NUMBER 7

MARK H. ALTVATER ELECTED AS LEADER OF SENIOR CLASS

Joan Hunt Is Vice-President Of June Graduating Group.

SOPHS CHOOSE OFFICERS

Last Friday the senior class chose Mark Altwater as its new president, and Joan Hunt, new vice-president. These two will cooperate with Dorothy Greene, class secretary, and L. M. Clymer, council representative, in making plans with the commencement committee for graduation.

Last week's election was necessary because of the resignation of Marshall Morris and Elizabeth Newton, who were elected president and vice-president respectively last spring. Marshall resigned because he has decided not to graduate in June, and Elizabeth, because of an excess number of points.

Commencement Group at Work

The commencement committee, which is now busily planning the senior pageant and class day exercises, is composed of one representative from each of the eight senior home rooms. They are Bruce Walls, chairman, Jack Behrman, Martha Gentry, Janet Campbell, Paul Pearson, Becky Taylor, Dorothy Hendrix, and Margaret Lewis.

New Sophs Elect Officers

Last week also saw the election of the officers of the semester three sophomores. They are president, Jerry Watson; vice-president, Virginia Davis; and council representative, Evelyn Kayle. All three of these came to Senior high from Lindley Junior high school.

THIRTY-FIVE STUDENTS PLACED BY MISS PRICE

Openings for Pupils of Good Record;
Jobs in Office, Electrical Work, and Interior Decorating.

Miss Christine Price has announced that thirty-five people have been placed by the Diversified Occupations program of which she is the coordinator. Miss Price has placed girls in office and sales jobs, newspaper work, and pathology laboratories. Boys have obtained work in auto mechanics, stockrooms, sales work, general office jobs, and radio repair work.

"It would be possible to place additional office workers," Miss Price declared, "if the students were well-qualified for this work. There are, at present, unfilled openings in mechanical engineering, electrical repair work, and interior decorating."

Mr. Mathis and Miss Price hope that all students interested in practical training, in these or other lines, will contact them during the spring semester.

SOPHOMORES TREATED BY COUNCIL MEMBERS

Student council members welcomed the new sophomores who have just entered Senior high school at a tea in the school library last Friday afternoon. The students' parents were invited to visit the seventh period classes, and then to attend the tea where they met all of the sophomore teachers, who received with the council members.

WE'RE GONNA WIN

Expressing his determination to see the National league emerge from the magazine contest victorious, Jim Perrin shakes a threatening finger under the nose of American league leader, Harriet Sink. If everybody follows the slogan "One subscription from every student," the contest will be close and the school will be the winner.

Second G. H. S. Import, Jane Sloan, Gives Views

In Honor of "Nellie"

"Toll the bell,
For lovely Nellie."

Yes, "Nellie" was a lady, but the other day she drew her last breath and refused to run again. Little by little parts of her had been dropping off, until she was almost past going, but on the drastic morn of January 23rd, the last but not least, bit of her "enters" fell out, and, thus, her noble life ended.

To this honored being, the biology students of Senior high owe practically all of their intelligence, as "Nellie" was the only means by which Mrs. Blackburn could come to them each day.

No, you're wrong, "Nellie" wasn't an "old grey mare," but she was Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn's old car. Remember how lordly they looked as they came to and from the alma mater?

With the death of "Nellie" the lordly look was washed away, and Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn have become quite modern in their new '39 Chevrolet.

LIBRARY EXHIBITS COLLEGE ART WORKS

The art exhibit which is arranged around the upper cases of the school library is most interesting in that the posters are drawn and water-colored by students from the Woman's College. The pictures were painted at the Beaufort Art Colony. Also, the glass case contains an arrangement of tinted post cards, duplicating many famous points of interest in England.

Another instructive contribution to the high school library is the addition of one hundred and fifty new books, many of which have been selected wholly for pleasure-reading; consequently, a successful semester of interesting reading should be forthcoming.

Legionnaires Stage Oratorical Meet

North Carolina Legionnaires, in conjunction with the National American Legion, are staging a nation-wide oratorical contest. The subjects of the entries' speeches must be based on some phase of the American Constitution.

"I find it hard to say what I think of Greensboro high school, since I have been here for such a little time," answered Jane Sloan, the new German student who has entered this school as a sophomore, upon being queried as to her opinion of the high school.

Jane lived approximately twenty-five miles from Berlin, Germany, with her father, mother, and brother. For four years she attended school in the Reichland capitol, after which the Sloan family moved to Switzerland. Two months of fifteen she spent there as a student were devoted to mastering the English language. Her progress in the latter has been steadily increasing since her arrival in America, although she sometimes finds it difficult to express herself without resorting to French or her native German.

"On November 16, my family and I boarded the Manhattan and reached the United States after nine days," she asserted, and then added that the jour-

Homeroom 317 Leading In Contest With 49%

"Pops" and "Moms"— and a "Typical School Day"

"Now we understand," chorused the parents, after wearily waiting in line for their cats at the P.T. A. meeting held last night. The parents were each given a schedule with five minute classes to attend. Dot Hendrix, Lib Newton, and Miss Blackmon were stationed at various places to see that the "Pops" and "Moms" got to the right places, and end in the cafeteria.

The parents' return to "the little red school house" should be a lot of help in arousing sympathy for the troubles of their "Janes" and "Willies." Now they know the torture of the long line, and of enduring the horriblest of diseases, "creeping starvation!"

HOLT AND DAMERON APPEAR IN DEBATE

Shall Uncle Sam and John Bull
Join Hands Is Subject
Of Tri-City Contest.

Displaying both interest and enthusiasm, Clary Holt and Sandy Dameron, young Greensboro lawyers, argued this year's triangular debate question, Resolved: That the United States should establish alliances with Great Britain, at a recent meeting of the school forensic club. Mr. Holt upheld the affirmative, while Mr. Dameron stood for the negative side of the question.

Miss Causey, adviser to the club, set today as the date for tryouts, as she exclaimed to the members, "Come on out and try!"

Those people listed as participants to date are Douglass Hunt, Bruce Walls, Annie Louise Patterson, Mary Lee Cantrell, Beverly Ann Money, Jean McAlister, Billy Halliday, and Ann Chrisolm.

Governor Hoey is a former fellow citizen of Ben Smith, Jr., president of the Warner HI-Y, as they both came from Shelby, N. C., where their families were close friends.

HARBISON HAS RETURNED FROM NORTHERN TRIP

Miss Ann Harbison, of the English department, has returned from Providence, R. I., where she has been observing the Guidance for the past week. This project, which is under the direction of Assistant Superintendent Allen, is considered the best in the United States.

While on her trip, Miss Harbison interviewed several famous educators in New York state.

The following homerooms up to Tuesday have had no subscriptions: Mrs. Peebles', room 313; Miss Moser's, room 311; Miss Wall's, room 307; Mr. McCracken's, room 301; Miss Rankin's, room 201; Miss Burnside's, room 23; and Miss Harbison's, room 7.

Four Leading Salesmen Named

Among the leading salesmen are Charles Weill, Jim Perrine, Nick Kontoulas, and Martha Jane Mitchell.

In the leagues, the National was ahead of the American with an average of 49% compared to 48%.

Mark Cole from the Crowell Publishing Co., Springfield, Ohio, with Mr. Hucks as faculty adviser, is heading the campaign, and Harriet Sink and Jim Perrin are serving as student leaders.

The funds made from the subscriptions this year are to be used for the continuation of the school paper, "High Life," and also for the purchase of vestments for the school choir.

The motto that has been adopted for the school is "One subscription per student."

HAZELMAN ORGANIZES NEW ALL-STATE BAND

To Play for N. C. E. A. Meet in Capitol
City, March 16-17.

Mr. Herbert Hazelman, director of the band at Senior high school, has announced that an all-state high school band has recently been organized. This band will be composed of 150 of the most talented and accomplished musicians from high schools all over North Carolina. Mr. Hazelman, organizing director of the all-state band, stated that the band would play in Raleigh on March 16th and 17th for the Department of Education meeting.

From Greensboro high school twelve band members have been chosen by a committee, not connected with this school, for the all-state band. Mr. Hazelman remarked that since there were only 150 composing the entire band, 12 members from any one high school in the state made up a large proportion of the whole band. This, Mr. Hazelman considers an honor bestowed upon the Senior high band.

The students selected for this honor are Hugh Altwater, Mark Altwater, Maurice Weinstein, Richard Ruby, Joe Leak, Herman Cone, Clyde Mitchell, John Black, Vernon Roberts, Frances Heath, Rudolph Davis, and Kirby Moore.

Radio Appreciation Club Officers

Charles Hayden was elected president of the Radio Appreciation club recently. Serving with him during the spring term will be Patty Hammond, vice-president; Tommy Adams, secretary; and Mary Elizabeth Edmondson, treasurer.
