

Mary Power Frazier Has Lead Role in "The Patsy"

PLAY IS MODERN

New Committees Are Named for Technical and Stage Work.

RENAME PUBLICITY HEAD

Stage Crew Is Busily Engaged in Work of Repainting and Repairing Settings and Properties.

Miss Lottie Wall, director of the Playmasters, today announced that Mary Power Frazier will have the leading role in the dramatic organization's new spring play, "The Patsy," by Barry Connors.

Though not appearing in the cast of any of the previous productions, Mary Power has been active in the technical department of several of the successful presentations of the club.

The other leading role, that of Tony Anderson, will be portrayed by George Gibbs, also a newcomer to G. H. S. playgoers. The supporting cast will consist of Frank Barrett, as Mr. Harrington; Virginia Klages, as Mrs. Harrington; Jane Stafford, as Grace Harrington, elder sister of "The Patsy"; George Miles, as Billy Caldwell, Grace's rich beau; Elizabeth Deaton, as Sadie; and Andrew Goodwin, as the taxi driver.

The following committees have been named to have charge of properties, scenery, and publicity: Property mistress, Eloise Woods; assistants, Jane Fyson, Elsie Moore; publicity chairman, Ann Chisholm; assistants, Elizabeth Deaton and Jack Ginsberg; prompter, Virginia Vache; and house manager, Tom Wilkinson.

The make-up will be under the supervision of Miss Lottie Burnsides, Miss Margaret Sockwell, and Rhea Gaynelle Sikes.

The stage crew, consisting of Charles Bennett, Barnelle Earnhardt, Jack Behrman, and Ed Grosse, has repainted and repaired the sets to be used in "The Patsy."

A LA GUILLOTINE

Knit one—purl two—crash—23, and another victim of the guillotine joins the ranks of the countless thousands who have trod that bloody path before him. This is the picture that flashes before a person's mind as he watches Miss Caldwell's miniature guillotine in operation.

This model, which was made by one of her former English 6 students, while studying the "Tale of Two Cities," is very realistic, even to the small steps leading upward to the platform. On the platform are found two pieces of metal which fit around the prisoner's neck, much in the manner of the old-fashioned stocks used in Puritan times.

The blade of this "death machine" consists of a sharp-edged piece of steel attached to a cord which enables the operator to move it up and down. This blade, which is spattered with red paint for realism, descends rapidly, and, if you don't believe it has cutting power, ask Miss Caldwell.

Teachers Attend Meeting

Miss Lesley and Miss Pike, of G. H. S., and Miss Cynthia Reeves, of Irving Park school, represented Greensboro at a recent meeting of the Executive Board of State Classroom teachers, at Durham, N. C. Miss Morrow, who is president of this district, was unable to attend the meeting. Therefore, Miss Pike substituted for her.

Did You Know...

That when you enlist in a college army, seniors, your freshman grades are forwarded back to the high school you left behind?

'Tis true -- first-hand information, too!

Approximately 100 records have already been received in the office, and Mr. Routh reports, not mentioning any names of course, that most of our G. H. S. alumni are doing s-well.

"EASTER PARADE" PLANNED BY CLUB

Belk's Department Store Lends Dresses for Parade on April 7 and 8.

MODELS CHOSEN BY CLUB

The Commercial club's fashion show, "The Easter Parade," will be held at the National theater April 7 and 8, at 9 o'clock. The parade is being given in conjunction with Belk's department store, which is furnishing all of the clothes, many of which will be special orders from New York.

From the 50 girls who tried out Monday afternoon, the following were selected to model: Frances Noah, Sue Wimbish, Annis Hines, Ruth Mooney, Helen Ownby, Ruth Strickland, Minnie Lyon, Ann Hayes, Marty Cockfield, Catherine Paris, Susie Gorrell, Rachel Miles, Carolyn Ballow, Jean Holt, Adelaide Hendricks, Virginia Sawyer, Jane Webb, Ruth Roneche, Lottie Kivett, Millicent Armfield, Marjorie Hinshaw, Louise Hinshaw, Louise Linberry, Dorothy Bobbitt, and Claire Hyman.

A group of teachers, whose names will not be revealed until the night of the show, have also been chosen to model.

The Commercial club will initiate its 25 new members at the Elk's club tonight. The program, which is being planned by a special committee, will consist of games and refreshments.

HISTORY CLASS HEARS TALK BY J. CORNETTE

Tells of Experiences in Germany and Describes Customs and Social Conditions Existing There.

James Cornette, a graduate of this school and a senior at Guilford college, spoke March 2 to Mrs. Blanche Smith's History 8 class. His subject was Nazi Germany. Having received a year's scholarship at the University of Munich, he told the students of the many adventures he encountered while studying in Germany.

James Cornette stayed in a German home near the University, although he spent most of his leisure time bicycling in the country, becoming acquainted with the German customs. He was greatly impressed by the numerous military parades given almost daily. The Jews, most of whom are merchants in Munich, did not seem unhappy, but they did stay in their homes during the parades and other German exhibitions. He failed to visit a concentration camp, since there was not one near Munich.

After his talk, he answered the questions that the students asked him about the conditions in Germany under the Nazi reign.

TORCHLIGHT TAPS TWENTY-SEVEN NEW MEMBERS

Excitement Reigns as Solemn Figures Pass on the Torch to Outstanding Seniors.

IS SURPRISE TO STUDENTS

Twenty-six old members of Torchlight, the national honorary society, employed the age-old trick of "pulling the wool" over the eyes of the student body when they moved the date for the tapping ceremony to Wednesday morning instead of Thursday, as had been previously announced.

As the white-clad figures moved slowly down the chapel aisles, a state of suppressed excitement existed among the heretofore unsuspecting students; and the number of lucky lads and lassies totaled 27; 9 from semester 7, and 18 from the group of graduating seniors.

Those students selected by both the student body and faculty members for their outstanding qualifications in scholarship, leadership, service, and character, are as follows:

Semester 8—Charles Bennett, Jean Berbert, Paul Carruthers, Edna Caviness, Myrtle Davis, Barnelle Earnhardt, Richard Fritz, Sara Geringer, Bill Hemphill, J. R. Holsouser, Joan Hunt, Louise Linberry, Elizabeth Holt, Ruth Mooney, Stokes Rawlins, Miriam Sewell, Doris Sharpe, and Jean Welborn.

Semester 7—David Cates, Lib Deaton, Wileman Ehley, Ed Grosse, Gray Mills High, Hobart McKeever, Jesse Osborne, Becky Taylor, and James Wolfe.

JAMES MITCHELL MADE STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Is Appointed by Marty Cockfield to Take Pictures for School Newspaper.

James Mitchell, a senior and a member of the photography class, has recently been appointed staff photographer of High Life, by Marty Cockfield, editor-in-chief. James, who began his career as a photographer several years ago when he was awarded a Boy Scout merit badge in photography, has to his credit the pictures appearing in the special magazine campaign issue of High Life, as well as the action scene of the Creative English class, which was in the March 11 issue. He also made the picture of the triangular debaters appearing in this edition.

Although James has not taken his work into professional fields, he has done a good deal of school photography, and his work equals that of many professionals.

Mr. Nicholson Heads Trip To Tenn.; Taking Five Boys

"Follow the cross of the gypsy trail, Over the world and back."

—sang Kipling 50 years ago; and even today this command seems true, according to Mr. W. S. Nicholson, mathematics teacher and faculty adviser of the traffic squad. Mr. Nicholson is planning to take five boys, selected from G. H. S. student body, across the Blue Ridge and Smoky mountains into East Tennessee. These boys will "rough" it, having their own cooking to do. During bad weather, they will prepare their own shelters.

New N. C. E. A. President

Pictured above is Mr. B. L. Smith, who was recently elected to succeed Dr. W. C. Jackson as president of the N. C. E. A.

BEN L. SMITH HEADS EDUCATORS OF N. C.

Pike and Mitchell Elected Vice-President of Their Own Groups.

HIGHSMITH IS HONORED

Although he was unable to attend the annual meeting of the North Carolina Education association last weekend because of illness, Mr. Ben L. Smith, superintendent of the Greensboro city schools, was elected president of the association. Mr. Smith, who was vice-president this year, succeeds Dr. W. C. Jackson, of Woman's college. It is customary for the vice-president to be elected president for the following year.

Other officers elected were: vice-president, Dr. J. Henry Highsmith, of the state department of public instruction, and secretary-treasurer, Mr. Jule B. Warren, of Raleigh.

Two G. H. S. teachers were elected to offices in their own groups. Miss Estelle Mitchell was made vice-president of the modern language teachers, and Miss Cathleen Pike vice-president of the English teachers.

GOVERNOR HOEY FAVORS TWELFTH GRADE PLAN

Governor Clyde R. Hoey stamped his approval upon the proposed twelfth grade for the state public schools in an address before the teachers at the N. C. E. A. meeting in Raleigh last week.

Citing the success attained by the Charlotte high school in adding the twelfth year, Governor Hoey urged a similar movement among the remaining schools now without this extra grade.

DR. G. I. GREER TO BE SPEAKER FOR COLLEGE PROGRAM

Baptist Orphanage President Will Speak on Advantages of Going to College.

PLANS NEAR COMPLETION

Dr. I. R. Greer, president of the State Baptist Orphanages, has been secured as speaker for the annual College Day program to be held on April 8, according to an announcement made by Willa Jean Hayes, student chairman of arrangements. Dr. Greer will speak on some phase of the advantages of going to college.

Approximately 45 colleges have been invited to send delegates, most of which have accepted. They are as follows: Agnes Scott, Appalachian, Catawba, Carolina, Citadel, Davidson, Duke, Elon, Flora Macdonald, Greensboro, Guilford, High Point, Hollins, Meredith, Oak Ridge, Queens-Chicora, St. Mary's, Salem, State, Sweet Briar, Wake Forest, W. C. U. N. C., V. M. I., Brevard, Lees-McRae, Mars Hill, Lenoir-Rhyne, William and Mary, Converse, Farmville (State Teachers), Mary Baldwin, Randolph-Macon, E. C. T. C., Bowling Green, Ward Belmont, Winthrop, Goucher, Peace, Riverside, Sullins, V. P. L. King's Business college, McClung's Business college, and Gate City Business college.

The program for the day will be similar to that of last year. The representatives will be introduced to the student body in chapel, after which seniors will have conferences with the delegates in the gym, where Mark Attwater, Richard Fritz, Susannah Wimbish, and Willa Jean Hayes will be in charge. After lunch, juniors and sophomores will have conferences. Members of Torchlight honorary society will serve as hosts to the delegates.

A luncheon for the guests will be served in the Home Economics department at 12:30 o'clock, with Miss Bradley and her advanced Home Economics students in charge. Shirley Weaver is working with Miss Bradley on these plans.

Miss Lee and her art classes will be in charge of all art work, including place cards for the table, and identification labels. James Dodson is student chairman of the art work.

HOMESPUN DISCUSSED AT QUILL AND SCROLL MEET

Miss Pike, Club Adviser, Was in Charge of Program; Copies of Homespun Are Used as Examples.

The program of the last Quill and Scroll meeting was on Homespun, former school magazine. Miss Pike, who was one of the faculty advisers for Homespun when it was in its glory, was in charge of the program. She explained some of the ways and means used in the management, makeup, etc., of the magazine. A number of the best copies of Homespun were used as illustrations and selections were read from them by members of the society.

New Senior Home Room Formed

The officers of room 317, the new senior session room, are as follows: Doris Davenport, president; Charles Hipp, vice-president; and Sam Allred, secretary and treasurer.

Passing grades for the past six weeks' work promoted 38 students to second semester seniors, thus making a total of eight senior rooms and 297 graduating seniors.
