

NEW EQUIPMENT INSTALLED DURING SUMMER MONTHS

Chemistry Receives Its Portion; Typing, English, History, Math Depts. Participate.

ORGANIZE NEW CLASSES

Heavy Enrollment In Some Classes Make Changes Necessary.

Science: Some new equipment has been installed during the summer and the chemistry laboratory is now ready for use.

Latin: The Latin seven and eight classes are meeting together this semester because of the light enrollment in both groups.

Typing: Some of the typewriters that have been used for the last few years have been exchanged for new ones.

English: Because of heavy enrollment in the English seven classes it has been made necessary for Miss Tillett to drop her class in Shakespeare and teach another English seven.

Creative English: A Creative English two class has been offered for the first time this year.

History: The teachers of the history department miss Miss Paris more and more as the enrollment of the history classes increases.

Mathematics: The elective courses in mathematics seem surprisingly popular, with an average enrollment well over thirty.

Journalism: The publication room has been given two new typewriters.

HOMESPUN STAFF MEETS TO DISCUSS 1930 THEME

Staff Takes Opportunity to Think Over Suggestions to be Carried Out This Fall.

TRAVEL MOST FAVORABLE TOPIC

The new Homespun staff met at the end of school in June to discuss a theme for the 1930-31 Homespun.

Perhaps the most favorable of the suggestions given last spring was the idea of travel as a theme.

An obvious objection appears, however, in the fact that in contests where Homespun is entered each year the magazine is marked down if the students try to write things they know nothing about.

PRACTICAL PRINTING GIVEN AT JUNIOR HIGH

E. P. Earl, Jr. Teaches Boys to Use New Equipment—May Print School Papers.

Among the industrial arts being introduced into the city schools is practical printing, which will be given at the Central junior high school this year.

There has been a great deal of printing equipment installed in the junior high school and the boys and Mr. Earl, who has had five years' experience in this work, will probably print the majority of the school papers.

No definite plans have been made by J. H. Johnson, concerning his dramatics club and Golden Maskers, however, he expects to offer Greensboro high school something new and interesting.

Goes Abroad

EMMA WHITE CARLTON

HIGH SCHOOL GIRL GOES TO EUROPE

Emma White Carlton Goes to Continent by Way of Iceland.

FINDS TRIP ENJOYABLE

Emma White Carlton, student of Greensboro high school, sailed June 10, from Montreal, Canada to Reykjavik, Iceland.

In Iceland she found that all the houses were made of sheet iron. What was also surprising was the fact that there were no Bakshins there, and owing to the gulf stream, the climate was very mild.

While in Iceland, Emma White says Mr. Hector.

From Iceland she went to Switzerland, and then on to Liverpool and London. It was here that she saw Gladys Cooper, famous English actress, play "Cynara" in her own theatre.

From Holland she went to Brussels and then on to Germany.

Leaving Munich, Emma White went to Oberammergau, and then on to Heidelberg.

Next she went to Geneva, Italy, where she saw the statue of Columbus. On the whole Emma White liked Italy more than any other country she visited, because of its artistic and historic background.

From Italy she went to Nice, France, and then for a trip on the Mediterranean. Next she went to Monte Carlo where she gambled and lost six dollars.

She next went to Paris where she spent a week. And on August the eighth, Emma White left Cherbourg for home.

MRS. COLTRANE HAS ARTICLE IN MAGAZINE

High Life Adviser Author of Essay Appearing in Late Issue of "The North Carolina Teacher."

TEACHING LITERATURE SUBJECT

Mrs. Alma G. Coltrane, a teacher of English and journalism in the Greensboro high school, and also adviser of "High Life" has had an article of hers appear in the September issue of "The North Carolina Teacher."

In the article Mrs. Coltrane stressed the fact that literature should be taught from the heart side rather than from the fact side.

Some other pointers she gave on teaching literature were these: first, lead the child to see, that is awaken the imagination to alertness and intelligent activity; second, to feel, for beauty is not merely seen, but inspired; another, the teacher should attach importance to the spontaneous instincts and impulses; and also, allow the child to assert himself and work out his own result.

This is only a brief summary of the beginning of Mrs. Coltrane's manuscript, for she went much further into detail, occasionally quoting a well known author and explaining her view of the question.

New Teachers

Miss Audrey Joyner, bookkeeping. Miss Sara Dobson, manager of cafeteria and head of home economics department. Miss Althea Aderholt, assistant librarian. G. F. Cobb, manual training. Herbert Fox, history and athletics.

NEW TYPE OPERA PLANNED THIS YEAR

The Music Department Will Present "Chimes of Normandy" by Planquette.

NEW MATERIAL NEEDED

For the first time in four years, Greensboro high school's music department will not present a Gilbert and Sullivan opera, but one, "The Chimes of Normandy," by Planquette.

When interviewed H. Grady Miller, who continues to serve as head of music in the Greensboro city schools, stated that he intends to liberally comb the school for new materials.

While Mr. Miller was in New York this summer, he not only went to summer school at Columbia university, but attended many musical shows, where he says he secured many new and excellent ideas as to the staging of his operas.

There will be no change in Mr. Miller's class schedules. They remain at the same periods except the theory and harmony class will come at the sixth period.

STUDENTS HOLD CHAPEL FOR FIRST TIME WED.

C. W. Phillips Talks On Staying Power—Quotes Bruce Barton On His Advice to Graduates.

EXPLAINS NEW ARRANGEMENT

Chapel was held for the first time this week, Wednesday morning in the Greensboro high school auditorium, when C. W. Phillips, principal spoke to more than 1,000 students.

After the announcements, Mr. Phillips read a passage from the Bible, Matthew 25:14-30. He then quoted Bruce Barton's theory of "Staying Power." He said that the reasons that some young people are walking the streets now is that they have no staying power.

Mr. Phillips mentioned some of the prominent men of today — those that had made good in the world. Their reason for this was that they had staying power. He said that Henry Ford was patient until he had made good. Booth Tarkington worked on his manuscripts five years before any publishers accepted any of his manuscripts.

All of these succeeded on account of having staying power. In closing Mr. Phillips called the students to learn to use judgment if they didn't learn anything else in high school.

New arrangements of the chapel program were explained by Mr. Phillips.

SENIOR HIGH TEACHERS CALLED TO MEETINGS

Discuss Plans for Coming Year. C. W. Phillips Makes Assignments

Majority of the time in Greensboro senior high school last week was spent in teachers' meetings. On Tuesday afternoon C. W. Phillips called a meeting of the heads of the departments and those teachers that have been assigned to the new sophomore group.

G. H. S. ADDS NEW INDUSTRIAL COURSE TO FALL SCHEDULE

Mechanical Drawing Program Is Under Direction of C. L. Mills.

INSTALL NEW EQUIPMENT

Work is Extended to Negro Schools: Heavy Enrollment is Expected.

For the purpose of giving school children something practical and for the benefit of that large group which is not able to go far with an education, the industrial education program, under the direction of C. S. Mills, is being expanded in the Greensboro city schools.

This program was started in the city schools last year in the junior high school and is growing larger this year by extension into the senior high school and by having more teachers for this work.

Q. E. Mathis and E. P. Earl, Jr., of Clemson College, S. C., will be at Central junior high school. Carl C. Julian, a post-graduate of Carolina university, is to have the entire work in manual training at the J. Van Lindley school.

A complete equipment of woodwork machinery and mechanical drawing will be continued on a five-hour-per-week program at the senior high school. Not only is this program being expanded in the white schools but also in the negro schools.

This program is not only being used in the day schools, but in order that the public schools of the city may serve every person in Greensboro who wishes to secure a vocational education or general training at night, arrangements have been made for expanded night school program during the fall and winter terms.

Classes will begin the first Monday in October, and will continue every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday evening, with additional classes whenever practicable at the junior high school building and the senior high school.

Each of the extra-curricular activities at the senior high school is to have this year as in the past, one or more faculty advisers. Each teacher is assigned to one activity, as a guide and aid.

The following members of the faculty will advise the specified activity. Scholarship: Ione Grogan, F. S. Mitchell, Dorothy McNairy, Cassie Braswell, Mrs. Julia Potts Strickland; chapel: H. Grady Miller, A. P. Routh, J. H. Johnson, Lily Walker, Sara Lesley; morning devotional: Mrs. Nellie Dry Blackburn, Byron A. Haworth; finance and supply shop: A. P. Routh; student council: to be supplied; dramatics: J. H. Johnson, Virginia Hollingsworth, Katherine Jones, Mrs. William Smith, Henri Etto Lee, Billie Blair; publications, Homespun: Laura A. Tillett, Marjorie Craig, Henri Etto Lee, Lily Walker; Health: Mrs. Alma G. Coltrane, Katherine Pike, Byron A. Haworth; Girl Reserves: Julia Searey, Pauline Sawyer; Girls' Athletics: Camille Brinkley, Audrey Joyner, Lena Bullard, Katherine Jones, Mary Morrow, Mrs. Zoe Togette; boys' athletics: Lester Belding, A. P. Routh, Herbert Fox, J. S. Johnson, G. P. Cobb.

PLANT AND ANIMAL COLLECTION PLANNED

A biological survey is the project which has been planned for the nature study class this year, which is taught by Miss Nellie Dry Blackburn.

Only species of flowers, that are in walking distance of Senior High will be used. The nature study class is of medium size and Miss Dry is expecting big things from them.

Vacations In Europe

MISS RENA COLE

TEACHER SPENDS SUMMER ABROAD

Miss Cole, English Teacher Here, Takes Her Vacation In Europe.

SEES INTERESTING SIGHTS

Miss Rena Cole, high school English teacher, spent her vacation period in a very interesting and educational manner, traveling extensively in Europe.

Later in the same month Miss Cole visited London where she twice saw the king and queen.

In Heidelberg, Germany, she witnessed the great celebration of the evacuation of the French occupation troops from Germany. This was one of the biggest celebrations of the year.

On the fourth of July, while in Berlin, Germany, Miss Cole must have gotten a thrill when her ice cream was served with an American flag in it.

Miss Cole says that the French that she learned in school was a big help in France and also in Italy. She lost her way in an Italian city about half an hour before her party was ready to leave.

At the time of the earthquake, Miss Cole was in Naples, Italy, but she said she didn't feel the shock.

She landed in New York, August 18th.

SENIOR HIGH FACULTY PRESENT AT BANQUET

Torchlight Members and Students Serve At a Series of Entertainments.

TEACHERS MAKE ARRANGEMENTS

The faculty of Greensboro senior high school was entertained at a banquet in the high school cafeteria Wednesday evening of last week with members of the Torchlight society serving.

On Thursday evening a similar banquet was held for the faculty with students again rendering their services; these were: Pat Knight, Martha Martin, Martha Burnside, Margaret White, Elizabeth Yates, Gladys Betts, Frances Jones, Anna Wills, Suzanne Ketchum, Anna Atkinson, Marguerite Ahman, Annie Laurie Forder, Kate Wilkins, Rebecca Sturpe, and Clara Applewhite.

The students who served at the banquet on Friday evening for the teachers were Annie Leake Parsons, Sara Burnside, Katherine Williams, Sara Scott Moore, Jennie Harrison, Dorothy Hodela, Suzanne Ketchum, Dorothy Hines, Anna Sharpe, Kate Wilkins, Mary Rucker, Mary Hearnie Mifflin, Sarah Hardin, Gladys Betts, and Mildred Sellars.

At each banquet Kate Wilkins, who is president of the Girls' Council, was in charge of the girls who served.

Miss Sarah Dobson arranged the menu, and Mrs. Nellie Blackburn had charge of the decorations.

The long-looked-for moving picture machine has at last arrived. It is in the city and will be installed in the Greensboro Senior high school as soon as possible.

Many Changes In Schedule This Fall At Senior High

EDWIN HOLT HEADS SENIOR DEBATERS

Number of Members Makes Second Club Organization Necessary; 100 Enrolled.

INITIAL MEETING TODAY

Greensboro high school's debating club, under the direction of their president, Edwin Holt, is at present working out a definite program for this year.

Many experienced debaters are expected from the junior high schools which will necessitate the organization of another club. The total enrollment into 100, which is quite an increase in both clubs is expected to be approved last year.

The general outline for this year is first, to make the debates and discussion within the clubs as interesting as possible. Second, to inaugurate intramural debates between session rooms and the different classes; and third, to have inter-scholastic debates with other schools.

James A. Farthing, debating coach, says his aim is to have four inter-scholastic debates this semester and four next semester.

The first meeting of the debating club will be held this afternoon when definite plans will be started to take care of the new members of the sophomore group.

A social will be held soon so that the members may become better acquainted.

PRESS ASSOCIATION HELD AT W. AND L. UNIVERSITY

Largest Football Game on Card to be On the Second Day of Meeting.

OCTOBER 10-11 IS SCHEDULED

The Southern International Press Association convention held every spring at the Washington and Lee university in Lexington, Va., will be changed this year to October 10 and 11.

William L. Maple, head of Journalism department will have charge of the program as he has done for the past several years.

Teachers who are chaperoning the boy visitors to the convention will be entertained in the homes of the faculty. The boys will find entertainment in the fraternity houses as usual.

CARVER SPENDS SUMMER AT PENNSYLVANIA CLUB

Will Go to California for Olympic Swimming Meet in 1932. Won Regatta in Washington.

TAUGHT SWIMMING AT MONTROSE

Emory Carver, present sophomore at G. H. S., spent his summer in Philadelphia, Scranton and Detroit, attending swimming meets.

In Philadelphia, he stayed at the Pennsylvania Athletic club where he trained until July 4. He entered the Middle Atlantic Championship in Scranton, where he won the 50- and 100-yard dash, receiving a medal as a reward.

Having accomplished this he left to teach swimming at a camp near Montrose, Pennsylvania. At the end of the camp session, he entered the Big Regatta and won a cup in Washington he entered the regatta and won also.

He will return to Philadelphia Christmas and later compete for the national championship, which will take place in Detroit.

He expects to go to California in 1932 to enter the Olympic Swimming meet.

SEVEN PERIODS

Chapel Held Once a Week, Wednesday; Chapel Committee Headed by C. W. Phillips.

INAUGURATE DEVOTIONAL

Many changes have been made in the schedules at Greensboro high school for this year, one being in the chapel programs. Instead of having chapel three times a week, it will come only once a week on Wednesday between 11:10 and 11:55 o'clock.

The chapel committee, which will work with C. W. Phillips, is composed of Miss Lily Walker, Miss Sara Lewis, H. Grady Miller, A. P. Routh, and J. H. Johnson. Program details have not been made, but it is probable that once a month a program will be given by the student council, one in charge of Mr. Phillips, one by an outside speaker, and another an entertainment feature.

Not a change but something new is the devotional program, which is being introduced into Greensboro high school this year. This will take place every Monday morning in the first ten minutes of the first period.

There will be three half hour lunch periods this year. The first group of students will go to lunch from 11:55 to 12:25 and then they will return to class, 12:25 to 1:25.

Activities period will come on Friday afternoon by shortening the last three periods.

369 SOPHOMORES ENTER FROM JUNIOR HIGHS

Sophomores Assigned to Science Building to Permit Closer Supervision by Teachers.

TOTAL SCHOOL POPULATION 1,197

Out of the 1,197 pupils which composes the student body of Greensboro senior high school, 369 are new comers — those from junior high schools — who will all be placed in the Science building, where they will be under a more close supervision by those teachers to whom they are assigned.

As many classes as possible will be held in the science building. The students in this building are hoping to have a special dramatic club, a separate journalism club, a separate debating club, etc., aside from their regular classes.

Out of their extra-curricular activities, the best will be chosen to use in the older groups of the school. This large group of sophomores come to Greensboro high school with a new and good reputation are expected to make a good record for themselves.

A study of senior high school enrollment are new in the city system and about fifty more are expected to be enrolled in less than a week.

The sophomores went to chapel for the first time on Tuesday where they heard a speech delivered by Charles Hagan, president of the Student Body.

Only Four Torchlight Members

There are only four members left in the Torchlight society this year who are Clara Applewhite, president; Kate Wilkins, secretary; Annie Laura Forder, and Harold Steed, however Harold has not returned to school yet.

The last tapping ceremony was held at the beginning of last semester in chapel.

The tapping of the members is most impressive. The old members who are robed in white march to the front of the auditorium, onto the stage, and give the requirements of a member — scholarship, leadership, character and service. After this they go into the audience and each taps his man.
