HIGH LIFE

From the Gate City of the South and the Birthplace of O. Henry

VOLUME XIX

GREENSBORO SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL, GREENSBORO, N. C., APRIL 30, 1943

NUMBER 16

Morris, Barry Chosen To Run For President In Orderly Chapel Nominating Convention

Full List Of Nominees Announced By High Life

In its second nominating convention of unprecedented calm and order, the students of Greensboro high chose for candidates for president of the student council, Howard Morris and Jean Barry.

Morris was selected by a landslide delegation vote on the second ballot, while Jean won a close vote in the third balloting from Edgar Alston.

Speakers at the convention were: for Morris, Bill Walkemeyer; for Barry, Ada Sue McBane; for Alston, Warren Gentry; for John Sevier, M. C. Anderson.

Allred, Smallwood Named

Jim Allred edged out Irwin Smallwood in the second balloting for nomination for vice-president of the council, but Smallwood came back in the third vote and was also nominated for the same office.

Nomination speakers for vice-presidential candidates included Ed Mabry speaking for Jim Allred, Helen Paige Dees for Irwin Smallwood, Jean Fortune for Laurena Booker, and Virginia Peoples for Rita Pearl.

Since Pete Miller and George Bryant were the only two candidates who made application for traffic chief, they were formally nominated on one ballot. The same was true of Allene Parks and Doris Vereen, who were chosen to run for president of the senior class.

Cloninger, Hornaday Advanced

Richard Hornaday won a slim majority over Mege Cloninger, who was nominated after him for vice-president of the senior class.

In an extremely close balloting which was decided only by the reconsidering of a vote in favor of Sue Brooks, the candidate for secretary of the senior class was advanced in the race followed by Mary Glendenning on the fourth ballot.

Quill, Scroll Initiation To Be Held In May

Quill and Scroll, journalistic honor society, will hold its initiation some time in May, although the date has not been definitely set.

The candidates have submitted samples of their work to the Quill and Scroll headquarters in Chicago, but no report from these has been received.

Quill and Scroll stands for the highest in journalistic and creative writing ability, although a person does not have to be a member of the journalism class to belong to it. A member must be able to write well and correctly.

Quill and Scroll not only stands for the highest in writing ability but also for character and scholarship. A member must be in the upper third of his class scholastically and must not have average "F" on a subject. He must have been recommended by some teacher in the English field and be voted on by the members of the club.

It has proven increasingly difficult for the club to hold its meetings because there is no club period this year and it is impossible for many of the members to remain after school. The past meeting was held, and the future ones will be held at the homes of members of the group.

The officers of the club, the O. Henry chapter, are: president, Margaret Daniel Wilkerson; vice-president, Bob Lloyd; and secretary, Sue McFadyen. The other members are T. P. Vaughn, Frances Paschal, Irwin Smallwood, M. C. Anderson and Nancy Glendenning.

Vote for IRWIN SMALLWOOD for vice-president.—(adv.).

Pritchard's Orchestra Will Play At State College May 8

After furnishing music for the Easter dance at Senior high school last Thursday night, Carl Pritchard and his orchestra will play for a dance at State college in Raleigh May 8, it was announced by Carl Pritchard, leader, and W. D. Chandler, booking agent, yesterday.

The local orchestra played at the Woman's college Junior-Senior prom a couple of weeks ago, but this dance at State is even bigger than the prom. It is the only dance of the year that is open to the entire school, and approximately 500 couples are expected to be present.

Pritchard's orchestra made a trip to Raleigh to play for a frat dance back in the fall when they were just getting organized, and they are expecting to make a much better showing this trip. Incidentally, the band has now got a complete new set of music stands, which add to the appearance of the band.

Pritchard also announced last week that he and his band would play for the Junior-Senior prom here at Senior high school this spring free of charge providing no admission was charged at the door, but as yet there has been no official reply from the members of the dance committee or faculty to Pritchard's proposition.

Some of the band members received some very good advice from Tony Pastor, who was at the National theater yesterday, as to the things to do in order to make good this summer in the band field. Pastor commended the boys for their fine work in organizing a good young band in these times.

Wilkerson Introduces 39 Office Seekers To Student Body

In chapel last Tuesday, Margaret Daniel Wilkerson, chairman of the elections board of Senior high school, presented 39 candidates for the offices of representatives of the senior class, secretary of the senior class, treasurer of the senior class, vice-president of the senior class, president of the senior class, traffic chief of school, vice-president of student government.

The four hopefuls for the office of president of the student government were Edgar Alston, Jean Barrie, Howard Morris and John Sevier.

Those wishing to run for vice-president of the student government include Jim Allred, Laurena Booker, Rita Pearl and Irwin Smallwood.

The office of traffic chief appears on the ballot of Senior for the first time. The two wishing the office are Pete Miller and George Bryant.

Allene Parks and Doris Vereen seek candidacy for the office of president of the senior class.

Mege Cloninger, Richard Hornaday, Dorothy Rives Hunter and Sally Waddell seek nomination for vice-president of the senior class.

Hopfuls for the secretary of the senior class include Jean Bradley, Sue Brooks, Mary Glendenning and Martha Cheek.

Those seeking the offices of representatives of the senior class are Gertrude Archer, Bill Bogart, Martha Boggan, Jimmy Brown, Mary Clay Bruff, John Burton, Doris Caviness, Marjorie Cook, Betty Cooley, Thetis Hoffner, Leon Hayes, Ashton Kearney, Billie McNeely, Jean Patterson, Margaret Rhudy, Cora Belle Schumm, Marian Boren and Ralph Lewis, Jr.

Clean-Up Campaign Invades Classrooms of Senior High

With the advent of Clean-up Week recently, G. H. S.-ers really developed a technique for window-washing, eraser-cleaning, and blackboard-scrubbing. Not content with seeing her pupils become well versed in these homely arts, Miss Causey, desiring to be "different," no doubt, marshalled the forces of one of her English classes, and lo and behold, even the downstairs hall of the Main building had to be scrubbed!

Long-suffering students mounted step-ladders, for not even a trace of dust could be allowed to remain intact on top of a window sill, or blackboard. Cakes of "Bon Ami" and blue bottles of "Windex" were supplied to help the student "un-hired hands" in some cases, but good old-fashioned soap and water had to suffice for others.

Not even the woodwork and walls of the rooms escaped this zealous cleaning but became a cream-color once again after having a heavy coat of autographs and marks made by the rubber heels of many a "scuffling" culprit removed. Blackboards lost their familiar sickly greyish hue, and appeared in all the shiny glory of a new patent-leather shoe—wonderful mirrors—the girls found!

Still, the greatest wonder to be seen in the many results of this vigorous Clean-up campaign was the windows! Now sparkling like diamonds minus a long accumulation of dirt, students are constantly surprised by seeing blue skies and sunshine when they gaze out of doors, whereas before, even the brightest days had appeared cloudy from inside the rooms.

However nice the after effects of spring-cleaning appeared on the school itself, the very opposite effects were found on those who contributed to its success. Dirty faces, hands and clothes could be washed always; broken fingernails, would grow out and chipped nail polish could be replenished; but how are the boys going to live down the unmistakable pinkness of "dish-pan hands?"—that is the question!

Home Rooms, Teachers Elect Citizens' Honor Roll

The following is a list of those students who were either elected by their home rooms or selected by their teachers on the basis of their scholarship, leadership and other qualities. These were chosen for the second six weeks period of the second semester.

They are Bill Lambert, Edith Waggoner, room 3; Jean Dinwiddie, Thomas Dunham, room 6; Amos Lashley, Sara Foster, room 7; Luke Eller, Laurie Gibbs, room 9; Ted McLean, Peggy McNeely, room 10; Franklin Jenkins, Dorothy Rives Hunter, room 101; Tom Alspangh, Maureen Black, room 200; Kathryn Wayneck, Donald Walker, room 202; Harold Carpenter, Evelyn Coble, room 204.

Others are Ralph Lewis, Doris Loflin, room 206; Jimmy Cross, Lois Cox, room 301; Frank Curran, Isabel Crawford, room 303; Pate Forehand, Rosa Lee Essa, room 307; Bill Bogart, Martha Boggan, room 313; Richard Person, Barbara Polton, room 315; and Ed Mabry and Dovie McSwain, room 317.

Lazy John or No Work Blues

The four-day Easter holidays created contrasting reactions to John and Doris Student.

Feeling that it was at last his turn to play a part in our war effort and at the same time "get some easy cash on the side," John marches proudly up town, fer of all things, to get a job. If it were not for the fact that our John was a "bum," he would be working.

But alas! He storms into Boyd's and demands that he be allowed to sell shoes. When told that he knew nothing about the work, he began to cry and ran out the door.

You can guess the rest. He not only could not touch his Easter dinner, but he had to decline that wonderful dance bid with Doris.

What John to this day can not understand is why Doris not only managed to eat a hearty Easter dinner but managed to have three dates on the side.

"When I consider how my life is spent . . ." thought John, "maybe I should not be so lazy and irritable."

Government Notifies V-12 Prospectives

Most of the senior boys between the ages of 17-22 who passed the V-12 examination that was given April 2 have been notified.

In the letter received by the students from the examining board it was stated that before they could be inducted into the Navy they must first, have their parents consent to enlist; second, they must have 3 letters of recommendation, one from Principal A. P. Routh and two others; third, they must have made satisfactory grades while at G. H. S. and should have them sent to the head of the Navy board in Raleigh, N. C.

According to Edgar W. Knight, regional director of the Army and Navy college training program the purpose of the A-12 and the V-12 training programs is to train, at the college, men in technical and professional skills required by the army and navy.

The boys who took the A-12 test have not yet been notified as to the results, but engineers of all types, doctors, psychologists, physicists, mathematicians and students of foreign areas are needed in large numbers, and the Army has established a program in several colleges and universities where such training can best be given. Ralph Coble, Claiborne Poindexter, Dave Sewell, Kenneth Kreisgman, Bob Lloyd, Don Howard, Alan Cone, Buddy Freed, Bill Walkemeyer, Charles Wagner, Louis Thacker, Buddy Nolan and Carl Pritchard have received word from the Navy department requesting them to appear in Raleigh for interview.

Many Silver Cups, Awards On Exhibit In Local Library

From 1932, Senior high school has won a total of 75 trophies in the fields of debating, sports, essays, music, mathematics, scholarship and journalism. These awards were on display in the school library for several days.

Many of these silver cups were won by Senior high's now non-existent magazine, Homespun, and High Life. Sports predominated in the larger cups and Greek figures.

Mrs. Beatrice Hall, librarian, said that the cups and other trophies were scattered all over the school and this was the first time that all were placed together for an exhibit.
