

Murphy Is Head of Library Association

At the annual meeting of the North Carolina High School Library Association held in the Durham High School on April 29-30, 1949, Gilbert Murphy, a member of the senior class here at Senior High, was elected president for the 1949-50 school term. Gilbert succeeds Henry Clark of Reidsville High School.

The North Carolina High School Library Association is sponsored jointly by the North Carolina Library Association and the North Carolina Education Association. There is a threefold purpose for which the association exists: (1) to increase interest in library work on the part of students; (2) to bring about a closer relationship between school library clubs throughout the state; (3) "to arouse interest in the study of librarianship as a profession."

The state organization is divided into six districts corresponding to the six districts of the North Carolina Education Association. Four of the six districts have been organized with a full slate of officers for this school year. One goal which Gilbert and the other state officers have set for this year is to organize the northeastern and the southeastern districts, thus completing the district organizations throughout the state. Another effort which is being put forth is that of enrolling many other schools in the association. Each of the districts will hold its meeting in conjunction with the librarians' section of the North Carolina Education Association. Gilbert plans to attend most of the district meetings in an effort to encourage and to enlarge the work of the association.

The northwestern district, of which Greensboro is a member, will hold its regular meeting in Winston-Salem on October 14. Attending this meeting with Gilbert will be Dorothy Buchanan, who is the secretary of the district organization. Gilbert will hold the office of state president until the annual meeting of the association in the spring. The spring convention will be attended by more than 100 high school students. It will be Gilbert's responsibility to plan the convention, which is an annual event, and to preside over each session.

As a member of the library staff of Senior High School, Gilbert, better known as Gil to his friends, has been most valuable. This year he works in the library from 1:30 to 4:30 each afternoon. Gilbert is well qualified for his position as state president of the North Carolina High School Library Association. The Greensboro club is particularly proud of him.

E. S. Johnson Announces Supply Shop Schedule

Mr. E. Stanley Johnson has announced that the school supply shop will be open from 7:45 to 8:45 every morning before school. The store will remain open for a little while in the afternoon after school. However, the supply will not be open during classes or at the lunch periods.

Among the variety of articles to be found in the store are postage stamps and everything needed for school work. Mr. Johnson also has some stationery with the high school and school name engraved on it. A new feature of the store is Christmas cards which will go on sale soon.

Office Has Helpers In Fourteen Girls

Working in the office for Miss Mary Ellen Blackmon are fourteen girls. There are two helpers each period.

These girls check up on absentees from classes which the teacher cannot account for; contact the homes in the mornings to find the reason students are absent; type records and reports; write school letters; and run errands.

Miss Blackmon says that these girls are indispensable as she could not get along without them.

The helpers are Jean Calhoun, Dee Dee Deckard, Jeanette Melvin.

Teachers Celebrate With Fun and Song

Wednesday night at the Guilford Dairy Club the teachers of dear old G. H. S. dropped their formality to have a little fun.

Mozelle Causey read the roll as Bob Jamieson came limping in noisily.

The first event to happen was a contest to guess the teachers' names by means of certain clues given. One given was "Full of curiosity and a good sense of humor"—this of course, was the one and only Samuel J. Underwood. Another was "Sparkles when men are around, has not stopped struggling to change Miss to Mrs."—this was MISS McNairy. Others were: "Most graceful of us all"—Miss Alton; "grandmother"—Mrs. Faver. "Less than five feet, stands on a stool to be seen"—Mrs. Gorrell. "Buttons, ribbons, and bows, toddles as she goes" was Miss York. Mrs. Hicks won first prize—a flower. Mr. Thomas copped the second prize which was a toy truck.

The next event (ugh) was a spelling contest. This team went off with first prize: York, Blackburn, Gorrell, Causey, Herrington, McNairy, Boone, Abernathy, Jamieson, Underwood, Herbt, Darnell, Mrs. Herbert, Ligon, Moore, and Mitchell.

The next event is one that called for the talents of "Gappy" Gabriel and "Queen Tut" Tuttle. It was "Stop the Music." The "Mystery Melody" was "To a Wild Rose." The teachers' telephone numbers were used.

Following the music game, a thrilling game of Bingo was enjoyed by the guests. Group singing concluded the evening, after which the tired teachers trotted home to get their beauty sleep.
