

Juniors Sponsor Clean-Up Drive

The Junior class has taken as one of its projects for this year, the clean-up campaign over the school. This project was begun last year by the Junior class and this year the Junior class is continuing to sponsor it. Mrs. Nellie Blackburn is the faculty advisor for the Junior class.

Under her leadership and under the leadership of Jerry Bryan, president of the Junior class, the grading is to take place Thursday, September 29.

The homerooms will be graded on many varied things. Included are:

1. Board and erasers
2. Woodwork including cabinets
3. Walls and doors
4. Windows and shades
5. Radiators and floors
6. Pupils' desks
7. Teachers' desk
8. Bulletin board-central theme
9. General appearance of the room
10. Teaching material

Last Year's Work

A school wide clean-up campaign was organized and sponsored by the Junior class last year under the leadership of Steve Agapion, Junior class president, and Miss Ida Belle Moore, faculty advisor. The campaign composed of six grading periods of two weeks each was a big success. A winner was declared for each grading period, and Room 315 was judged the homeroom of the year. For their efforts Room 315 decided a five dollar cash prize, which they donated to the yearbook drive.

High Life Staff To Go To NCSA Conference

Eight members of the High Life staff are leaving for Chapel Hill at noon today. They will attend the eighth annual North Carolina Scholastic Press Institute.

Neal and Underwood to Speak

Tom Neal, High Life editor, will speak to a group on editorials, and Mr. Sam Underwood, High Life adviser, will lead a discussion on raising money for school publications.

The students will register for the Institute at the office of the Department of Journalism in Bynum Hall on the campus.

The first meeting of the Institute will be held in Gerrard Hall at 5 p.m. today.

The highlight of the meet will be the annual banquet to be held tomorrow night.

Students Attending

The High Life staff members who are attending the conference are Tom Neal, Elizabeth McCulloch, Evelyn Sink, Carolyn Lentz, Dara Lea Basinger, Rosalind Fordham, and Irene Hutchinson.

Also attending the meet are Jimmy Patton, Barbara Whittington, Jackie Aubert and Roberta Burgess from the Journalism I class.

Mr. Sam Underwood, adviser, will chaperon the group.

English Teachers Fed In Senior High Library

The English Faculty of Senior High met in the library, Tuesday, September 20. Miss Sarah Mims, hostess for the occasion, served tea and cookies, prepared by the girls of Miss York's Home Economics classes.

The purpose of meeting in the library was to introduce Miss Herring and Miss Gilliam so they could tell about the services the library has to offer in connection with English.

These facilities include not only film strips, but records, bookjackets, and picture files.

The teachers are planning to meet at least once a month, but a definite day or place has not as yet been decided.
