

20 Teachers Added to G. H. S. Faculty 1225 Are Enrolled at Senior High

20 Teachers Added; Dorsey to Replace Jones as Boys' Dean

Keeping in line with the ever increasing expansion of all educational institutions throughout the state, Greensboro senior high has registered approximately 455 more students this year than last, bringing the total to 1,225. Coming into the city school system this year because of the large number of students were Rankin, Bessemer and Proximity. The 31 homerooms are spread over the three main buildings. There are 12 sophomore homerooms with a total of approximately 455, 9 junior homerooms with a total of 354, and 10 senior homerooms with a total of 372.

New Teachers

Of the 29 members of the faculty, including principal A. P. Routh and librarian, Miss Mildred C. Herring, remaining at senior, there are 20 new teachers and W. K. Dorsey, Dean of Boys, Mrs. Hortense Foster, cafeteria manager and Miss Diana Darden, secretary.

The list of new teachers and the subjects they teach include: Charles D. Bates, head of the vocational department; Miss Maude Carter, English; David E. Diamont, physical education and history; Mrs. Evelyn Durham, typing shorthand; Mrs. Grace Farer, art; Miss Fannie Fisher, physical education; Mrs. Jean L. Holland, journalism, English; W. W. Huffman, history, physical education; Miss Susanne Hurley, English; Miss Mabel Pleasants, Algebra; Miss Lena Redfern, Biology; Howard Thomas, printing; Mrs. Grace B. Wilson, D. O.; Miss Margaret Woosley, Spanish; Miss Audrey Worthington, Biology; Mrs. Tommie Lou Wright, bookkeeping, shorthand; Miss Mary York, home economics; Miss Cordelia Walke, typing.

Courses

The courses, being taught by this large number of new teachers, are not new. Although, due to the large number of students taking trigonometry this year, Miss Ida Belle Moore has two separate classes.

Miss Caldwell Dies In Asheville, N. C.

Miss Amy Caldwell, who taught English here from 1923 until her retirement in 1944, a total of 21 years, died Thursday morning, September 12, at Astor Park hospital in Asheville where she had been for two and a half months.

Having been in bad health for about a year, Miss Caldwell became seriously ill while visiting Miss Sarah Lesley, Latin and English teacher at Senior, at her home at Lake Junaluska this summer.

Although Miss Campbell is not well known by the majority of the present students at G.H.S., she is remembered by their older brothers and sisters and many of the Senior High Alumni with the highest affection and respect. Coming to Greensboro from New Bern, she taught in this school until her retirement, after which she was elected teacher emeritus by the local board of education.

A descendant of the late David Caldwell, well known local educator and minister, Miss Caldwell made her home in Wytheville, Va. in the summer, making her home here during the school session.

She entered the teaching profession in 1899, after studying at Madison Institute, Richmond, Ky., and George Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn.

Funeral was held last Friday in Wytheville.

A well known figure around the "marble" halls of G.H.S. is Jim Finch, pictured above, who reigns this year as high school prexy. Jim has made himself outstanding in many fields since entering G.H.S. and has been manager of the football team for two years. It is well said that Senior can look forward to a successful year with Jim as head of its student body.

Student Council Planning Events for Coming Year

Crushmeyer Wins Cafeteria Derby

By GERALD THOMAS

The crowd cheered as Cringeley Crushmeyer broke ahead of the surging mass of humanity and won the Cafeteria Derby for the second time in two weeks. Jones followed a close second and Smith stumbled in third, in what proved to be the quickest and bloodiest race in the past three years at Senior Hi.

The contestants have been in rigorous training for the past two weeks, and their race yesterday seemed to be the fruit of their labors. Rumors, from more highly informed and learned sources than your reporter, have it that there is actually betting going on in connection with this exciting event.

People even go so far to whisper under their hats that as soon as the presses start rolling, racing forms will be printed, giving odds on different eaters. The tract this year has been divided into two main lanes; one on the right side of the auditorium, and the other on the left. Spectators are safe in the bushes on the outside of both tracks.

(This all reminds your reporter of a joke(?), and if you can't take it, turn to the sports page and skip this last paragraph.)

It seems that Harold Snarpley and a friend went to the Kentucky Derby one year, and, in the milling crowds they became separated. Harold didn't see his friend again until the last few people were leaving after the races were over.

"Say," said Harold, "What happened to you?"

"Oh," replied his friend, "I bent down to tie my shoe just as the fifth race was beginning, and some darned fool strapped a saddle on my mack!"

"Well, what did you do then?" asked Harold.

"What could I do?" growled his friend, "I finished third!"

Off to a flying start, the 1946-47 student council, under the direction of Mrs. James D. Le Gwin, has completed plans for the Sophomore elections, to be held next week and have formulated plans for the annual Social Standards Day to be held this fall.

Sophomore candidates for class officers and representatives will be presented in Chapel next Tuesday; sophomores will register next Wednesday and they will vote on Thursday.

Social Standards Day

Around the first of November, students from G.H.S. will set aside one day from their regular classes to lectures and forums in observance of the Social Standards Day. Representatives from schools all over the state will attend these discussions which will cover a wide variety of interests, ranging from world affairs to boy-girl relationships.

Culton Resigns

According to Jimmy Fince, president of the student body, who presides over Council meetings, the council is now considering a person to replace Julia Culton, Senior representative who has resigned, because he has taken a part-time schedule which makes it impossible for him to attend the weekly meetings.

Council Meetings

Meeting every Monday Afternoon in the council room at the second period, the council discusses student problems brought up in various homerooms when council reports are made. Also, they sponsor several outstanding events, such as Clean-up Day scheduled for early next Spring and the traditional May Day.

Sophomore Elections To Be Held Thursday

According to a recent announcement by Ted Leonard, president of the Senior class, sophomore election proceeding are to begin with the presentation of candidates in assembly tomorrow followed by registration of voters on Wednesday, and the elections on Thursday.

Applications for candidates wishing to participate in the election may be obtained from Mrs. Estelle LeGwin or any member of the council.

Brown, Shaw Head High Life Staff

Beginning the school year with this issue is the paper's new staff for 46-47 with co-editors, Bobbie Jean Shaw and Ed Brown heading the list of veterans, and Mrs. John R. Holland from Taft Junior high school, Washington, D. C., as adviser.

Ed, although a first year student, earned with his capable work last year, his top positions as managing editor and feature editor, where he won experience valuable to him this year in his editorship.

Bobbie Jean, in contributing so much to High Life in her sophomore year as girl's sports editor has well prepared herself for her new position. She also did well in the field of straight news writing.

Positions of news editor and art editor are held by Martha Trulove, returning to the class for her third year and Alice McGee, a newcomer to High Life who is proving herself most worthy of her place on the staff.

Editing boys sports will be Charlie Melvin who capably filed the position last year and covering the girl's sports will be Gail Schaffert, formerly Girls Sports editor of the Walter Parker Junior high school newspaper in Reading, Mass.

Another new addition to the staff is Abe Jones, Feature Editor; taking over the position of Alumni Editor is Lois Bowman, a High Life standby.

Returning to the position of Business Manager for the year is David Buckner, with Blake Stallings and Peggy Bentley sharing the responsibility of being Co-Advertising managers.

The position of Exchange Editor is placed in the hands of Donna Martin while George Seay manages the circulation of High Life. Both are up-and-coming members of the first-year journalism class.

W. K. Dorsey Made New Dean of Boys

Coming to G.H.S. as Dean of Boys, and assistant to Mr. Routh is W. K. Dorsey, who claims as his native state, Kentucky.

Since graduating from the University of Wyoming, he has served as principal of a school in Kentucky for eleven years and as Recreational director at the Curtiss, Wright Air plant. For the past four years, he has been Training Administration for the Army Headquarters in Greensboro.

Promoting better citizenship is Mr. Dorsey's aim for the year at Senior. He has termed general conditions at the school, "very nice."

Mr. Dorsey, who denies all claim to any relationship to T. Dorsey says, hunting and fishing are his very favorite past-time.

Teaching history is included in Mr. Dorsey's duties at G.H.S., in addition to serving as Dean of Boys and assisting Mr. Routh.

Senior High School Accommodated With Teachers for Term

Due to the nation-wide shortage of teachers and the addition of the twelfth grade to the teaching curriculum here, Senior high feels most fortunate in having secured twenty new additions headed by W. K. Dorsey, dean of boys and assistant to Mr. Routh, and history teacher. Miss Diana Darden is filling the position of secretary to Mr. Routh, formerly held by Miss Mary Coen.

English Positions

Resignation of Miss Cathleen Pike and the leave of absence granted to Miss Mozelle Causey, two vacancies in the English department which have been capably filled by Miss Maude Carter and Miss Susanne Hurley. Also another newcomer to this department is Mrs. Jean L. Holland who in addition to her English classes is teaching Journalism and advising High Life.

In the commercial department, an almost new staff is instructing future stenographers, secretaries, and bookkeepers in such subjects as business English, shorthand, bookkeeping and typing. Completing the staff in this department are Mrs. Evelyn Durham, Mrs. Tommie Lou Wright and Mrs. Cordelia Walke.

Assistant Coaches

Assisting Coach Bob Jamieson in physical education is David E. Diamont and W. W. Huffman. Both of these able assistants also are instructors in history 5 and history 3, respectively. Miss Fannie Fisher is replacing Miss Doris Hutchinson as physical education director.

Mrs. Robert Edwards is teaching one of the most popular courses offered to G.H.S. students, that of Bible.

Vocational Newcomers

Teaching distributive education along with Miss Lucille Browne is Mrs. Grace B. Wilson. Another strange face in the Vocational building belongs to Howard Thomas who is instructing classes in mechanical drawing and Printing, both of which have been resumed this year after having been discontinued several years ago.

Miss Lena Redfern, biology and physics instructor, and Miss Audrey Worthington, biology teacher are the new additions in the Science department. (Continued on Page Seven)

72 Vets Enrolled In GHS Vet School

Seventy-two students have enrolled in veterans' school, the largest number to enroll at one time since the opening last November. Reorganization completed September 4th, the veterans have made out their schedules with most of them carrying five subjects—English, math, and history being the majors with a choice of typing, biology, bookkeeping, mechanical drawing, and shop.

For government support the veterans have to go to class for five hours per day, five days a week. A strict record is kept of the attendance of each student and is sent to the government. If one class is skipped, the student is marked absent for the whole day, losing one day's pay from the government. Consequently, from this and their eagerness to go to school, there are very few absences.

Special teachers who come before 3:30 are Mrs. Florence and Mrs. Wyatt. Mrs. Wright, who teaches bookkeeping, and Mrs. Florence are both new.

Several veterans are taking regular high school courses with one-half rest of the student body. However, there are more advantage in going to vets' school because the pupils can work at their own speed—sometimes making as many as four credits a year in one subject as compared to the two in regular classes.
