree, Billye Hobgood, and Katrine Smith. The play showed that the actresses and actor had practiced and they portrayed their parts well. It was enjoyed very much by the student body.

On Wednesday, March 19, Mrs. H. L. Canfield, of Greensboro, entertained the students during the chapel program with an interesting talk on "The Great Artists and Writers I Have Known." Since Mrs. Canfield has a personal acquaintance with many celebrities, her talk was very interesting.

On Wednesday the 26th, the high school will be the meeting place for many representatives of different girls' colleges. They will be here all that morning so any girl who wishes to find out about the college she is planning to go to, may see them any time that morning. The representatives will lunch in our cafeteria and that afternoon in chapel will address the girls only. The subjects of their talks will be their different schools.

The following Friday's program will be devoted to creative music. Mr. Miller, head of the music department and instructor in Theory and Harmony will have charge of the program. Since the organization of the Theory and Harmony class not long ago, the pupils have been working on original music. On Friday the chance to show what they have done will be given them. The band will play several original compositions that have been written by members of the Theory and Harmony class.

SPRING

Friday—Breathe in the warm spring breezes blowing from the southwest—spring—yes, it is spring for the robins are back and it is the twenty-first of March.

Saturday—It is turning warmer. The wind is coming from the northwest, but why worry; it is spring. There are clouds in the sky and it is lightning, but it is still spring. Happy spring. No more firing the furnace; no more heavy clothes. Only going to school and loafing—maybe.

Sunday—Spring. Br-r-r. Six inches of snow on the ground outside, and the thermometer shows sixteen degrees above zero. Spring? What a spring! About this time.

"Harry, build a fire in the furnace."
"Oh, go to.....bed."

Course we Juniors are jolly, an' I guesst we're rite. Any way, we ain't minding.

"Sweetest melodies
Are those that by distance made more sweet."

JUNIOR JABBER

Captain "Red" Goodwin and Letterman John Gunter of track, are both juniors.

Charlie Shaffer and Bill Wharton of baseball are juniors, too.

Fred Newnham, our good golfer, is also a junior.

Walter King, manager of track, and Harry Phillips, manager of basketball, are both juniors.

H. Ogburn, of football fame, is a junior.

There are many other juniors out for the athletic teams, so it is needless to mention that the juniors are conspicuous in the athletic program of G. H. S.

Don't think, however, that there is only brawn that is outstanding the junior class. Within our midst are also unusual examples of brain power. We juniors are duly proud of scholastic records made by some of our members.

So far, there are several juniors who have made the honor roll every month. They are Manie Leake Parsons, Angela Patterson, Frances Grantham.

Speaking of the honor roll, a good number of juniors made it last month. They are as follows: Wyatt McNairy, Alma Sneed, Margaret White, Ed Spence, Lynwood Burnette, Clary Holt, Ballard May, Bertha Roberts, Billy Edgerton, Merle Garrison, John Gunter, Manie L. Parsons, Margaret Smith, Ruby Blaylock, Frances Grantham, Angela Patterson, Harold Nicholson, Jack Ogburn, Ernest Scott, Christine Shepard, Jean Shaw, Frank Abernethy, Anna Atkinson, Winifred Penn, Eloise Taylor, Bill Venning, Elizabeth Buhman, Marjorie Boone, Jennie Harrison, David Morrish, Clayton Sneed, Helen Stack, Cynthia Pipkin, Roy Hicks, Harry Donnell.

Mack Heath, a junior, is sergeant-at-arms of the debating club.

Rigdon Dees and Bill Sullivan, both juniors, have Numbers 2 and 3 chairs of the clarinet section of the band.

Walter King, who is also a junior, has number 1 chair of the bassoon section in the band.

Hal Nicholson, second chair of the trumpet section of the band is a junior also.

"REVIEW" PUBLISHES HISTORY OF HOMESPUN

Susan Gregory was honored by having an article published on, "Co-ordination of Literary Material and Editorial Planning under One Theme" in the March issue of the School Press Review, published by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. This article deals with the history and execution of Homespun. Preceding this was a picture of the Homespun staff. The editor of the School Press Review requested that this particular article be written.

SPECIAL CLASS NEWS

Creative English Class
Miss Craig's Creative English class has chosen for its Spring project "Stories About Life in Durban." "Durban" is a city about the size of Greensboro. Each student creates a character giving him life and a personality. Free use of each others' characters is allowed.

Among the most efusing characters are: Mrs. Twinebine, a lady with social aspirations and who is forever and eternally referring to her ancestors; certain negroes who work in the pickle factory, which is located in Picklesburg, a suburb of Durham; the august and dignified hotel clerk who is involved in the most baffling murder mystery of the year; a struggling newspaper reporter who spends his time in writing, unpublished, the life stories of certain inhabitants.

Sociology Class
The sociology class of Greensboro High School is planning to go to Raleigh the first or second Thursday in April, these days being the third and tenth. Each student who takes sociology has the privilege to go, and will be excused from school. Miss Mary B. Paris, the teacher, will go with the students. While they are in Raleigh, they will visit the prison and other interesting places.

Art Classes
The work of Miss Lee's art classes for last semester and the present semester have been outstanding in many ways.

According to Miss Lee, the pupils reveal a great tendency toward landscape painting, sketching, and portrait renderings. Several cover designs for "Homespun" have been submitted by members of these classes. Effective decoration work has been exhibited at banquets and other school socials. Special attention has been given to the exhibiting of attractive work in the administration.

Miss Lee says that members of these art classes have also shown an interest in art contests. The participation in the Carolina Theatre's poster contest, in which several students won tickets, was large. This month several textile designs, made by student, have been sent for competition in an international scholastic contest.

Miss Lee entertains hopes for even better art work in future for the Senior High School.

Chemistry Class Makes Tour

The third period class of W. H. Blair made a tour of the local gas plant at their regular class period last Monday. The trip is the culmination of a study of illuminating and water gases.

The class observed the first phase of the preparation of illuminating gases by destructive distillation of coal. Here the firemen won the admiration of the students by their shoveling of the coal. The instructor conducted the class to every part of the plant, even to the bad-smelling tar well.

In the water gas plant almost everyone took a "scare" when the top of a furnace was opened, followed by an explosion, particularly noisy.

Finally, the class decided the plant was operated satisfactorily.

JUNIORS ARRANGE PLANS FOR ANNUAL BANQUET

Rigdon Dees, Mack Heath, John Gunter, and Anna Wills Are Class Officers.

APPOINT SPECIAL COMMITTEES

The junior class is now moving forward rapidly with plans for the next junior-senior. This event, probably the most outstanding social event of this semester, will be held sometime in the latter part of this semester.

At a class meeting sometime ago, it was decided that Rigdon Dees should remain president from the past semester. The other officers that were elected were Mack Heath, vice-president, and chairman of the junior-senior; Anna Wills, secretary; and John Gunter, treasurer.

An executive committee, composed of the class officers and at least one representative from each session room, has met several times with Miss Tillett making plans.

The committees are: arrangement, Katherine Williams, chairman; Polly Moore, Charles Shaffer and Abbott Whitney; program, Anna Wills, chairman, Mary Phillips, Annie Starr Burch, Manie Leake Parsons, and Edwin Holt; decoration, Susanne Ketchum, chairman, Grace Hobbs, Shelby Fitzgerald, Frank Causey, and Lynwood Burnett; transportation, Angela Patterson, chairman, Elizabeth Leftwich, Clary Holt, and John Nutt; finance, John Gunter, chairman, Billy Edgerton, Frances Grantham, and Evelyn Garrett.

ALUMNI NEWS

Theron Brown, '27, who is attending the University, was a visitor last Saturday to the track team during its practice. Brown gave the weight men many valuable points and also helped the pole vaulters and broadjumpers.

Theron has a good athletic record at the University. He is a good broad jumper, placing third against the pick of the Southern Conference which includes Ed Hamm, the world champion. He also puts the shot, throws the discus and javelin. Aside from this he is a good end on the football team and the coaches are looking forward to him to strengthen the team next year. Nice work, Theron, keep it up.

Dr. Sam Shaffer, '21, brother of Charlie, has a college record that any man could be proud of. He was a Phi Beta Kappa at Carolina and stood high in the regard of his friends.

Graduating from there with honors, and an A. B. degree, he entered the University of Maryland. Here he was elected president of his class during his sophomore, junior, and senior years. He was presented with a gold medal at the graduation for his good work while there. His average for his four years was the highest of his class. He received this D. D. S. degree and now he is practicing dentistry in this city.

So, Charlie, you will have to step long and often to follow in your brother's steps.

J. D. McNairy, '27, is in the city for spring holidays. J. D. is well remembered for his outstanding work in the literary activities of this school.

"Youth Must Be Served" Even in Life Insurance

Time was when few people insured their lives until they began to assume the responsibilities of the breadwinner. Then came the realization that the purchase of life insurance at younger ages meant a reduction in the premiums paid.

Now it is possible for children to secure the benefits of life protection at remarkably low rates.

And when the time arrives when they too assume the responsibilities of a breadwinner, that early an investment may prove the foundation-stone for their own financial structure.
