

Career's Day to Feature Seventeen Occupations

Provisions for Seniors To Hear Two Lectures; Student Group to Lead

Harbison Chairman Of Annual Conference To Be Held May 8

Seventeen speakers, from the business world in Greensboro, will represent the seventeen occupations to be discussed on Career's day, May 8, at Senior high school, inaugurated last year to aid seniors to decide upon what occupation or training they will enter after graduating, the day proved to be such a success that school authorities determined to make it an annual event. Plans for this year's observance have been progressing under the direction of Miss Ann C. Harbison for several weeks and are now almost complete.

To Have Two Choices

Boys and girls who are experiencing difficulty in selecting the field they will enter will be able to hear two different discussions on subjects of interest to them, beginning at 9 a. m., the first of these will continue until 10 o'clock when the second of the talks will start. This contrasts sharply with the one speaker heard on this day last year.

Seventeen Occupations Represented

Selecting topics from a questionnaire answered by senior home rooms, the following occupations will be represented: radio broadcasting, with Frank Hardin; building trades, G. A. Timberlake; law, Charles Hagan; secretarial work, Miss Frances Brisindine; engineering, C. W. Manzie. Social work will be represented by Miss Rosamond Tatro; medicine, Dr. Richard Dmm; journalism, H. W. Kendall; nursing,

Mims Honored At Convention

Torchlight Members Participate in State Meet at Asheville

Miss Sara Mims, head of the English department at Greensboro Senior high school, was elected president of State National Honor society sponsors at the Torchlight convention, held in Asheville, N. C., April 26 and 27.

Group Meetings Held

The annual convention opened Friday with a general meeting of all delegates, after which four group meetings were held. Scholarship group discussion was led by Muriel Fiske, vice-president of the Greensboro chapter; later Hugh Hill and Mary Elizabeth Barwick, G. H. S. delegates, gave reports on two of the group meetings.

Banquet Given

Friday night a banquet was given at the Asheville high cafeteria. Afterwards many of the delegates heard Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who was speaking in Asheville that night.

State officers and the host city for the convention next year were selected at a short business meeting Saturday morning. Joe Sobren, of Asheville, was elected president, Mary Anne Thomas, of High Point, vice-president, and Dorothy Oates, of Kannapolis, secretary. The next convention will be held at Boyden high school, Salisbury.

Biltmore Estate Visited

At the close of the meeting tickets were given to all delegates to tour Biltmore estate and dairy, Biltmore, N. C.

Greensboro delegates were Muriel Fiske, Mary Elizabeth Barwick, Clinton Yantiss, Hugh Hill, Daphne Lewis, and Barbara Bentley.

Personal Relations Class Studies Marriage Laws

Climaxing several weeks of hard work, the Home and Personal Relationship class has been making a thorough study of the history of the family.

The group has reviewed in detail the North Carolina marriage and divorce laws and laws related to family life. At the present, the students are making a draft containing good uniform marriage laws for all the states.

STICKS OR FIDDLISTIX

Miss Farlow's knowledge of Caesar's bridge seems to help in training for Student-Faculty Day and for her "Fiddlistix" bout with Mrs. Peebles. ### Bentley Wins Medal In National Contest

Because a feature story, "Baby Snooks Interviews the Census Taker," was one of ten national winners in the annual Quill and Scroll contest, Barbara Bentley not only won a medal but is eligible for the $500 scholarship to be awarded for the best journalistic work.

Barbara is the first G. H. S. student in recent years to receive this honor, though several times members of the HIGH LIFE staff have received honorable mention for entries as did Aileen Darby in the headline field, and Aurelia Dunstan for an editorial in this recent contest.

School Forensic Club To Sponsor Debates

Hipp, Brinkley, Hunt, Patterson to Be Coaches; Want Material for Fall

Featuring the question, "Should the Philippine Islands be granted their independence?" the Greensboro high school debating club will sponsor a series of debates at Central junior high school, with Douglas Hunt, Martha Hipp, Billy Brinkley, and Annie Louise Patterson acting as coaches for the polemic. The real object of the contest is to find prospective members for next year's forensic club.

Winners to Come to Banquet

Attention will be given to individual showings instead of group merits, and, as a reward, the two students with the best ratings will be invited to the debating club banquet.

Central will be divided into two teams, one from the eighth grade, and one from the ninth. The former will debate before the high school club, and the latter before the Central junior high student body.

There is a possibility of a similar organization being made at Gillespie junior high. If so, Billy Halliday and Hazel Swinson will assist this group.

Handbook Publishes Livingston's Photo Work

Within the ranks of rising young sophomores at G. H. S. is Ed Livingston, a junior who received his initial recognition as a photographer when his snap shot of tobacco field laborers at work was published in the current issue of the "Little Swift Handbook," a fertilizer advertising pamphlet. The picture was made near Madison, N. C., last summer and is one of many Livingston took in a camera study of tobacco, another of which is reproduced in this issue.

Students, Faculty Engage in Series Of Games Today

First Event of Its Kind To Be Given at Senior; Have Picnic on Lawn

From 11 until 1:30 today students and teachers of G. H. S. will have a chance to play, talk, and eat together during the two and one-half hours set aside for the first observance of Student-Faculty Day. Both pupils and faculty will be able to abandon their work in order to take part in games and a picnic on the lawn; however, they will resume work at 1:30.

In a questionnaire, issued last fall, in which the student body of Senior high was asked to suggest methods by which the school could be improved, it was found that 80 per cent of the pupils thought that something should be done about student-faculty relations. As a result of this questionnaire, the idea of Student-Faculty Day originated.

Present Chapel Program

In order to promote interest in the new event, a chapel program, composed of G. H. S.'s swing band and a boy's quartet, gave the new "Day" a little publicity last Tuesday. After the conclusion of the program, Mrs. LeGwin and Mr. Jamieson presented short talks concerning the aims and purposes of the get-together.

"This is the first time anything like this has ever been tried at Greensboro high school, and we are hoping that it will be a permanent addition to the school 'curriculum,'" stated Miss Virginia Coburn, publicity chairman of the affair, Monday afternoon.

Taylor, Patterson Make Girls 'State'

Delegates to Convene June 16-21 at W. C. U. N. C.; Under A. L. A. Auspices

Eleanor Dure Taylor, junior, and Annie Louise Patterson, senior, have been selected to represent Senior high school at the first annual North Carolina Girls' State, to be held June 16-21 at Woman's college, under the auspices of the North Carolina American Legion auxiliary.

Purpose Stated

The purpose of the State is defined as a "laboratory of practical and political experience, or an educational program in citizenship." Its activities will parallel those of the Boys' State held last year at the University of North Carolina where Douglas Hunt of Senior high ruled as governor.

All girls who attend Girls' State will be sponsored by a civic or patriotic organization and will spend the week on the campus. Educational, recreational, and social activities have been planned with the Students building as headquarters.

Full Program Arranged

The committee of general arrangements with the cooperation of the Woman's college faculty have arranged a full program of interesting and instructive activities.

Gov. Clyde R. Hoey; Chief Justice Walter Stacy; State Treasurer Charles E. Johnson, and Attorney General Harry McMullen have accepted invitations to speak during the week.

Five Students to Enter L'Alliance Contest

Harriet Sink Places First In State-Wide Event; Leslie Sharpe Honored

Five local students, Harriet Sink, Leslie Sharpe, Jean Stephenson, Muriel Fiske, and Elizabeth Beal, will enter the eighth annual French contest, sponsored by the L'Alliance Francaise on Saturday morning, May 4, in Greensboro, announced Miss Estelle Mitchell, head of the French department, this morning.

Sink Awarded First Place

Harriet Sink, a G. H. S. senior, won first place in the recently conducted state French contest, while Leslie Sharpe, another student, received honorable mention.

Prizes Offered by French Government

The coming contest, which is conducted to encourage study and appreciation of the French language and culture, will give a silver cup to the school whose five entrants make the highest total score. This cup may be kept by the school that wins it three years in succession. A silver medal and a bronze medal, first and second individual prizes, will be awarded by the L'Alliance Francaise and the French government. The third award will be an illustrated album on France.

City School Educators Will Give Dinner

Professional relations will be the topic of the North Carolina Education association dinner, to be given Friday evening, May 7, at Greensboro college. The purpose of the dinner is to help teachers and administrators become better acquainted with professional standards and with organizations of people in other professions.

Music for the occasion will consist of a string ensemble with Hugh Attwater playing the violin; Helen Collins, cello; Calvin McAdoo, piano; and Victoria Pomekamp, violin.

Miss Cathleen Pike is president of the local unit of this group and Miss Margaret Moser is program chairman.

Wilson Soap Model Displayed in Exhibit

Outstanding among the exhibits on display at the Woman's convention this week is G. H. S. student Lewis Wilson's soap carving of General Greene. The model is a reproduction of the statue of General Greene at the battleground, among those which compose the miniature battleground. This display was arranged by Miss Grace Martin.

Tumblers and Dancers Added Attractions For May Day, Friday

Jamieson, Doggett, Holmes, Hornaday to Complete Queen Irene's Court

Laughter and merriment to offset the hearty and harmony of the May day celebration, scheduled for 5 o'clock tomorrow at Senior high, will be provided by the tumblers from the athletic department, who will be bled to represent pickaninies, symbolic of the old southern plantation.

Attendants Added to Court

Four-year-old Barbara Jamieson, daughter of Coach and Mrs. Robert Jamieson, and Charles Doggett, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Doggett, have been added to the royal procession and will carry the Queen's train. Martha Hornaday, president of Playmasters, and Annie Lanier Holmes, semester 8 president, will be among the Queen's elected attendants who were announced in the last issue of HIGH LIFE.

Old Fashioned Costumes to Be Worn

The May Queen and her court will be dressed in old-fashioned costumes in keeping with the setting of an old southern plantation garden in the days before the Civil war. Although Miss Doris Hutchinson's gym students will take part in the traditional May pole ceremonies, the Virginia reel will be the major dance for the court entertainment. Music for the occasion will be furnished by the glee club and the school orchestra.

Colorful Costumes

Irene Current, May Queen, will wear the usual white and India Groomer, her maid of honor, will be dressed in a flowered print. The attendants will wear pastel net gowns in rainbow shades.

The only other major change from last year seems to be the fact that the Queen and her court will form the procession from the doors of the main building, rather than from science, as was done last year.

McNairy Urges Seniors To Keep Appointments

Lackey Made Chairman Photography Committee; Flynt Studio to Do Work

"Every senior is urged to keep his appointment with the Flynt Studio photographer as there can be only one appointment for each senior," declared Miss Dorothy McNairy, faculty adviser for the senior photography committee, yesterday.

Photographs of the seniors, which will appear in the senior and final issue of HIGH LIFE, are being made by Flynt Studio, while arrangements for student appointments are under the direction of a committee headed by Paul Lackey.

Appointments Are Fixed

Members of the senior pictures committee, composed of one student representing each senior home room, and the dates set aside for the students' appointments in the various home rooms are as follows: Paul Lackey, 206, April 14-18; Margaret Sullivan, 317, April 19-23; Joan Brantley, 315, April 24-25; Bill Barnes, 306, April 26-29; Margie Current, 313, April 30-May 1; Margaret Woodward, 305, May 2-3; Margaret Tate, 201, May 4-7; Marian Balls, 104, May 8-9; Glenn Johnson, 100, May 10-11.

Alumna Mary Higgins Added to 'Who's Who'

"Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges" added another G. H. S. alumna, Mary Cecile Higgins, a W. C. senior, to its group of outstanding students this year. Heading the list of her achievements is Mary's presidency of town students at Woman's college. In addition to this, she is on the refugee students committee, is a member of the school legislature, and is taking part in the May court.

During her three previous years at Woman's college, Mary has been in the Square Circle, secretary and vice-president of town students, on the Pine Needles staff, and a junior attendant in the May court.
