

QUILL AND SCROLL TO INITIATE GROUP ON NEXT TUESDAY

Eight Novices Submit Samples
To National Secretary
Of Organization.

Eight candidates for entrance into Quill and Scroll, the international honor society for high school journalists, have successfully passed the first three of four requirements necessary for membership in this organization; and, if they meet the last test—gaining the approval of a sample of their work by the national secretary—they will be publicly initiated into the club during the chapel program Tuesday. These students are Virginia Klages, Margaret Webb, Martha Gentry, Allen Dixon, Elizabeth Deaton, Irene Current, Harriet Sink, and Anne Schenck.

The other three requirements which the initiates have had to fulfill in order to be eligible are: first, they must be either a junior or senior and rank in the upper twenty-five per cent of their class; second, they must have been recommended by a member of the English department; and third, they must have been voted on by the members of Quill and Scroll.

OGLETHORPE TO TEST NEW EDUCATIONAL PLAN

Seven Students to Take Course
Which Is to Be Planned
by University.

From each of the seven principal regions of the United States one youth will be chosen to participate in an experiment which, if the plans of the president of Oglethorpe University, which is inaugurating this program, materialize, may revolutionize college education in America.

The terms and conditions under which the seven youths will be admitted provide that they shall be recommended by the school authorities of their district as outstanding men in scholarship, leadership, and character. During the four years of their study there they will be required to pay no fees of any type whatever, the only requirement being that they follow a specific course as designed by the president of the university.

The purpose of this experiment is to show that, by giving of an exceptionally broad education to the unusually adept student, an extraordinarily capable leader will result.

DEBATERS TO PRACTICE WITH SALISBURY TODAY

Greensboro high school's debating team meets the Salisbury team there today at 2 o'clock in a preliminary test. Two of the opponents were members of last year's team which got all the way to the finals at Chapel Hill where they were defeated by Union Grove. None of Greensboro's present team has participated in state debates before.

Other practice sessions were held with Sumner, Burlington, Bessemer, and Thomasville. All of these took place last week and this week.

New Books Added to Library

Approximately 4,227 books were read by students of Greensboro high school during the month of February. One hundred and twenty new books were added to the library, making a total of 6,981.

SPRING: as reflected by athletics. Trackman, Bob Banks, upper left, displays his form on the hurdles; upper right, a hefty center snaps the ball in spring grid practice; lower left, a likely back-field candidate charges the camera; lower center, Jay Shepherd, tennis ace, does a little limbering up; Marshal ("Cotton") Morris, in lower right gap, shows how he's going to do it at the shortstop spot on Coach Johnson's baseball squad.

April 13th—Band under the direction of Mr. Hazelman.
April 14th—College Day Representatives.

FIVE OUTSTANDING BOYS MADE JUNIOR ROTARIANS

Outstanding high school boys have been chosen by the Rotary Club to attend Monday meetings for a month as Junior Rotarians. This organization, one of the best-known service clubs in the city, is actively interested in the school responsibilities of the adolescent boy.

Hobart McKeever, president of Torchlight, attended for the month of November; James Wolfe, president of student body, attended in December; Ed Grosse, vice-president of student body, in January; and Bob Banks, president of semester 7, in February.

Mark Altvater, president of semester 8, is attending during the month of March, and Ben Smith, Jr., president of Senior III-Y, has been chosen to attend during the month of April.

MONTHLY TESTS GIVEN IN SECRETARIAL CLASS

Winners of the monthly transcribed tests which were given in the secretarial practice classes last Monday 13 will be announced in the next issue of HIGH LIFE. The exams, consisting of eighty words a minute dictated for five minutes, were furnished by the Gregg Publishing company. Those students who transcribed with ninety-five per cent accuracy will be awarded certificates of proficiency.

SENIORS PLAN TRIP TO NATION'S CAPITAL

100 Students Intend To Go;
Reservations for 60
Are Made.

Approximately 100 students have signed up to go with the senior class on its annual pilgrimage to Washington, D. C. April 26, 27, 28, and 29. Arrangements have already been made for the use of two buses, which will carry 30 passengers each, and if as many as 90 people pay their fare by April 1, a third bus will be taken. Mr. Routh has also made reservation for 60 people at the Ambassador hotel. If necessary, this number may be increased to 90.

This trip will be an educational tour, and students going will see such places as the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Library of Congress, the Building of Printing and Engraving, the White House, the Capitol, Washington's monument, Mount Vernon, the Smithsonian Institute, Lincoln Memorial, Arlington cemetery, Lee's home, the Supreme Court building, and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

The group will be chaperoned by Mr. Routh and other faculty members.

MECHANICAL ART CLASS SHOWS MUCH PROGRESS

"Members of the Senior high mechanical drawing classes have shown a good deal of progress this semester," stated Mr. Millar, instructor of this department. There are about 35 boys taking mechanical drawing at the present, and all of the classes are just about full.

Each student has just as good a chance to do good work in these classes as the other, because each person is supplied with the same text-book and everyone gets an equal amount of information. The problems to be drawn are arranged in progressive sequence. They range from the simplest form in wood to the very complicated problems used in cabinet and machine shops.

No Radio Repairs To Be Accepted

"Biting the hand that feeds it is not the policy of Greensboro high school," stated Mr. Stanley Johnson, in regard to the practice of certain parties who are soliciting radio repair business in the name of the radio class of Senior high.

Reports have reached Mr. Johnson that this has been going on for some time, and he wishes to take this opportunity to warn Greensboro citizens to be on the lookout for these solicitors, as the radio class has no wish to run competition with private industry, and is, therefore, repairing no sets under any circumstances.

SEALS FOR COLLEGE DAY NEARING COMPLETION

Arthur Fulton, Charles Calhoun, and Esten Combs, together with other of Miss Lee's art students, have almost completed the copper seals to be used on College Day. The copper is cut in the shop by Esten Combs, one of Mr. Millar's mechanical drawing students. The members of the art classes, under the direction of Arthur Fulton, draw in the seals with asphalt varnish. Acid is used by Charles Calhoun, one of Mr. Jevrette's chemistry boys, to etch the insignia. After the varnish is scratched off, the copper is polished and the seals are ready to be displayed in the library.

SALES TALKS ARE MADE BY STUDENT SALESMEN

The students in the salesmanship class at the present time are studying special sales talks on various commodities. These talks are being made not only for the salesman, but also the prospective buyers, in order that they may become more efficient in selecting goods.

Assisting Mr. Littlejohn in the class are four student-teachers from Woman's college. They are Misses Dozier, Smith, Avery, and Curry.

DEBATING TEAM TO ENTER STATE SPEECH CONTEST

American Legion Will Hold
Annual Oratorical Contest
April 5 to 30.

Greensboro high school's debating team will enter the First Annual North Carolina High School Debate and Speech Tournament to be held April 7-8 at Wake Forest college, under the sponsorship of the North Carolina Association of Teachers of Speech.

In addition to the debates there will be contests in oratory and extempore speaking. Entrance is restricted to one entrant from each school in each contest.

The subject for debate will be the state-wide question: Resolved—"That the United States should establish an alliance with Great Britain." Orations may be written on any timely subject, but must be original. The general subject for extempore speaking will be "Anglo-American Relations."

State-Wide Oratorical Contest

In addition the North Carolina High School Oratorical Contest sponsored by the National Organization of the American Legion will be held from April 5-30. The subject for the proposed oration must deal with the Constitution of the United States. Prizes totaling $4,000 are being offered.

Secondly, the American Legion is sponsoring a state-wide essay contest. The subject will be "A Comparison of the Advantages of American Citizenship." All high school students are eligible. The prizes for the first, second, and third places are $25, $15, and $10 respectively.

WORLD'S CHAMP TYPIST PRESENTED IN CHAPEL

Commercial Classes Fill Busy Schedule
During Week of Preparation
For State Tests.

The world champion typist, George Hossfield, was here for the chapel program this morning by invitation of the commercial department in connection with the North Carolina State Business Education Contest which is to take place from April 12th through the 14th. He types 139 words a minute for an hour with no mistakes, and he can type more than 200 words a minute with mistakes.

Mr. D. A. Cooper of Southwestern Publishing company was a guest of the commercial department Thursday, March 16, and spoke to the bookkeeping 8 class on "Presentation of Accounting and Accounting as a Profession for Young People."

It is hoped that the students will profit by the visits of these men and show it in the contest by placing Greensboro Senior high school among the winners.

The total number of commercial students scheduled to take tests in this contest is 961. Tests are being given in first and second year shorthand, first and second year typing, first and second year bookkeeping, general business, commercial law, and salesmanship.

The three best entries in every subject will enter the state contest.

Smith Makes Phi Beta Kappa

Ben L. Smith, superintendent of Greensboro public schools, will be highly honored tonight when he is initiated into the Phi Beta Kappa society. The ceremony will be held at the Hope Valley country club, in Durham, at 6:30 o'clock tonight.
