Sea Scouts Planning Annual Social Cruise

April 16 has been set aside for the annual spring social cruise of the Greensboro Sea Scouts. The Greensboro base, High Rock, is located about one and a half miles from South Mont, N. C.

Previously a five-day cruise over the Easter holidays has been planned in order to recondition boats and make necessary adjustments for the weekend of the 16th. In addition to this plans for a Bridge of Honor dance to be held at Starmount Country Club, April 4, are in consideration.

Officers of the ship who will attend the social cruise are: Skipper Harold Ross, 1st Mate S. M. Kennedy and Officers of the Deck Bob Ferris and Ed Alexander.

Recently the sea scouts have completed a wind mill to be used for pumping water to the bunk house.

New members voted in at the last meeting are: Stan Travis, Bobby West, Bill Lybrook and Buddy Hoyt, a former member, who has returned to Senior High from Swanee Military Academy. There are 34 members of the ship.

G.H.S. Delegates Spend Two Eventful Days At Lexington Student Council Congress

Howard Morris, Billie McNeely and Joe Albright returned to Greensboro Saturday after spending two eventful days at the annual North Carolina student council congress held March 17 and 18 in Lexington. Beverly McNairy acted as an unofficial representative, while Miss Sara Mims served as faculty adviser to the official delegation.

The quintet pulled out of the Gate City just as first period began here last Friday. They were somewhat surprised when they found delegations, travelling on the same bus, from Raleigh, Sanford and Durham also going to the Lexington conference. The girls were particularly pleased for all of the delegates were boys. After a somewhat rough trip, the bus pulled into the destination about 11 a.m. Upon arriving, Senior's representatives went to the Lexington high school where they registered. They were greeted by the high president, Doris Richie. Their quarters for Friday night were assigned at that time.

Approximately 150 high school delegates and their faculty advisers gathered in the auditorium at 2 p.m. and heard Mr. Plemmons give the keynote speech to the conference which had "Problems of Youth in the World Today" as its theme.

After a short recess, the assembly broke up into two groups. The G.H.S. delegates discussed at their meeting, "Problems of the Future." Miss Mims opened the discussion with a short talk on the theme. Two sub-heads of the main topic, "Personal and Post-War Plans," were talked of by the group. Later, the two small meetings reassembled and a representative of each told of the debates.

On Saturday, the three districts, Eastern Central and Western, had meetings and elected officers. Joe Albright was elected president of the Central District; Ivan Armstrong, of Raleigh, vice-president; Beverly McNairy, secretary and D. H. Huffines, of Reidsville, was made treasurer.

Horace Hall Missing In Action According to Navy Department

Word has been received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hall that their son, Horace Vernon, third class aviation machinists mate, United States Navy, is missing in action.

December 6, 1943, a report was given that the ship on which Horace was sailing was torpedoed by an enemy submarine at 5:13, dawn, and went down 15 minutes later. A letter was received by his parents March 7, 1944, informing them that their son was definitely on the ship, the U. S. S. Liscome Bay, and that he was still missing. The letter stated that because of the condition of the torpedoed ship, they were unable to furnish any hope that those still missing were alive.

Horace was born December 16, 1923, in Greensboro. After he attended elementary school he went to Lindley junior high school and then came to Greensboro Senior high school, graduating in 1939. He joined the United States Navy January 3, 1940, and was first sent to Norfolk, Va. From Norfolk, he was sent to Jacksonville, Fla., Greencole Springs, then back to Jacksonville.

After going to Patterson, N. J. Horace went to sea about the first of September, 1943. He had been in the service three years and was home on three leaves. Horace was home for the last time March 16 to March 24, 1943. December 22, 1941, he entered trade school and graduated from the school July 30, 1942, with the rating of aviation machinists mate. He was working to be a first class petty officer when his ship was torpedoed.

Only a very few members of the crew aboard the U. S. S. Liscome Bay were rescued from the torpedoed ship. A great number of the boys were severely burned, some beyond recognition.

Pupils Requested to Bring Contributions For Budget

On March 13 the Parent Teachers' association published a report on its budget for this year. It reported that of the needed $148.25, $52.40 had been collected and $95.85 was needed. This amount ($148.25) included hospitality, welfare, the yearbook, $25 for next year and many other items, all worthwhile things for G.H.S., and the parents were asked to donate enough to fill out the needed sum.

The response was immediate and gratifying; several rooms turned in donations on the next morning and the amount needed is being steadily decreased; by last Friday $42.60 had been collected. However, a few home-rooms had not turned in donations and the students were urged to go home over the week-end and urge their parents again to contribute, after which nothing more would be said.
