

Commencement Calendar

Friday, May 21—Class Day, 9:30 a.m.; Luncheon 11 a.m. at the Masonic Temple.

Sunday, May 23—Baccalaureate Sermon at the First Presbyterian church at 7:30 p.m., Dr. Paul Austin Wolfe of New York officiating.

Monday, May 24—First and second period senior examinations.

Tuesday, May 25—Third and fourth or fifth period examinations.

Friday, May 28—Final graduation activities in which editor Sanford Martin of the Winston-Salem Journal-Sentinel will make the final commencement address at 7:30 p.m., and over 375 seniors will receive their diplomas at 8 p.m.

G. H. S. Student Council Ends Year Successfully With Elections and Play

As a climax to a year of successful operations, the G. H. S. student council supervised elections and presented a council play, "Getting Pinned."

With a large audience of Senior high school students looking on, the student council presented their play at first period, Friday, May 14, in the auditorium.

After preparations lasting for more than two months, Miss Sara Mims, council adviser and supervisor of the production, said that the play was a remarkable success, its purpose being to raise council funds.

Cast of Play

The complete cast for the play production, "Getting Pinned," is as follows: Janice Sterling, played by Maureen (Mickey) Black; Dinah Sterling, played by Meegie Cloninger; Mrs. Sterling, portrayed by Betsy Holt; Luther Lansing, portrayed by Buddy Bullock; Haywood Darrance, played by Bill (Beefie) Lambert; Harold Ford, impersonated by Decatur Cunningham; Clover, portrayed by Dacia Lewis; Verna Garson, played by Nancy Curtis.

The story is about two sisters, Janice and Dinah Sterling, who never seem to "get pinned," (get a boy for keeps) and their dramatic adventure to the land where love is everywhere. Haywood Darrance (Bill Lambert), Harold Ford (Decatur Cunningham), and Luther Lansing (Buddy Bullock) are the objects of their affections.

The election campaigns lasted two weeks. Howard Morris defeated Jean Barry, and Irwin Smallwood defeated Jim Allred for the offices of president and vice-president, respectively, of the student body.

Among the qualities for leadership possessed by Howard Morris were his activities as mayor of Aycock school and more recently, his position on the football squad at Senior, while Irwin Smallwood may best be remembered for his service as sports editor and staff photographer on High Life.

Other Winners

Pete Miller defeated George Bryant for the office of traffic chief, who now for the first time is an integrate part of the student council; Allene Parks nosed out Doris Vereen for senior class president, whose main duty is to plan the commencement exercises; for vice-president of the senior class, Richard Hornaday edged out Mege Cloninger; for the office of secretary of the senior class, Mary Glendenning defeated Sue Brooks; and for treasurer of the senior class, Ralph Lewis nosed out Marion Boren.

New Representatives

The following six representatives of the rising senior class were chosen during this election: Gertrude Archer, Bill Bogart, Jim Brown, Billie McNeely, Jenn Patterson and Margaret Rhudy. Other candidates for the office of representative to the student council who did not win included Mary Clay Bruff, Thetis Hoffer, Leon Hayes, Ashton Kearney, Betty Cooley and Cora Belle Schumm.

Installation of Officers

"Some time before the closing of school for this year," Miss Mims revealed, "the present student council will convene to usher in the new members."

HIGH LIFE

From the Gate City of the South and the Birthplace of O. Henry

VOLUME XIX

GREENSBORO SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL, GREENSBORO, N. C., MAY 21, 1943

NUMBER 17

GRADUATION ACTIVITIES INCLUDE SERMON, CLASS DAY, DANCE, FINAL

Above seated, left to right, Class of '43 leaders pondering graduation include Marilyn Younce, class treasurer; Francis Rives, class secretary; Margaret Daniel Wilkerson, class president and executive of Quill and Scroll; and Charles Wagner, vice-president of student council.

Standing are Bob Lloyd, editor-in-chief of HIGH LIFE; Sillus Michalove, student director of Senior high's band; Dora Lewis, president of Greensboro high's choir; Dave Sewell, representing the Greensboro Athletic Association and member of the state championship football and baseball team; and Martha Weidner, president of Torchlight. Tim Warner, council president was absent at the time of the picture.

Dr. Paul Austin Wolfe, Editor Sanford Martin To Make Principal Talks

Concluding over a decade of schooling, of which the last year and a half have been on a wartime basis, over 375 students of Greensboro Senior high school will receive their diplomas at 8 p.m. Friday in the high school auditorium after they have completed a week of intensified commencement activities, which include a Class Day celebration, a Junior-Senior prom, a baccalaureate sermon, senior examinations, and the final graduation program.

A Class Day program was staged this morning at 9:30, after which graduating seniors retired to the Masonic Temple for a Luncheon at 11 a.m. Theatre tickets were provided for seniors and were valid through Friday.

Carl Pritchard and his band will play tonight at the Junior-Senior prom. Further details on the dance and additional descriptions of the musical organization will appear on page nine.

Wolfe To Preach Sermon

The baccalaureate sermon committee headed by Miss Lily Walker announced recently that it had obtained Dr. Paul Austin Wolfe, pastor of the Presbyterian Brick church of New York City, to deliver the address Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the First Presbyterian church.

It was previously announced in the March 19 issue of this publication that Dr. Charles F. Myers, local Presbyterian minister, would make the baccalaureate address. Since that date Dr. Wolfe has been secured.

Examinations for seniors will be given on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, tests for the first and second period subjects being on Monday, the third and fourth or fifth period subjects on Tuesday, and the sixth and seventh period studies on Wednesday.

Journal-Sentinel Head To Speak

Editor Sanford Martin, of the Winston-Salem Journal-Sentinel, will deliver the final graduation address on Friday night at 7:30. Presentation of diplomas and awards will follow.

Graduating candidates will wear caps and gowns during the Class Day, Baccalaureate, and Commencement programs.

BRASWELL WINS ART AWARD

Mrs. Callie O. Braswell has been notified that her oil painting, "Oakland Avenue," has been chosen by a jury for exhibition in national show at Mint Museum from May 2 to June 9.

Helen P. Dees, Dovie McSwain Succeed Bob Lloyd, Frances Paschal As Staff Heads

Smallwood, Swain, Bell Named to High Life

Helen Page Dees, semester six honor roll student and council representative, will take over the duties as editor of High Life, succeeding Bob Lloyd, who has held the position during this school year. Dovie McSwain will follow Frances Paschal as business manager, executive position of the business department of the publication.

"Helen Page has studied journalism for two semesters and has written several outstanding editorials and news stories," explained High Life adviser Miss Lelah Nell Masters, "while Dovie has shown outstanding ability in the business department in her first semester of newspaper work."

Managing Editor Appointed

Irwin Smallwood, versatile sports editor of this year's staff, was promoted to the newly-created post of managing editor. In this position Smallwood will head the make-up department and help assign stories to the reporters.

David Swain and John Sevier, semester six and seven students, respectively, will be associate editors of the paper for the coming year, succeeding M. C. Anderson and T. P. Vaughan. Swain specializes in newspaper make-up, while Sevier will write editorials.

Beverly Bell, Notion Counter columnist, will succeed Sue McFadyren as feature editor.

Freeland Ad Manager

Jean Freeland, who has sold scores of column inches of advertising for the past semester, will take over the duties of Betty Gale Edwards, advertising manager; while Susan Ward will succeed Marguerite Johnson as assistant business manager and accountant. Sue Jarvis will also act as a bookkeeper next semester.

The sports department will be headed next year by Irwin Smallwood.

HOWARD MORRIS

IRWIN SMALLWOOD

Johnson, McDonald, Jacoby Leave Senior

Greensboro Senior High School will be minus three of its teachers: two in science and one in the music department next year. These being Mrs. Carlotta Jacoby, Miss Agnes McDonald, and Mrs. Stanley Johnson.

J. Stanley Johnson, affectionately known as "Jabbo" accepted a job for one year at the University of North Carolina. He will assume this position at the beginning of the next school term.

"Jabbo" graduated from Wake Forest in 1923, and for two years held a position at the Western Carolina Teachers' College, teaching math and coaching all sports. He then came to Greensboro in 1925, and has taught math, history, physics, biology, and coached some sports. His new position at Carolina will be in the line of physics.

STANLEY JOHNSON

Mrs. Jacoby came to Senior High School to fill an emergency vacancy created by Raymond Brietz who left here to go into business in Charlotte.

She goes to Woman's College where she will teach summer classes.

Mrs. Jacoby states: "My year at Senior High School has been of inestimable value, for I have learned much. Seeing excellent work going on in singing groups and among singing individuals has been an inspiration; I am grateful to the administration and students for the co-operation I have been given."

Miss Agnes McDonald, who is leaving G. H. S. this year to take a position working for the government after being in the employment of the Greensboro schools for five years. She was graduated from Salem college in Winston-Salem.