WOLFE AND McKEEVER HEAD TICKET

WEBB, GROSSE, AND ALTVATER, TO SEEK VICE - PRESIDENCY

Remaining Student Body Nominees Indicate Warm Fight for Each Position.

Two outstanding members of the student body were presented in chapel this morning as candidates for president of the school next year. They were James Wolfe, popular athlete and member of the present student council and Hobert McKeever, vice-president of the session room council and a member of the wrestling team. Both of these candidates have achieved recognition in the school, and this year's election promises to be a close race when the voters go to the poles on May 20.

Jane Webb, Ed Grosse, and Mark Altvater are racing to win the coveted office of vice-president which will mean that the winner will automatically become president of the session room council.

The secretaryship is being sought by Ann Schenck and Elizabeth Deaton, while Paul Pearson, Jack Behrman, and Witeman Ehly are running for treasurer.

Ann Chisholm, Jane Murray, and Ruth Reid King are seeking the office of cheerleader.

A complete list of candidates for semester offices are as follows:

DR. KNEECE LECTURES TO SENIOR HIGH CLASS

Dr. B. E. Kneece lectured recently to his sister's history 7 class, about the Panama Canal, where he is stationed as a major in the health department of the United States army. Miss Kneece's class has just completed a unit of history of the Canal Zone. The main points of the lecture dealt with the American colony, the government, the political situation, and the customs and home life in Central America.

It is interesting to note that a former Greensboro girl, Mrs. George Howard (Adelaide Van Noppen), is living in the same apartment house that the Kneeces occupy. Dr. Howard is assistant superintendent of schools for the Canal Zone.

THEY HEAD ELECTIONS

MISS BRADLEY'S OFF AGAIN

Wahoo-oo!

Miss Bradley is on the warpath, but not what you think. She has started a collection of Indian relics (no scalps, we hope) and already has the glass case in room 15 well-filled.

These colorful objects have "halled" from all over North Carolina and an Indian braye, a squaw, and a strawman stand guard over a shelf full of hand-woven textiles—one of the latter, by the way, boasts its weave from a loom over 100 years old.

So take our advice and notice this Don't not to do:

While passing room 15, don't yell, "Wahoo" unless you have something worthy of Miss Bradley's collection—'cause she'll get you, if you don't watch out!

GILLESPIE GLEE CLUB SINGS ON PROGRAM

Excursion Club Gives Skit on Trip to Raleigh; Relates Facts of Interest.

The Gillespie Park glee club, under the direction of Miss Eula Tuttle, will present a radio program May 18.

Last Wednesday the Excursion club gave a skit of its trip to Raleigh. In the playlet the students gave a glimpse of their trip, on which they learned many new facts and visited interesting places.

TREE PLANTED IN MEMORY OF TEACHER

In memory of Mr. Garland Ruble, printing teacher who died last fall, a tree was planted at Central Junior High school recently. The memorial service, of which the C. J. H. S. student council had charge, consisted of an address by Mr. B. L. Smith, a prayer led by Rev. J. A. Vache, and a short talk by Mr. H. A. Helms, accepting the tree for the school.

PRINCIPAL PRESENTED PAINTING OF G. H. S.

Mr. Routh was pleasantly surprised this morning to receive an easel presenting G. H. S. in all its impressive splendor painted by James Dodson, one of the most talented seniors in the June class. James had been working on the masterpiece since April 5, and has produced something that will make him remembered by G. H. S. students in future years.

HALF-HOLIDAY RESULT OF GOOD ATTENDANCE

Mrs. Braswell's Room Leads School With Average of 98.27 Per Cent For Last School Month.

The senior session rooms topped the list this month with the highest attendance average in the school. As a result a half holiday is being observed today so that a large crowd may attend the state championship baseball game at Chapel Hill.

Rooms averaging 95 per cent or better, together with the percentages of each, are as follows:

Mrs. Braswell, 98.27; Miss Moser, 97.3; Miss Burnside, 97.07; Miss Lee, 96.5; Miss McNairy, 96.5; Miss Sockwell, 96.5; Miss Stedman, 96.44; Miss Morrow, 96.2; Mrs. Le Gwin, 95.8; Miss Bradley, 95.62; Miss Sledge, 95.6; Miss Mims, 95.50; Miss Garnett, 95.48; Miss Caldwell, 95.4; Miss Harbison, 95.29; Mrs. Fowler, 95.28; and Misses Mitchell and Lesley, 95.

BIBLE CLASS PRESENTS TEMPERANCE CONTEST

In an effort to teach future citizens the evils of intemperance while they are young, the Ireland Bible class of the West Market Street Methodist church is sponsoring a poster contest on "Temperance." One group of posters will show the effects of the improper use of fruits and grains, while another will depict results of their proper use.

A cash prize of $1 will be awarded for the best poster from each school. These posters will then be judged on a city-wide basis. The first and second winners will receive $3 and $2, respectively.

Price Explains Choice Of Vocation to Students

GIANTS PAY OFF TO VICTORIOUS YANKEES

"S-a-y, that simply is not done," I announced in my best superior manner. "Why whoever heard of playing off the world series in May? And besides, when it is played off the Yankees and the Giants won't be in it. Why everyone knows it's a clear cut case between—"

"What? The Yankees and the Giants are two rival teams in Miss Coloon's second period shorthand? And the Yankees, led by Marie Coe, beat Helen York's Giants by having fewer mistakes? Well, what's the difference? Oh! So the Giants had to treat the Yankees to a fudgesicle and cake party recently? Well, why didn't you say so in the first place?"

RAWLINS WINS LOCAL HONORS IN CONTEST

Stokes Rawlins, Carl Compton Have Best Papers in State Competition.

Greensboro Senior High has sent the paper of Stokes Rawlins to Chapel Hill to be judged in the finals of the state math contest. The test, which was conducted all over North Carolina a fortnight ago, was given to 30 G. H. S. juniors and seniors, and the highest papers from each school have been sent to Chapel Hill.

Stokes, who is a senior, has been outstanding during his entire school career. He is serving this year as vice-president of the senior class.

Ranking second in this school was the paper of Carl Compton; but because of the large number of entrants this year in the finals, Greensboro was allowed to enter only one paper, instead of three, as of last year.

C. S. P. A. SCORE BOOK RATES PAPER SECOND

According to the score book received from the judges of the recent contest sponsored by the Columbia Scholastic Press association, HIGH LIFE was given a second place rating by winning 770 points out of a mythical perfect score of 1,000.

The paper was graded from three angles—namely: make-up, writing technique and content, and general considerations. The maximum score for make-up was 235; HIGH LIFE received 76 per cent of this or 180. From a possible 500 points on writing technique and content, this publication made 465, or approximately 93 per cent. The highest score attainable for general considerations was 175, and of this, HIGH LIFE took 125 or 72 per cent.

The Chatterbox, published at the George Washington High school, Danville, Va., won 930 points to receive the outstanding rank of "Medalist."

W. C. U. N. C. Places First

Each year the "Business Education World" sponsors a contest among the American colleges in business letter-writing. The class in business correspondence at Woman's college won the silver loving cup in the 1938 contest. Mr. Parker, class teacher, won $25.

States That Approximately 80 Per Cent of Working Class Unskilled.

By JEAN BERBERT

"There are too many misfits in the occupational world, too many square pegs fitted into round holes," Miss Christine Price, for two years junior counselor of the North Carolina Employment Service, stated to a small audience in the reference room of the school library, on the second of her three daily visits to G. H. S. Her organization, Miss Price explained, makes an effort to prevent these conditions, and to remedy those misfits already made, by securing general information about individuals, and giving them practical advice as to the requirements, opportunities, and salaries in the field of his interest.

"It is not our purpose to make decisions for other people, but to encourage persons to make intelligent decisions for themselves," she continued.

Boys More Active

In G. H. S., Miss Price noted, the boys were much more responsive in giving interviews than the girls. The choice of occupations for the boys leaned generally toward the skilled trades and professions, such as chemical and electrical engineers, and commercial artists. "And the girls," Miss Price added, "seemed to prefer such fields as journalism and nursing. So far I've come across only one prospective teacher."

HISTORY 8 CLASS GIVES TEST ON AMERICAN LIFE

British Students Given Same Test; Answers of Both Are Compared.

Do you think that American moving pictures give a true picture of American life? Forty-eight per cent of the students here at G. H. S., compared with 26 per cent of the English students, answered this question negatively.

Mrs. Smith's history 8 class recently gave this question and 15 other similar questions to approximately 210 students here at school. The class obtained the question from the "American Observer," which published the answers of English children.

While comparing the answers of the British with those of G. H. S. students, it is easily understood how international misunderstandings arise. The great difference in the answers lies in the various ways in which the British and American students look upon American and American problems.

SMITH TO ADDRESS EDUCATORS JUNE 11

Mr. Ben L. Smith, superintendent of the city schools, has been invited to speak to the Regional Conference of School Administrators at Peabody college on June 11. His subject will be "Educational Implications of Socio-Economic Conditions."

In addition to his regular duties, Mr. Smith is busy as president of the North Carolina Educational association. Last Saturday he met with his board of directors in Raleigh to make plans for the coming year.
