

Kyung Woo to Speak; D.E. Club Presents Play In Senior Assembly

Senior high will have a Thanksgiving program with Kyung Tsao Woo, a Chinese student at Greensboro College, as the principal speaker, Tuesday, November 23. She will talk in the way Chinese people celebrate Thanksgiving, and the music will be arranged by Miss Eula Tuttle.

Miss Woo lived with her parents near Shanghai, where she attended the Methodist school, McTyeire, until 1941, when she entered this country for her college education. She attended Scarlett College in Nashville, Tenn., for two years before coming to G. C. where she majors in religious education and social work.

After the war, she intends to return to China and live with her parents whom she has not seen for two years, since the Japanese armies have subjugated the district in which they live.

On the same program Stark Dillard will discuss the "The Meaning of Thanksgiving" and the special music will be arranged by Miss Eula Tuttle.

Under the direction of Miss Frances Sowell, the Distributive Education club presented a play, "Court of Consumer Complaint" on Tuesday, November 16. It brought out in a graphic manner the typical retail sales people.

The characters for the play were: Judge, Roland Gaines; clerk, Richard Hanner; Miss Lottie Lost, Louise Stockard; Miss Izza Clam, Lois Cooke; Miss Gertrude Gossip, Pat Bennett; Miss Ida Indifferent, June Gill; Miss Susie Snooty, Mary Alice Davis; Miss Nevera Knew, Grace Butler; Mrs. U. R. Wrong, June King; Miss Evva Careless, Jean Crutchfield; and announcer, Jackie Bateman. The other members of the class served as the jury.

After the play, certificates were awarded to students who have completed the six-hour course in pre-employment training for prospective retail salespeople.

Stage Crew Completes New Auditorium Projects

The Senior high school stage crew under the supervision of Mrs. Nellie K. Blackburn has completed several projects for this school year, revealed George Bryant.

Boys on the crew are Robert Lewis, Brooks Shuping, Dan Hunter, Mack Albright, John Trimble and Walter Lee Chambers, while George Bryant is acting chairman.

The crew has finished several jobs, including a new platform for the auditorium, for the school and other work will be done as the need arises.

Council Holds Third Meeting Of Year; Discusses Proposed School Activities

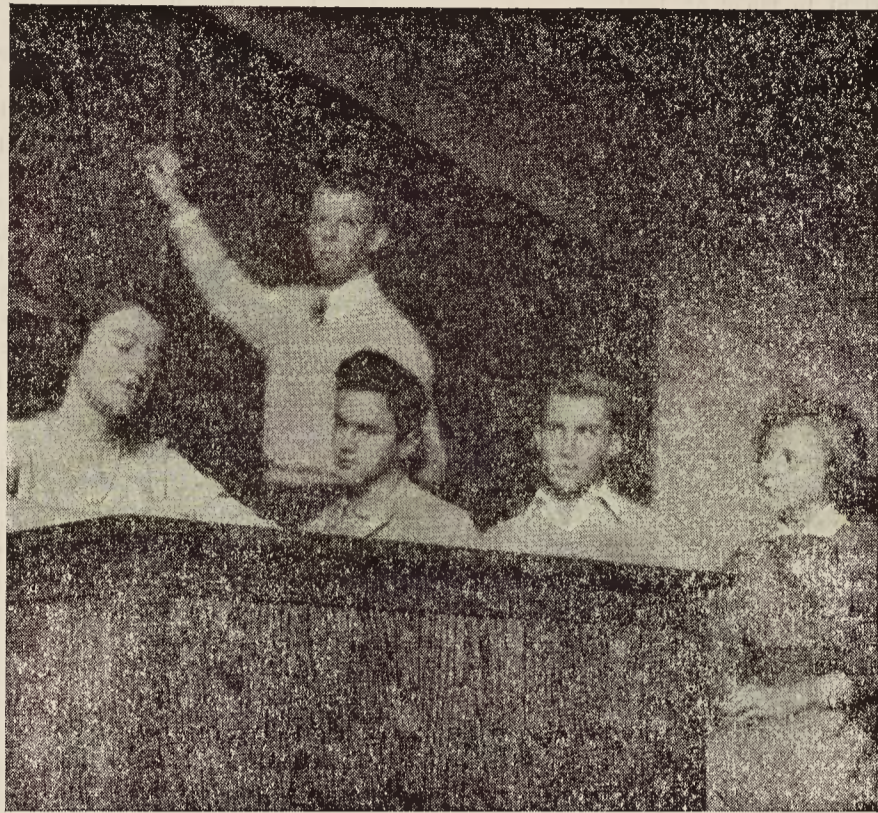

In its third meeting of the semester, Senior high's new student council met November 8 in room 103 during seventh period. The entire group of 19 members was present to discuss some proposed school activities.

The tables and chairs in the council room were made by Mr. G. O. Mann's shop classes last year and add much comfort to each meeting. Funds for this new addition to the room were raised through last year's council play, "Getting Pinned." Also decorating the room are landscapes and tapestry given by Mrs. Jamieson's art classes. A mural, depicting various phases of student government work, by Mary Holmes and Dacia Lewis, may soon add to the recent improvements.

Committee Chairmen

During the meeting, various committees gave reports on their progress. Each chairman was asked to choose

Scouts To Hear Fretwell At Meeting Here Nov. 23

Dr. Elbert Kirtley Fretwell, chief scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America, will be guest speaker at the 26th annual convention of the Greensboro Senior high school, it was announced by George W. Hamer, local scout leader and executive of the Greensboro council.

Dr. Fretwell, formerly professor of education at Teachers' college, Columbia university, has been actively connected with the Boy Scout movement since 1921. A former member of the Editorial and Executive boards of the Boy Scouts of America, Fretwell succeeded James E. West when he resigned as chief executive in February, 1943. West had served as executive for a number of years.

All scouts affiliated with the Greensboro area council, which is composed of Greensboro proper, rural Guilford county and Randolph county, and those who are indirectly connected with scouting—friends and relatives and parents of Scouts—are cordially invited to attend this important meeting. An invitation has also been extended to all presidents and executives of any other North Carolina council who may wish to attend.

One of the purposes of this meeting, at which R. W. McGeachy, president of the Greensboro area council, will preside, will be to elect council officers for the coming year, 1944.

Montgomery S. Hill is the chairman in charge of arranging this meeting and he will be assisted by a committee composed of Clarence N. Cone, L. L. McAlister, Rev. J. A. Vache, A. P. Mulligan, A. J. Tysor and E. W. Freeze.

Tickets and additional information may be secured at the local scout headquarters in the Richardson Memorial center or from any Boy Scout.

Science Classes Study Works of World Today

To understand the world in which we live, one must know something of the wonders of modern science. With this thought in mind, the science classes have ventured forth, on several occasions, to study the workings of a modern world.

With plans for field trips in the near future, the biology classes, under the direction of Mrs. Nelly Blackburn are, at present, studying the life and loves of the common earthworm.

Mrs. LeGwin's chemistry classes have taken one trip to the water plant and are planning others when transportation is available.

Recreation Committee Holds Meetings; Rawlins Succeeds Glendenin As Head

Answering the requests of many students for a resumption of school dances for the year, the recreation committee under the joint sponsorship of Mrs. Estelle LeGwin and Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Curran will present the first dance of the year in the school gymnasium Friday night from 8:00-11:30.

Orchestra Room to Get Sound Proofing Soon

To eliminate disturbing other classes and to improve the acoustics of the room, sound proofing material is to be installed in the orchestra room under the supervision of Mr. Sewell.

The string orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Kimbal Harriman, will begin Saturday practices in the near future in order to secure a brass section. Several musicians have been asked by Mr. Harriman to join the organization.

Cecil Brown to Lecture For Benefit Sponsored by Lions

Cecil Brown, noted news analyst, will speak tonight at 8 p.m. here at Senior high school. The program is under the sponsorship of the Lions club which will use the proceeds from the lecture ticket sales toward helping the blind of the community.

Each blind person in Greensboro is invited to attend the lecture free of charge.

Brown, ace CBS Far Eastern correspondent, will give an exciting picture of the war in the Pacific. He will tell what it is like to be on board a torpedoed and sinking warship, what Singapore was like on the eve of invasion, how Australia is making out in the war, and he will give an eye witness report of battles on land, sea, and in the air.

Lions club members who are in charge of this lecture and others to follow are: Ticket sales, W. G. Stoner, chairman, Mack Arnold, Henry Miller; Arrangements, T. O. Hutchins, chairman, G. C. Griffin, D. Frank Parkins; Advertising and publicity, Gains Kelly, chairman, R. R. Mitchell, Dr. A. W. Craver; Program, Chas. T. Boyd, chairman, J. M. Cates, Sam P. Sox; general committee, J. M. Cates, chairman, Lynn R. Hunt, Herman H. Davis.

Boren-Millikan Sponsor Golfers in Local Match

Misses Barbara Boren and Anne Millikan, both members of the senior class, were sponsors for Byron Nelson and Harold McSpaden in the local golf tournament. These two men are nationally known golfers and recently played at Starmount country club.

Chairman Jimmie Rawlins stated that the price of tickets for the dance will be 39 cents for stags and 55 cents for couples, including tax.

The recreation committee includes the following members: Jimmie Rawlins, Kemp Foster, Brooks Shuping, Martha Boggan, Anne Millikan and Clarence Boren.

The recreation committee has been handicapped by having its chairman, Jimmy Glendenning, join the merchant marine but is fortunate in securing the services of Jimmie Rawlins as chairman for the year.

Preparations are under way for the presentation of this event which is expected to draw a large crowd.

The Recreation committee appointments follow: Figure committee, Clarence Boren, Elizabeth Stafford, Aileen Mateer, and Mrs. Estelle LeGwin; floor committee, Don McCormick, Pat Hole, Margaret Donald, Joy Blumenthal and Mary Sue Starr; decoration committee, Barbara Boren, Sally Waddell, Kemp Foster, Brooks Shuping, and Mrs. Eleanor Jamieson; dance committee, Jimmie Rawlins, Martha Boggan, Clarence Boren, Ann Millikan, Brooks Shuping and Kemp Foster; publicity committee, Nell Daly, Sarah Howell, Faye Williams and Frances Van Landingham; refreshments committee, Yancy Culton, Jerry Meredith, Carolyn Phillips, Martha Schenck and Mary Harris.

The feature of the dance will be a figure consisting of the 10 junior class officers and one sponsor from each of the 12 junior home rooms.

American Education Week Observed by Senior High

Greensboro Senior high school in cooperation with the various organizations throughout the city has recently completed the observance of nationwide American Education week.

The observance was sponsored by the National Education association, the United States office of education, the American Legion and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

At the Senior high school, talks were given over the public address system each morning throughout the week on topics of world understanding through education, and education for victory.

Units of the P. T. A., meeting during the week, held special programs in connection with education week.

Book Week Is Being Nationally Celebrated November 14 to 20

"Let's build the future with books" is the slogan for the 25th annual celebration of book-week, which is being nationally observed November 14-20.

To arouse the interest which book week deserves, the Greensboro Senior high school library is sponsoring a series of book reviews, to be presented over the amplifying system.

Those participating on the programs are as follows: Cora Schumm reviewing Journey For Margaret by White, and Guadalcanal Diary by Tregaskis; Yancy Culton presenting Paul Revere by Forbes; and V. C. Bradley introducing Stienbeck's Bombs Away and Aircraft Carrier by Winston.

Others are Betty Cooley's interpretation of Seventeenth Summer by Daly and Our Hearts Were Young and Gay by Cornelia Otis Skinner. Platt's This Green World and Teale's By Ways to Adventure are being explained by Leon Hayes.

The library is also featuring the occasion with 150 new books, many posters, and exhibits which carry out the theme of book-week.

The purposes of book-week at Senior high are to encourage in students the love of books and to encourage home companionship through books.
