

HIGH LIFE

Published Semi-Monthly by the Students of reenshoro Senior High Schoo Greensboro, North Carolina

Founded by Class of 1921

EDITORIAL STAFF
Managing Editor Frances Chisholm
Associate Editor Allcene Darby
Make-up Barbara Bentley
Feature Editor Betty Hayes
Sports Editor Lewis Thornlow
Exchange Louise Thornbro
Assignment Editor Annie Louise Patterson
Headlines Edward Faulkner
Proof-Reader Irene Current
Photographer Solomon Kennedy
Chief Tunist Jane Winfrey

Assistant Typists
Helen Salios, Catherine Leavister, Gorrell Rumley

Reporters

Barbara Bentley, Gloria Blumenthal, Irone Corrent, Alleene Darby, Irona Estes, Edward Faulk ner, Anne Glass, Sue Hall, Betty Hayes, Jaspe Kidd, Alnie Louise Patterson, Slamono Sciumann, Reginalti Starr, Hazel Swinson, Louis Thornbo, Lewis Thornbo, Le

BUSINESS STAFF Business Manager Reginald Starr
Advertising Manager Gloria Blumenthal
Assistant Advertising Manager Irma Estes
Advertising Agents
Shannon Schumann, Betty Hayes, Clarence Ellison,
Martha Hipp

Mrs. Betts, Miss Pike
Mr. Hucks

Get and preserve the history of

Hold individuals together under high standards.

Separate the worthwhile from the worthless and promote the highest interest of stu-dents, teachers, and school.

QUOTATIONS

The talent of success is nothing more than doing what can do well, and doing well whatever you do.-

Look within. Within is the fountain of good, and it will ever bubble up, if thou will ever dig.—Marcus

Women and Children First

In peace and war women and children have always come first. This has been so since the beginning of time. The main reason man fights is to insure safety and protection for his loved ones. Yet, in war time, is it safety when towns are bombed and helpless mothers see their children killed before their very eyes? Is it protection when babies too young to grasp the full significance of war, see the mother's hand that holds them fall limp and lifeless?

In one sense this is women and children first!

In one sense this is women and children first!

Hall of Shame

In Kansas City a plan has been installed to cut down automobile accidents. If the result of the casualty is serious injury or death, a photograph of the motorists will be hung in the City Hall. This is their Hall of Shame.

In Greensboro high school this plan could be inaugurated by having the pictures of those who run in the halls, fight, break library rules, and perform other misdeeds, placed on the bulletin board in the main hall.

Junior Achievement Company

Today 15,000 young people between the ages of sixteen and fwenty-one are learning by experience sixteen and twenty-one are learning by experience what makes the wheels of business go around. They are getting an idea of what it means to finance and equip a company, sell stock, and meet a payroll. For years business men had been talking about young people going out to meet the business world with no practical experience, but it wasn't until a few years ago that someone decided to remedy this. Horace A. Moss, president of the Strathmore Puper company, and the late Theodore N. Vail, organized the Junior Achievement company.

company. This company started with only a few young people and a very small capital. Today there are more than one thousand companies, each a separate business in itself, under the main organization. Shares of stock are sold at 25c and 50c a share. Anyone between the ages of sixteen and twenty-one may be a stockholder. The different positions are rotated so that everyone may get experience in all fields of the business. Competition with adult concerns is kept at a minimum by putting only handmade articles on the market.

cerns is kept at a minimum by putting only handmade articles on the market.

These young péople are finding out by experience what they want to take up for their life's work. They are making some spending money, and after they are out of school memployment is practically unknown to those who have worked for a Junior Achievement company. Much credit is due Mr. Moss and Mr. Vail who have helped so many thousands of boys and girls. Our one plea is that this fine work will be available to more young people in the future.

I Came, I Saw, I Conquered!

Can this be applied to you? Stop and think! Do you try to make a good impression? It is important to remember first impressions are lasting. Therefore, at school, football games, parties and elsewhere, be on your best behavior and consider how you must appear in the eyes of others. To have that "certain something" that conquers our acquaintances is what most of us desire. A few people are born with the good looks and magnetic power to do this; others are not. Yet beauty and personality can be cultivated. Beauty is only skin-deep. A beautiful face can be easily marred by a frown. Genuine beauty comes from within, shining through and reflecting the beauty of the soul.

soul.

Personality is indefinable, but its place is undeniable. It is a quality that makes unattractive people radiant. It is like a magnet. It draws your acquaintances to you. If this possession is not yours, secure it. Naturalness, interest in others, and cheerfulness are all forerunners of per-

When you walk into a room, let it be said that you came, you saw, and you conquered!

World Affairs from High School Side Lines

By SUE HALL

Wilson's policy of drifting, until we had drifted into war, is definitely out of trend with the American plan of today. President Roosevelt is by no means idle, for today it is not safe to be indifferent when the movements of dictators comes hard and swift. He has announced a limited emergency and edded they are more product to the company of the co switt. He has announced a limited emergency and added three new members to the executive department: Loan Administrator, Jesse Jones; Works Administrator, John Carmody; Security Administrator, Paul McNutt. The army and navy have been ordered to increase, and heavy forces are cracking down on spy and anti-American forces.

While the rest of the world has war worries, the Republican Party has its own particular disagreement, choosing a candidate that may well be the next president of the United States. Among the likely prospects are racket-busting Thomas Dewey, young and popular District Attorney of New York City; next is Conservative Arthur James, Governor of Pennsylvania; the son of the twenty-seventh president. Robert Taft who has James, Governor of Pennsylvania; the son of the twenty-seventh president, Robert Taft, who has already announced his intentions; and Arthur Vandenburg, outstanding senator from Michigan with an especial appeal for the voters in the upper brackets. The thing that is most interesting to the Republican Party, in considering this group, is the appeal, personal and otherwise, and the amount of votes these particular men can carry.

Buth Trouble

Bomb Trouble

Bomb Trouble

With 10,000 bombing easualties a day expected in London, Britain is not to be caught napping without an organized hospital force. Two hundred and fifty transport busses have been transformed into ambulances, and the city is thoroughly dotted with first aid and casualty stations. The evacufation of all mothers and children, non-essential workers, and invalids has been planned for forty-eight hours after the first raid. All poisonous snakes and animals of the London zoo have been killed.

Home Coming

Home Coming
On the eve of the second World War the Duke of Windsor, in his home in the south of France, was listening to a plea from his brother, the King of England, to return home and serve his country. In this war the Duke will have no chance to fuss about being coddled and protected as he was in the last conflict, for this time he will report for actual duty on the battlefields of France. The brothers, having settled this matter, decided, also that the long sought, "Her Royal Highness" for the Duchess of Windsor, could be forgotten until a better time. While the Duchess, still minus her title, made plans for turning her French home into a hospital.

Money-Minus

Money-Minus

Waney-Minus

While Argentina, Brazil and Uraguay proposed a patrol for the South American coast in ease some warring nation did try to establish a naval base there, a larger problem faced neighboring Mexico. Germany has been buying some two million dollars worth of oil a month up to September 1. With this sudden stop Mexico suffered a severe money shortage. Also, the manufactured products of the Reich could no longer be sent, leaving Mexico to trade reluctantly with the United States. In the harbors of the country nine big troubles had dropped anchor—refugee ships which have to be watched day and night. With these worries the Mexican government called off its annual celebration of Independence Day. government called Independence Day,

Poverty Amid Plenty!

Contribute to the Community Chest!

THE BOOK NOOK

Library News

New books in the library are now in the shelves and may be checked out. Suggestions by students for any books they would like to have in the library will be appreciated, as another order will be made soon for more books.

Library Club Formed

Library Club Formed

Library assistants and other students in the school who are interested in library work have formed a library club, which held its first meeting last Wednesday. The following officers were elected: president, Dorothy Hodnut; vice-president, Virginia Barringer; secretary-treasurer, Frances Howard. The duties of this group will be to make the library more interesting and to attract a larger number of students to it, to make plans for Book Week, November 12 through 18, and a chapel program, to take over the bulletin boards and decorations of the library, and to keep picture and clipping files.

Library Regulations

The student council library committee met and drew up the following regulations regarding conduct.

- 1. No loafing allowed in the library.
- 2. No disturbance of any type.

Outside of these two simple things, there are no restrictions. In other words students are expected to behave like ladies and gentlemen.

THE CLASS THEY ALL WANTED

High school students of Phoenix, Arizona, the Reader's Digest reveals, have written their own text-book on etiquette. It is based on over 12,000 questions about everyday problems of correct behavior submitted by the puzzled students them-

Many schools are now giving courses in etiquette as a part of the regular school curriculum. Students who are perfectly intelligent, but who have not been instructed by their parents in gracious behavior, have requested these courses and are showing how necessary it is to know the best thing to do at the proper time.

One school started a course in manners when teachers noticed how uncouth the children were in the lunch room. Another, because the students were ill at ease at class dances. Needless to say, after proper instruction the students began to enjoy their dances and it was noticed that every girl made it a point to introduce her escort to the changeron.

High school boys of one of the best residential districts of Cincinnati recently asked the home economies teacher to give them an etiquette course. A survey of ten high schools in Pennsylvania revealed that two-thirds of all the students, boys as well as girls, wanted a course or club in

Pupils and teachers have finally realized that knowledge of etiquette does not exclusively belong to young ladies at finishing school, but is a part of everyday living and that, incidentally, habits of poise and genuine courtesy are important factors in getting and holding jobs.

BAGATALLO

This business of thinking up jokes

Has got us a little daunted. The ones you want, we can't print
And the ones we print aren't wanted.

Flash! One Senior in school studies five hours the day. Juniors, take heed; that's something to look forward to Ain't It So!

Strange how many persons try to come in a door marked "Out"!

Inspiration of the Moment

Little drops of powder, little dabs of paint.

Makes a woman's freckles look just like they ain't.

The March of Times—

1919—CAROLYN COKER'S first words were

"Hi ya, Butch" to the little boy across the street. This event launched her on the well known career of coquetry.

1920—BILL (DOCK) AUSTIN gives that famous laugh of his for the first time and his mother thought it was a shade flying up. Now his mother says it sounds like a T Model Ford without a muffler.

1921—BEN CRAWFORD starts to school. He surprised his teacher, by saying "da-da"

BEN CRAWFURD states of surprised his teacher, by saying "da-da" before he was promoted to the third grade. Such intelligence, my, my!

We wish that we knew how to get tickets for reserved places in the lunch line.

Weather Report
Thursday: Showers, Friday: Showers.
Saturday: Showers—but no soap.

A famous English explorer has left for Africa to find a race of giants. All we have to do is to go into a movie and they all sit down in front of us.

The Reason
The telephone wires were sagging,
Some considered it the wind.
The lineman said they were sending
A wire photo of "Loady" Glenn.

Wonder how Mark Altvater and Joe Leak would feel if they could hear how good our band is this year. (Without them.)

Gee! It's strange that the very pupils who are late in the morning are the first in line at lunch!

There's Undiscovered Talent in G. H. S. ere's Undiscovered Tatent in G. H. Sung to the tune of "Beer Barrel Polka" Roll us the score, boys, Go down the field on the run.
Roll up the score, boys Let's have some old-fashioned fun.
Strive for a touch down;
Fling that old ball in the air.
Now's the time to tell the world, boys, G. Fl. S. plays fair.

G. H. S. plays fair.
Surprise! That was by our own Miss Louise
Smith!

Dear Students:

We wish to remind you that we haven't got a dust pan, but we still get all the dirt. And so, until two weeks from today, we remain your Westover Terrace correspondents.