Memo

Dear Mom,

Buy my graduation present at the Man's Store--JOHNSON and AULBERT. They have everything I like. Don't wait up for me, I "might" be late tonight.

A Real Bargain

The teen-age rates on life insurance are materially lower than for older ages and constitute an exceptional bargain which will not be available in later years.

Life insurance is available only to those people who are in good health. To purchase insurance now is to hedge against becoming uninsurable later on.

You will probably never be able to buy insurance at so low a rate as you can at present.
