Carrie Chamberlain Wins D.A.R., May Day Honors Makes Triumph Over Girls From Entire State

Winning first place from a group of 62 high school seniors from the state of North Carolina at the conference of the North Carolina Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, in High Point Wednesday, March 3, was Carrie Chamberlain, senior class representative to the student council and co-chairman of the recreation committee.

Carrie will attend the annual D.A.R. national congress in Washington, next month, along with winners from other states. She was sponsored by the Guilford Battle Chapter of the D.A.R.

Basis of Judging

Candidates were selected by their schools "on basis of dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism. At the conference judging was based on scrapbooks they had prepared covering school activities.

Band Preparing for State Contest; District Eliminations To Be Tomorrow

Tomorrow morning will see several members of the Senior high band and orchestra embarking for Winston-Salem for the annual district music contest, fore-runner of the State music contest to be held at Woman's College April 20-23.

Four instrumental ensembles and six soloists, representing nearly every section of the band, plus two soloists from the orchestra, will attend the district eliminations. The state is divided into six districts. The schools of each district send their entries first to the district contest, then, if they get at least a one rating in the district, they are eligible to go on to the state contest. Any group which gets a one rating in the state contest is then eligible to return the following year without first attending the district contest. The GHS band as a whole, which has consistently received highest ratings in the state contest for the past few years, will not have to attend the district contest. The marching contest, which the band is entering for the first time in a number of years, does not require a district rating.

Instrumentalists who will represent Greensboro high at the district contest tomorrow are:

Clarinet quartet: Bill Black, Carl Tharin, Leon Bullock, and Maitland Freed.

Cornet quartet: Bob Ritch, Earl Dean Shaw, Jimmy Crumpler, and Charles Irving.

Brass quartet: Alec Panas, Alan Neese, cornets, and Carl Baxter, Jack Fields, trombone.

Trumpet trio: Jim Scott, Alec Panas, and Alan Neese.

Will Head Traditional Ceremony May Fifth

Announcement of the election of Carrie Chamberlain as the Greensboro high school May Queen of 1948 was made in assembly Tuesday, March 9.

Honor attendants from the junior and sophomore classes are Yvonne Schweistris and Nancy Beal. Other attendants in the court will be: from the senior class, Marie Carter, Marcia Furnas, Betty Hendrix, Helen Lathan, Pat Wagoner, and Louise Walker; from the junior class, Bonnie Jean Crawford, Chip-py Johnson, Jackie Miles, and Theona Pierce; and from the sophomore class, Peggy Everitt, Sallie Gray Hicks, Ashley Holland, and Elinor Wrenn.

Various kinds of entertainment have been planned for the event which will take place on May 5, if weather permits. There will be a May pole dance, folk dances, and attendant dances, and music.

Student Transcripts Are Sent to Colleges

Transcripts of High School work have been sent to one college for 82 students, to two colleges for 15 students, and to three or four colleges for two students each, Miss Mary Ellen Blackmon recently revealed.

UNC leads the list with WC having 17 applications, Carolina next with 14, and State with 10. Guilford College will have 15 of our alumni and alumnae, if and when; while Duke is due another 10. G.C., Davidson, and Wake Forest have respectively 5, 4, and 2 students applying from this school.

Two students have made application at Jones College and two at Sophie Newcomb College for Women at Tulane.

One student each has applied to the following colleges: Elon, Maine Institute of Technology, Hollins, University of South Carolina, Rider College, Edge-wood Park, Briarcliff Manor, Principia Pratt Institute, St. Leo's, Presbyterian College, Davis Hospital, Sullins, The Citadel, Radcliff, Bryn Mawr, University of the South, and the University of Tennessee.

Council Has Open Forum

Opportunity To Express Opinions Given Students by Novel Assembly Program

An open forum meeting of the Student Council in assembly last Tuesday, March 9, brought forth lengthy discussion between the council and members of the student body on numerous topics, among which were included the Youth Center, the food situation in the cafeteria, and the possibility of obtaining a school annual or yearbook for G. H. S.

Reporting on a poll recently taken in the homerooms, council members revealed that only 86 students held annual cards of membership to the Youth Center, and that only 84 had purchased cards for the month of March. Reports, however, were not given from homerooms 6, 2, 8, and 204; and homeroom 307, Miss Mozelle Causey's room, was reported to have claimed that it did not have time for council reports.

Heated discussion which followed the Youth Center report resulted in the appointment by President Andy Bell of a committee composed of George Seay, Mirvin Squire, Jackie Pruitt, and Jean Wilkerson, to investigate the Youth Center situation.

Cafeteria Problem

Following the ending of the Youth Center discussion, a suggestion by Barry Farber that the council investigate the situation concerning the poor food in the school cafeteria brought forth a lengthy ovation of applause from the audience. Afterwards Andy Bell informed the group that the council had nothing to do with the cafeteria, but that he would speak with authorities about the situation.

Concluding the cafeteria discussion, George Seay reported to the audience on the incident occurring in the cafeteria last week when over 100 students, in protest over the food and high prices, held a conference with Mrs. Henrietta Hester, G. H. S. cafeteria manager, and Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, director of Greensboro public school cafeterias, and later with Principal A. P. Routh, which resulted in promises to see if something can be done to improve the situation.

A question from the audience concerning the Annual brought forth a report by senior class president Jimmy Alspaugh, who claimed that an Annual or Yearbook would cost between three and seven thousand dollars, require a full-time faculty adviser, a special class, and much preparation in advance of the senior year. He also stated that the many colleges and schools in Greensboro would give a considerable amount of competition to the project. Proposal that the present sophomore and junior classes begin to work soon for an Annual if they wanted one ended the discussion.

Clean-up Day

Bill Black, chairman of the Clean-Up day committee, reported that this function will be held Wednesday, March 17. Classes will clean their rooms, while study halls clean the

Hag-Drag-Stag Dance Is Set for Tomorrow

In the Leap Year Tradition, girls will invited boys to the Youth Center dance tomorrow night, for which Paul Bell and his orchestra will furnish music. Starting time for the affair is eight-thirty, and admission will be one dollar and twenty cents.

Choir and Glee Club Entering State Contest

Choir and Glee Club entries in the District Music contest to be held tomorrow at Winston-Salem have been working for the past several weeks on their selections.

Boys Quartet—composed of Bill Utley, Larry Lambeth, Lyndon Sykes and Gene Poushee—and four soloists will enter the contest from Greensboro. The alto soloist is June Blumenthal; soprano soloist—Betty Costner; baritone soloist—Lyndon Sykes; tenor soloist—Larry Lambeth.

The choir's most recent program was given to the Rotary club, March 1. On Tuesday, March 16, they will present a chapel program to the students and faculty of Greensboro College. They have accepted an invitation to lunch afterwards as guests of the college. A chapel program will be given April 11 to the Guilford College students.

Plans for Senior Class Revealed

Spring activities for the graduating class were discussed in the assembly held March 2.

The calendar of events as given by Jimmy Alspaugh, Senior class President is as follows: Washington trip, April 29, 30, May 1, 2; May Day, May 5; Class Day, May 25; Senior Examinations, May 26, 27, and 28; Senior Prom, May 28; Baccalaureate sermon at First Baptist Church, May 30; and Graduation Exercise, June 1.

Faculty advisors have been named for the various committees. At present time no student had been appointed to serve on committees except for the Invitation committee. Faculty advisor is Miss Lottie Burnside while student chairman is Jack Fields. Others on the committee are Charles Neeley, room 14; Jennie Lee Moser, 12; Earl Shaw, 16; Betty Lou Van Hook, 204; Lynne Goodman, 203; Elizabeth Dockery, 300; Anne King, 200; and Isabel Armstrong, 202. No orders will be taken for cards and invitations after today and they must be paid for.

Faculty advisors for the Graduation committee are Miss Sara Mims, and Mrs. Nellie Blackburn assisted by Mrs. Grace Alton. Class Day Program advisors are Miss Mozelle Causey and Mrs. Estelle LeGwin. Misses Audrey Worthington and Eula Tuttle have charge of the Senior luncheon. Caps and gowns are also under direction of Miss Burnside.

Measurements for the caps and gowns will be taken sometime in April and rental fee will be $1.25 to be paid on delivery.

Diplomas will cost $1 each this year.

Only those with tickets will be admitted to the Graduation Exercise June 1. Approximately four tickets will be allotted each seniors.

Summer school begins the day after graduation and students who will have enough credits at the end of that time will be granted their dipomas then. These students will be permitted to take part in all Senior class activities.

Graduation pictures have already been made of all seniors at a local studio.

Travelers

Now representing Greensboro high school and High Life at the 24th annual convention of the Columbia Scholastic Press association at Columbia university in New York City are sports editor George Seay, feature editor Betty Jean Pope, associate editor Frances Newton, social editor Jennie Lee Moser, special correspondent and copy editor Mary Durland Sapp, editor-in-chief David Buckner, faculty adviser Mrs. Jean L. Holland, and her husband, R. John Holland.

Delegates left Greensboro for the convention last Wednesday morning, and will return Sunday. They will attend various meetings and open forums, a luncheon to be given in honor of the delegates, and will take part in various other planned activities.

Announcement of the newspaper and magazine ratings earned by high school publications entered in the competition will be made during the course of the convention. Last year High Life was placed among newspapers receiving a first place rating; it did not, however, receive the highest or Medalist award, which is limited to a few outstanding newspapers selected from those receiving the first place award. That High Life might receive a lower rating than last year, possibly a second place, was seen as possible by several members of the staff, due to the increased number of ads that the paper has been forced to run to enable it to meet rising expenses.
